

Privacy Notice – One Croydon Alliance LIFE Service

Plain English explanation

This privacy notice explains why health and care providers collect information about you and how that information may be used.

The Living Independently For Everyone (LIFE) Service involves providing short term support to people to retain or regain their independence which promotes health, wellbeing, independence, dignity and social inclusion.

To enable LIFE multi-disciplinary teams to manage people’s care, in the best possible way, requires them to share information.

To enable this service to support you, your data may be shared by professionals who work for the following organisations:

- Age UK Croydon
- Croydon Council Adult Social Care
- Croydon GP practice you are registered with
- Croydon Health Services NHS Trust
- South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust

The professionals who have access to your information will only have access to that which they need to fulfil their roles.

You have the right to object to our sharing your data in these circumstances but we have an overriding responsibility to comply with our legal obligations. Please see below.

We are required by law to provide you with the information in the following 9 subsections. We have also set out a list of definitions below.

1) Controller contact details	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Croydon Council (Bernard Weatherill House, 8 Mint Walk Croydon, CR0 1EA)• Croydon Health Services NHS Trust (Croydon University Hospital, 530 London Road, Thornton Heath CR7 7YE)• South London and Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust (Trust HQ, 1st Floor, Maudsley Hospital, Denmark Hill, London SE5 8AZ)• Age UK Croydon, 2nd Floor, 46 George Street, Croydon CR0 1PB

3) Purpose of the processing	Information will be shared in order to facilitate “Direct Care” that is delivered to the individual – that is, where a health or care organisation has direct contact with a patient or service user in order to provide them with immediate care or treatment. Direct Care is care delivered to the individual alone. After a patient agrees to a referral for direct care elsewhere, such as a referral to a specialist in a hospital, necessary and relevant information about the patient, their circumstances and their problem will need to be shared with the other health and care workers, such as specialist, therapists, technicians, social care etc. The information that is shared is to enable the other health and care workers to provide the most appropriate advice, investigations, treatments, therapies and or care. The LIFE service delivers community based care and support to individuals to enable them to remain in their home for as long as is practical. After a person agrees to a referral into the LIFE Service, necessary and relevant information about the person, their circumstances and their problem will need to be shared with other care and support workers, such as specialists, therapists, technicians, social care etc. The information that is shared is to enable the other health and care workers to provide the most appropriate advice, investigations, treatments, therapies and / or care.
4) Lawful basis for processing	The processing of personal data in the delivery of direct care and for providers’ administrative purposes in this surgery and in support of direct care elsewhere is supported under the following Article 6 and 9 conditions of the Data Protection Act 2018/GDPR: Article 6(1)(e) ‘...necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority...’. Article 9(2)(h) ‘necessary for the purposes of preventative or occupational medicine for the assessment of the working capacity of the employee,

	medical diagnosis, the provision of health or social care or treatment or the management of health or social care systems and services...” We will also recognise your rights established under UK case law collectively known as the “Common Law Duty of Confidentiality”* Where processing occurs for the National Fraud Initiative the conditions for processing are Article 6(1)e (above) and Article 9(2)g ‘processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest, on the basis of Union or Member State Law which shall be proportionate to the aim pursued, respect the essence of the right to data protection and provide for suitable and specific measures to safeguard the fundamental rights and the interests of the data subject.
5) Recipient or categories of recipients of the processed data	The data will be shared with health and care professionals and support staff in your GP practice and at hospitals, diagnostic and treatment centres who contribute to your personal care.
6) Rights to object	You have the right to object to some or all the information being processed under Article 21. Please contact either of the Controllers. You should be aware that this is a right to raise an objection, which is not the same as having an absolute right to have your wishes granted in every circumstance.
7) Right to access and correct	You have the right to see the data that is being shared about you. This is known as ‘the right of subject access’. You can make a request for this information from a provider. If your health or care provider holds information about you, and you make a subject access request they will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Give you a description of it • Tell you why it is being held • Tell you who it could be shared with • Let you have a copy of the information in an intelligible form. If you would like to make a ‘subject access request’, you will need to contact your health or care provider’s Data Protection Officer in writing.

	You have the right to access the data that is being shared and have any inaccuracies corrected. There is no right to have accurate medical records deleted except when ordered by a Court of Law.
8) Retention period	The data will be retained in line with the law and national guidance. https://digital.nhs.uk/article/1202/Records-Management-Code-of-Practice-for-Health-and-Social-Care-2016 .
9) Right to Complain.	You have the right to complain regarding the use and sharing of your data, if you think the information has been shared inappropriately. Each provider will have their own complaints process and you will need to contact them directly. You have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office, you can use this link https://ico.org.uk/global/contact-us/ or calling their helpline Tel: 0303 123 1113 (local rate) or 01625 545 745 (national rate) There are National Offices for Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales, (see ICO website)

. * "Common Law Duty of Confidentiality", common law is not written out in one document like an Act of Parliament. It is a form of law based on previous court cases decided by judges; hence, it is also referred to as 'judge-made' or case law. The law is applied by reference to those previous cases, so common law is also said to be based on precedent.

The general position is that if information is given in circumstances where it is expected that a duty of confidence applies, that information cannot normally be disclosed without the information provider's consent.

In practice, this means that all patient information, whether held on paper, computer, visually or audio recorded, or held in the memory of the professional, must not normally be disclosed without the consent of the patient. It is irrelevant how old the patient is or what the state of their mental health is; the duty still applies.

Three circumstances making disclosure of confidential information lawful are:

- Where the individual to whom the information relates has consented;
- Where disclosure is in the public interest; and

- Where there is a legal duty to do so, for example a court order.
