<td>The RRA are again extremely disappointed to note that very little mention is made of Riddlesdown within the proposed Plan and it would appear from various plans published in the proposed documents, that we are located in the three &quot;Places&quot; of Purley, Sanderstead and Kenley/Old Coulsdon! A small area in the centre of Riddlesdown is also in a blank area on the &quot;Places&quot; plan. Riddlesdown might not be large enough to be a &quot;Place&quot; but it has the largest secondary school in the Borough (Riddlesdown Collegiate with 2,000 children plus 250 staff), a railway station, eleven retail frontages on two sites (6 &amp; 5), including a vital sub post office, a chemist, two convenience stores, a church, a large Common and associated adjoining Green Belt land, arable land and woodland. It is surprising then, that the Council have again made very little reference to Riddlesdown's existence! The topography of Riddlesdown, with local infrastructure, clearly makes it an important area within the Borough. We would ask that more reference is made to Riddlesdown within the Plan!</td>
<td>Riddlesdown should be referenced in the Plan and on the Places Maps.</td>
<td>Change</td>
<td>The following changes were made to the text in order to reflect on the specific comment about Riddlesdown: (1) in Kenley and Old Coulsdon section to read: &quot;11.95 Kenley and Old Coulsdon is a suburban area with green wooded hillsides (Dollyears Hill, Roydons Wood) and green open spaces (Kenley Common, Riddlesdown, Kenley Aerodrome) located within and around it. There is a strong link between the green infrastructure and the built environment. This creates a feeling of spaciousness or openness can be seen in the layout of the built environment,&quot; and &quot; 11.97 Kenley and Old Coulsdon's shopping and community facilities are concentrated in the area between the Godstone Road and Kenley station. The area is flamed by green space of Riddlesdown to the north and railway to the south.&quot; (2) in Sanderstead section to read: &quot;11.127 Sanderstead is a suburban Place located on a hilltop, with residential areas of Purley Downs, Riddlesdown, Hamsey Green and Sanderstead surrounded by large scale green open spaces such as Mitchley Wood, Riddlesdown and Kings Wood.&quot;</td>

| 0092/02/012/Non-specific/O | Riddlesdown Residents Association | Object | | | | There is no mention in "movement" section in both Purley & Sanderstead "Places" of the poor transport links for both staff and pupils attending Riddlesdown Collegiate which is effectively located in a cul-de-sac. The large size of this Collegiate means traffic and pupil/staff movement is high, especially in the morning and midlade afternoon. | The Purley and Sanderstead Places should reference movement around Riddlesdown college. | Not Duly Made | Only marked up changes to the adopted Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies are subject to consultation and therefore this comment is not duly made. |
I appeal to you to re-visit the analysis of sites for travellers and to confirm the mechanism and weightings of scores conforms to a national policy, not something invented by Croydon Council without any accreditation.

The Scoring set out in the table in the Gypsy and Traveller sites selection evidence document was incorrectly applied to sites in Metropolitan Green Belt and Metropolitan Open Land as +5 when it should have been -5. The scoring for individual sites affected will be corrected and republished with the Croydon Local Plan Proposed Submission drafts of the Detailed Policies and Proposals and the Strategic Policies- Partial Review.

Leisure, Recreation and Sports: It is important to see the Green Belt opened up to the public with new bridle paths, footpaths, a circular bridle path for walkers, cyclists and horse riders. The diversion of the London Loop from Lion Green Road through Cane Hill via the Ancient Monument Surrey Iron Railway embankment site so that people can be made aware of its importance to Coulsdon's local transport history.

The London Loop section 6 from Coulsdon South to Banstead should be diverted at Brighton Road onto the Cane site to run past the Ancient Monument of the Surrey Iron Railway embankment.

Borough Character - assurances in delivering intensification

Resoned justification and guidance in relation to intensification in the areas with different character type is provided under paragraphs 11.11 - 11.18.
We are pleased to note that the supporting evidence indicates that the potential additional education need likely to be generated by the planned new housing development will be met within the borough. We would like to continue to be consulted as the Croydon Local Plan progresses to seek to ensure that new development does not impact on education provision for Surrey. We therefore would anticipate future engagement with you to ensure that any potential cross-boundary pressure on Surrey schools is appropriately mitigated and that strategic education infrastructure needs are met in accordance with the statutory Duty to Cooperate.

The division of the Borough into "Places" is, to start with, utterly arbitrary and, upon inspection, palpably absurd. Take, for instance, the so-called "Addiscombe Place" (this is seen, it seems, as homogenous but it is, in reality, an immensely varied urban/suburban landscape, and one still blessed with nice open spaces, gardens, trees and greenery). There is already a massive, out-of-scale, overbearing "edge of town centre"-development of flats (the awful Menta, or whatever it is now called) in progress at one location — is the Council now going to say that the rest of the "Place" is OK for this, as well?

Other than for East and West Croydon Stations why are there no detailed proposals for improving accessibility to and within railway stations and the improvement of the immediate areas around them?
In addition I object, particularly relating to the apparent lack of consideration given to associated issues relating to proposed significant increases in housing. Examples are pressure on schools and doctors, and traffic flows on the already overburdened Wickham Road, which at times is gridlocked.

The London area is already overcrowded. It would surely be better to encourage the Government to concentrate on other areas of the country for new housing, business and related services or at least concentrate on less densely populated parts of Croydon for new housing.

No change

The Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies and Proposals is planning for sustainable growth in the context of the 16 Places. Croydon has to align with the London Plan which has identified the need for growth in all the London Boroughs. Croydon is in discussions with neighbouring local authorities regarding the Duty to Cooperate and has approached them regarding the need to provide more housing. All Places will change to some degree, some more than others, reflecting the need to provide more homes and jobs for a growing population. There are existing Green Grid policies in the Croydon Local Plan that protect Croydon’s open spaces including the Metropolitan Green Belt, Metropolitan Open Land and Local Green Spaces. The Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies—Partial Review, in paragraph 5.31 refers to the Infrastructure Delivery Plan which provides the evidence of needs for additional infrastructure including school, and SP8.4 requires that major development proposals will be required to be supported by transport assessments, travel plans, construction logistics plans and delivery/servicing plans.

No change

A further policy should be added to enhance and mark the entrance into the borough along London Road in Norbury.

No change

The District Centre designation in combination with the physical gate of the railway line and historic character of the Local Heritage Area sufficiently marks entrance to the borough from the residential areas of the London Borough of Lambeth. Policy SP1 read in conjunction with Policy 7.4 of the London Plan and Paragraph 56 of the National Planning Policy Framework provide sufficient policy support for enhancement and distinctiveness of Places of Croydon, including Norbury.

Object

The Panel is concerned at the concentration of residential development in the centre of Croydon with particular concern at the lack of facilities and the local of recreational space particularly green recreational space. The Panel is also concerned at the quality of development and conversion being permitted and how this will impact on the quality of the street scene.

No change

Croydon Local Plan secures protection to the existing Local Green Spaces serving Croydon Opportunity Area such as: Wandle Park, Duppas Hill, Park Hill and The Queens Gardens. New sites for schools, cultural and healthcare facilities are proposed, see Table 11.9.

Cllr Steve O'Connell AM

Comment

There is a need for the officers to consult other Residents Associations, groups in the Local History Forum and the members of the Area Conservation Committees as to whether amendments need to be made, to ensure more accurate descriptions.

The character descriptions should be more accurate, working with local stakeholders.

No change

The Borough Character Appraisal was originally prepared in 2011 and was a part of consultation packages and subsequent adoption of the Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies (2013). The current document was updated only in areas relating to local character typology which was extended to cover all uses, not only residential. The document was widely consulted and constitutes an evidence base to the local plan.
Cllr Steve O'Connell AM

Comment

There is a need for greater protection of District Centre employment buildings and sites to ensure that new jobs can be based across the Borough. More sites need to be added with the tag 'retain use' and not alternatives listed.

More sites need to be added with the tag 'retain use' and not alternatives listed.

Employment sites within the District Centre will be protected by SP3.2 and do not require an allocation.

Mr Rod Davies

East Croydon Community Organis

Support

ECCO supports in principle the creation of sites for travellers as means to address reported anti-social activity and to promote engagement between the traveller and settled communities. The caveat that ECCO applies to this support is that it expects the Council to provide active management to ensure that the sites are well maintained and do not become venues of anti-social behaviour. ECCO notes the lack of factual communication regarding this issue by the Council, particularly with the affected communities.

The allocations are supported but the Council should provide active management to ensure the sites are well maintained.

South Norwood Country has many vistas and views to the City, Canary Wharf, Shirley Hills and Croydon Town Centre. The recent building of Arena School has had a negative impact upon the locality and when completed the building will be obtrusive and distract from the character of the Victorian/Edwardian terraced homes. Any further development that will have an effect upon this valuable green resource and ecological habitat needs greater protection. The trails in south Norwood Country Park could be improved to encourage Croydon's Heart Borough policy and embed the Olympic Legacy that they promised to do when developing the school yet have failed to deliver.

The allocations are supported but the Council should provide active management to ensure the sites are well maintained.

No change

Green spaces are protected under policy SP7 of the Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies and DM24 of the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies and Proposals.

The Council should not spend its time ruining the lives of people who live in the borough. Do not build on green-belt land when there are plenty of brown-field sites. Do not build tower blocks in places where it is inappropriate. For goodness sake! Have a bit of sensitivity. Do the people proposing these changes actually live in the borough?</td>

Mr Ken Baker

I was genuinely elated to see the Local Plan proposals for Croydon generally - and particularly for our own area here in South Norwood - elation not being easy to summon up after 10 years membership of 'People for Portland Road' (half of that as Chair of our Planning Watch group) and often feeling part of a losing battle when Planning decisions would still allow monstrous decisions on Portland Road and when our thoroughly researched and consulted Regeneration Strategy was 'shelved' over 7 years ago. These current proposals, however, do appear very positive and encouraging and I, for one, am grateful for your work.

I have a concern about the security of open spaces, where the change in designation appears to reduce the level of protection. However, there does seem to be an intention to increase the land under protection by taking into the total land bank areas that presently are not designated as open spaces. Particularly in the south of the Borough the open space is highly valued and a resource to be treasured. I am encouraged by some of the recent work carried out in local open spaces in improving the facilities but I can see no clear intention to upgrade and transform some of the less attractive open spaces for greater facility.

The comment is noted regarding upgrading areas.

This negates and undermines the NPPF and London Plan Policy on the presumption of not allowing Back Garden Development. What is the definition of "significant" change of an area's character? This policy at 11.11 d negates any presumption of NOT allowing Back Garden Development as it gives credence to change of character of an area as an evolutionary excuse and allows "Beds-in-sheds". The policy undermines all the statements to resist back garden developments and removes them from greenfield to brownfield sites against the NPPF and London Plan presumptions against garden land development. It allows developers to quote 'evolution' as a reason for allowing developments in back gardens as a part of an evolutionary change to an area. This could fundamentally change the character of any Croydon residential area. This policy could place Housing Blight on properties in the designated areas for years ahead up to 2036. The general proposition of this Croydon Council administration's policies to relax planning policies and to give a green light for developers to concrete over most of Croydon will be a negative epitaph for this Council's Administration. "They concreted over Croydon!". It seems that the Spatial Planning Team will not be satisfied until Croydon is completely concreted over with developments. Every little in-fill or back garden - nook and cranny is up for grabs!

No change

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. Gradual renewal of housing stock is led by individual developers. Policy 31.1 in conjunction with Policy 7.4 of the London Plan and Paragraph 58 of the National Planning Policy Framework will guide design solutions.

11.26 to 11.31 falls to address the area around East Croydon Station/off Cherry Orchard Road which lies in the intersection between Croydon Development Area and Addiscombe Area and is a stark transition zone from Office developments into Victorian and Edwardian low-rise terrace houses.

Paragraph 11.26 was amended to read "Addiscombe is a suburban residential settlement, framed by green areas on the eastern side and the high density Croydon Opportunity Area to the west. This Place is influenced by and evolved as an extension of the Croydon Metropolitan Centre. (...)"

6.50 A well-designed, cared for and high quality public realm plays an important role in reinforcing the perception of Croydon as a welcoming, safe and accessible place. Croydon's aspirations for its public realm are outlined in the Croydon Local Plan Strategic Policies SP4.6 to SP4.10.
We support and believe this applies equally to the outer district town centres.

Leisure, Recreation and Sports: It is important there are good leisure and recreational facilities for all age ranges especially young people. Coulsdon is blessed with great open spaces such as Farthing Downs, Happy Valley, the Cane Hill site and two sections of the London Loop starting at Coulsdon South Station. There are adequate parks and open spaces with recreation facilities such as football pitches, pitch and putt, bowls, open air gym and children’s playgrounds with swings and other equipment within walking distance. It also has a long established Harriers Running Club, Children’s Gymnastic Club and many other clubs operating in the area.
The particular qualities of Coulsdon are documented in the Borough Character Appraisal which is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

Comment 11.070
Croydon town Centre should remain a strategic centre of employment, education, culture retail and local government for the whole of the borough and for those outside the borough who come to Croydon for work, education and entertainment.
Place specific policies are designed to manage local character, the appearance of the area. Croydon's status as the Metropolitan Centre is recognised by the Policies SP3 of the Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies and Policy DM4 of the Croydon Local Plan: detailed Policies and Proposals.

Comment 11.070
11.70 & 11.71: Also Fails to address issues around East Croydon Station and the transition zone into Addiscombe Area: Oval Road, Cherry Orchard Road, Cedar Road Cross Road, Colson Road and Addiscombe Road west from number 35.

No change
The transition area is addressed in the Opportunity Area Planning Framework and is referred to as ‘Edge Area’.

Comment 11.078
2.DM36.1, DM36.2 DM36. Fails to develop a policy on Residential Skyscrapers. Current Tall Building policy of appropriate for edge of Croydon Opportunity Sites. Maximum height should be set for Cherry Orchard Road and Addiscombe Road. Current Maximum height should be based on Number One Croydon (NLA Tower). Also in order to reflect that it borders a low rise residential areas of Cross Road/Colson Road/Oval Road/Cedar Road/Cherry Orchard Road/Addiscombe Road.

We Propose that only the central area of Croydon Opportunity Area is allowed tall Office Buildings and no tall buildings over 25 floors on Cherry Orchard Road due to proximity to low rise residential building and no building on South Side of Addiscombe Road at 30-38 higher than 5 floors due to proximity and relative position (to the south) to low rise residential housing.

No change
The transition area is addressed in the Opportunity Area Planning Framework and is referred to as ‘Edge Area’.

Object 11.079
11.78 to 11.85: fails to specifically address the East Croydon area as a distinct area in its own right. We disagree in particular that the area lying to the west side of East Croydon Station Cherry Orchard Road, Addiscombe Grove, Addiscombe Road and Colson Road can be “successfully managed by General policies” (11.79) unlike London Road and Sydenham Road and Lansdowne Road areas. This area is also unique given the proximity to low rise traditional housing.

No change
The transition area is addressed in the Opportunity Area Planning Framework and is referred to as ‘Edge Area’.

Comment 11.085
11.78 to 11.85: fails to address Network Rail proposals for a new East Croydon Station north of current site. Need to protect new entrances into Lansdowne Road and Cherry Orchard Road/Cross Road. Also fails to designate land owned by Menta Ltd as the new access route into the new pedestrian bridge from Cherry Orchard Road.

No change
The planning guidance for the area around East Croydon Station can be found in the East Croydon Masterplan, an adopted Interm Planning Guidance, included in policy DM36.1.
There is a need for the officers to consult other Residents Associations, groups in the Local History Forum and the members of the Area Conservation Committees as to whether amendments need to be made to ensure more accurate descriptions.

The summary of the general character of Norbury in paras 11.104-11.110 is only a partial description. It does not:
- highlight the existence of the Norbury Park and the Norbury Hall Park as important open spaces;
- understand the special character and heritage of the whole of the Pollards Hill area;
- mention the importance of Norbury Brook which flows through the area;
- discuss the incidence of employment buildings among the largely residential nature of the area around London Rd.

Further it does not accurately reflect aspects of the history of the area, which are now better understood as a result of the work of David Clark, the local historian and long-term resident on Norbury, who successful negotiated with Network Rail for aspects of Norbury history to be on display at the Railway Station, who maintains the planted areas in front of the Station by the London Rd pedestrian lights, and re-stocks the Cancer Research bookcases at the railway station which have raised several thousand pounds from passengers. The proposed amendments below reflect David’s research.

The JPC is concerned at the failure of the Local Plan to recognise the special character and heritage of the whole of the Pollards Hill area. The current planning application for 18 Pollards Hill West is a classic example of how new residential development can adversely change the character, as well as potentially aggravating existing problems of flooding affecting other properties.

Add at end of para 11.104:
'It has been going through a process of change involving an increase in the number of new homes through conversions of large houses, new build, conversion of offices to residential, and backland development increasing the population density and the demand on local services. It has only a few important community facilities left including the Harlow Hall and Norbury Library, but has recently Somley Dance Hall and the Police Station. It has also been losing employment with the departure of office tenants from Astral and Windsor Houses and their conversion into flats. There is growing use by Norbury Station by commuters creating stresses for residents with respect to car parking and increased number of passengers using the Railway Station and buses.'
There is a need for the officers to consult other Residents Associations, groups in the Local History Forum and the members of the Area Conservation Committees as to whether amendments need to be made to ensure more accurate descriptions.

The summary of the general character of Norbury in paras 11.104-11.110 is only a partial description. It does not:

- highlight the existence of the Norbury Park and the Norbury Hall Park as important open spaces;
- understand the special character and heritage of the whole of the Pollards Hill area;
- mention the importance of Norbury Brook which flows through the area;
- discuss the incidence of employment buildings among the largely residential nature of the area around London Rd.

Further it does not accurately reflect aspects of the history of the area, which are now better understood as a result of the work of David Clark, the local historian and long-term resident on Norbury, who successful negotiated with Network Rail for aspects of Norbury history to be on display at the Railway Station, who maintains the planted areas in front of the Station by the London Rd pedestrian lights, and re-stocks the Cancer Research bookcases at the railway station which have raised several thousand pounds from passengers. The proposed amendments below reflect David’s research.

The JPC is concerned at the failure of the Local Plan to recognise the special character and heritage of the whole of the Pollards Hill area. The current planning application for 18 Pollards Hill West is a classic example of how new residential development can adversely change the character, as well as potentially aggravating existing problems of flooding affecting other properties.

Add:

‘11.105A Norbury has important open spaces: Norbury Park through which Norbury Brook flows, Norbury Hall Park and Pollards Hill Park and the former allotments area next to it, Norbury Manor Primary School field. Just over the border in Merton is the former National Westminster Bank playing fields.’

Change

Paragraph 11.105 is changed to read: ‘Norbury has a residential character that predominantly consists of ‘Terraced Houses and Cottages’, ‘Large Houses on Relatively Small Plots’ and ‘Local Authority Housing with Public Realm’, enriched by green spaces of Norbury Park through which Norbury Brook flows, Norbury Hall Park and Pollards Hill Park.’

Among their other functions Biggin Wood, Norbury Hall and Norbury Park are described as sites of nature conservation importance, while Norbury Hall and Pollards Hill are described as historic park and garden.

Spaces. It should be explicit in the more public Detailed Policies and Proposals section describing the character of Norbury.

There is confusion about the relationship between what residents call Norbury Hall Park and the Norbury Hall Care Home land. Recent signs omit the word park and just state Norbury Hall. This is confusing to visitors to Norbury Hall Care Home who now mistakenly turn into the entrance to the park, and confusing to visitors to the Park who can turn into the entrance of the Care Home.

In Policy DM31.4 (p126) some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for intensification which is a euphemism for more building. This will change the character of those areas and should be opposed.

Change Croydon’s subburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it does not include schools, the pumping station and homes on smaller plots of land. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where there may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

DM31 (Table 11.2)
Area between Kenley station and Godstone Road (subject to development being safe from flooding for the lifetime of the Plan)

The text describes how DM 31.4 is applied to the area within Kenley as: “Area between Kenley Station and Godstone Road”.

A graphical representation is also provided that is intended to define the outer limits of the DM31.4 zone for “focused intensification” as shown below.

KENDRA fails understand how the graphical and textual definition of how DM31.4 are consistent? By reference to the available maps we can ascertain that the graphical representation (above) includes the following within zone for “focused intensification”:
- Approx. half of Church Road
- Parts of Foxley Road
- Houses up Hayes Lane as far as #2 Abbots Lane
- A large part of Hermitage Road
- A large part of Kenley Lane
- All of Oaks Way
- All of Oaklands
- Nearly all of Park Road
- All of Ravenswold
- All of Roke Road
- A large part of Valley Road.

It is observed that NONE of the roads identified above can reasonably be described as being within the “Area between Kenley Station and Godstone Road”.

Given the poor definition of the area for the DM31.4 “focused intensification” within Kenley we asked that Kenley is removed from this policy.

I am particularly concerned, as a Kenley Councillor, that the intensification zone details are hidden in the muddled presentation and that the very rural nature of Kenley will be destroyed by your proposals. Welcomes Road, Kenley Lane, Abbots Lane are just some of the beautiful green areas which will be damaged by your proposals and you must think again. Kenley is shared by residents from all over Croydon. They visit us for the healthy walks, safe outdoor activities for children and the joy of the spaces. All these benefits could be lost if you go ahead with these plans, together with many others.

The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it does not include schools, the pumping station and homes on smaller plots of land. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: Kenley and Old Coulsdon, page 163, Godstone Road, Hayes Lane upto Kenley Lane and Station Road

As part of your consultations, please note my objections to the following in your Local Plan:

DM31.4 ‘protection less intensification’. I am a Kenley resident and feel the loss of the character of the area would not best be served by this – Kenley is a pleasant, residential area that already has its fair share of excessive traffic with small rural roads already crammed with fast moving traffic and on kerb parking. Kenley does not have the infrastructure to contain more cars, parking, or development. Certainly it is already destroying local wildlife and what green open space are still left. Those of us who live in Kenley must have access to a car because we have no access to public transport so I would like to register my objections and wish you to take them on board when you make your decisions.

We have lived in Sanderstead for over 40 years, and have thoroughly enjoyed the areas to the south of Croydon being unspoilt. In our view these ill conceived proposals will change this area beyond recognition and take away that for which it is well known and valued. Please rethink, and do not continue with the proposed policies set out below and which can be found in your Local Plan:

- The loss of Local Area of Special Character protection for many roads such as West Hill, Campion and Spencer Roads, the Woodcote Estate and Hartley Farm will open these roads up to inappropriate development. Roads such as Oakwood Avenue in Purley should also be included as new Local Heritage Areas. In Policy DM31.4 (p126) some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for "intensification" — which is a euphemism for more building. This will change the character of those areas beyond all recognition and I am strongly opposed to any of it.

Mr & Mrs Crane

We are life-long residents of Croydon. With reference to the local plan, we would like to object to the following proposals:

• DM40.1 - A skyscraper in Purley is totally out of character for the town. Purley needs development but this is not the way to go about it.

• DM40.4 - Purley Pool - whilst not objecting to this area being redeveloped it should include a swimming pool. Our children learnt to swim here and it is an important facility to the community. For instance our Farther uses it regularly. It has been vital to maintaining his health and he would not be able to travel to more distant pools.

• DM44.2 - It is not appropriate to have a Travellers site on Green Belt land. We believe it is important to protect all Green Belt land from development.

• DM31.4 - We are opposed to the intensification of these areas.

i strongly object to the areas listed being earmarked for 'intensification' as this will dramatically change the character of these areas.

change: croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. the challenge for the croydon local plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. to achieve this this designation will be amended so that it does not include schools, the pumping station and homes on smaller plots of land. the objective of policy dm31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. the proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. the policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. it would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of croydon local and neighbourhood centres. the complete review is available on the council's website on the evidence base pages which support the croydon local plan.

Below is a list of our objections:

4. Policy DM 31.4 - Intensification of development in South Croydon, Kenley, Purley, Sanderstead - more new developments on these sites will change character of the areas and put local communities at risk.

Change

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it does not include schools, the pumping station and homes on smaller plots of land. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and instead show the following boundaries: Kenley and Old Coulsdon, page 163, Godstone Road, Hayes Lane upto Kenley Lane and Station Road.

focused intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks?

Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennets Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

Addiscombe Residents Association

Area of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade

The intensification is on the border of Addiscombe and Shirley Place and it seems to have been chosen with no underlying evidence as to why. There are no detailed plans in the presented consultation documents. The traffic along Shirley Rd and Wickham Rd is at the standstill in rush hour. Access to Central Croydon is by car or by bus. This area has a distinct character, is predominantly residential with semi-detached and detached homes. The policy would lead to piece meal development— which has always lead to the area becoming run down as residents lose motivation to keep up with maintenance of their homes in the uncertainty of what will happen next door when the property comes up for sale.

The area should not be identified as being suitable for intensification.

We are happy for the Council to replace under-used garages with much-needed homes, but we are objecting to building on precious open space. Finally, the draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means: "New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: 'Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds', 'Large buildings with spacing' and 'Large buildings with strong frontages'. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas" (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The two areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre (the area around Shirley Library) (page 166, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The idea that the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of Shirley and we are objecting to it.

Area of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade

The local draft Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see “focused intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character”. The two areas around Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley Library which have been targeted are roads of semi-detached houses where families have lived for years. It is completely unacceptable that family houses should be replaced by medium-rise blocks of flats. The character of the area would change completely and would mean neighbours in conflict with each other.

DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon Policy DM31.4 sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. As this is a new designation it will need to be shown on the Policies Map. Details of each designation are:
- Area of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade - Shirley
- Setting of the Shirley Local Centre - Shirley

I object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library and the area around the Shirley Road/Shirley Shopping Parade including the Green Triangle and the Trinity School educational open space. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; in this location would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations.

1. In the case of the Shirley Road/Shirley park parade shops, the area behind the shopping parade is a site of Nature Conservation Importance (locally called the Green Triangle) which should be preserved for future generations and the area of Educational Open Space for future Trinity School children.
2. If High density residential accommodation were provided there would be insufficient area for communal open space allocation.
3. The local side road network and width could not cope with high residential density proposals and the likely car ownership and on street parking.
4. If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.

I object to the development plans for the Shirley (Wickham Road) Shopping Parade and the intensification of Wickham Avenue.

The idea that the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of Shirley and I will be objecting to it very strongly.

Change
Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Local Centre), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

Object to focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character under policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and especially Shirley local Centre. Shirley local centre area in particular houses a large proportion of elderly residents, including two sheltered housing complexes, and those living there are doing so for the convenience of transport, shops, doctors, library etc. If you take their property where do they all go? Not everyone will find another property with such convenience on their doorstep.

The intensification is on the border of Addiscombe and Shirley Place and it seems to have been chosen with no underlying evidence as to why. There are no detailed plans in the presented consultation documents. The traffic along Shirley Rd and Wickham Rd is at the standstill in rush hour. Access to Central Croydon is by car or by bus. This area has a distinct character, is predominantly residential with semi-detached and detached homes. The policy would lead to piecemeal development—which has always lead to the area becoming run down as residents lose motivation to keep up with maintenance of their homes in the uncertainty of what will happen next door when the property comes up for sale.

The area should not be identified as being suitable for intensification.

Object: Objections to the proposed Intensification of Shirley Local Centre and Shirley Shopping Parade as outlined in table 11.2 on page 129 of Croydon Local Plan Detailed Proposals and Policies and extensive development in other areas of Shirley that are affected by road congestion and poor PTAL scores.

Lack of Communication re Consultation

Many residents in the Shirley area only learnt about Croydon Council’s proposed local plan first through an email sent out by Gavin Barwell, MP and secondly through documents he delivered to each property.

There were no notices put up on lamp posts, in the library or on public noticeboards in Shirley’s main shopping parade or any prominent place in the Shirley Local Centre.

The consultation period commenced on 5 November but the three large books containing the Croydon Plan and associated consultation documents were only delivered to Shirley Library on 11 December – after the consultation meeting had taken place and one week before the closing date of 18 December.

The Consultation meeting that covered the Shirley area was not held in Shirley (even though there are many suitable venues there – particularly Shirley Library or the Parish Hall) but miles away in Selsdon so that fewer people could attend.

For this reason Croydon Council, with regard to the transparency it claims for itself, should extend the closing date so that all residents can have a say and that this time the plans and proposals be widely advertised.

Shirley Road Area

I am writing to object to the proposals to intensify development in many roads around this centre for the following reasons:

• Poor transport accessibility

The Shirley character assessment notes that Shirley has some of the poorest public transport links in the borough. There is no railway or tram station in the built up area. The nearest railway station is 1½ miles away.

The bulk of the proposed intensification area has a PTAL score of only 2, some parts as low as 1a.

The A232 Wickham Road leads into the A215 at the Methodist Church, this has been identified as one of the most congested roads in Europe (Source: Daily Telegraph)

The council already knows there are existing traffic problems in Shirley even before any houses are built - see page 253 of transport strategy document which notes high car dependency due to poor public transport and peak time congestion.

There is no evidence (beyond a mere pious hope in section 7.76 that people will use public transport more) that the council has considered the effect of the intensification of development on local transport networks. This is contrary to London Plan policy 6.3 which states assessments must be undertaken, and in particular the cumulative effects of development considered. Paragraph D of the policy contains the presumption that development should be directed to areas with good transport links. See London Plan paragraph 6.15 “In practical terms, this means ensuring that new developments that will give rise to significant numbers of new trips should be located either where there is already good public transport accessibility with capacity adequate to support the additional demand or where there is a realistic prospect of additional accessibility or capacity being provided in time to meet the new demand.”

The effect of the poorer transport links can be seen in increased car ownership in Shirley ward.

| Shirley Croydon |
| All Households | 5886 145010 |
| No Cars or Vans in Household | 88% 66% |
| 1 Car or Van in Household | 23% 27% |
| 2 Cars or Vans in Household | 4% 3% |
| 3 or More Cars or Vans in Household | 1% 0.4% |

This is further reflected in modes of travel to work. Only about 10% of people who don't work at home work in Central Croydon, the rest have to work further afield.

54% of all journeys to work from Shirley are by motor. Even in the narrow corridor along the A232 there are as many car journeys as bus/tram. Outside of there it is no contest. Even in the remainder of Croydon itself, three times as many journeys are made by car as by tram/bus/train. 70% of journeys to work to the second placed borough of Bromley are by car.

This table shows the 20 most popular locations in 2011 for Shirley residents to work and the mode of travel to work.

- Sustainability

National Planning Policy Framework (page 6) has a presumption against development in locations that are non-sustainable, which includes where environmental damage such as increasing greenhouse gases would result from actively manage patterns of growth to make the fullest possible... use of public transport, walking and cycling, and focus significant development in locations which are or can be made sustainable”.

The poor transport links in Shirley is reflected in a significantly higher level of car ownership than the borough as a whole.

Individual applicants have to carry out transport assessments, why has the council not done the same for the areas they propose to designate as suitable for development?

- Council has underestimated the amount of empty houses coming forward

We note that the council assume only 190 empty houses will be reoccupied during the period 2016-36. However this appears to be at variance London Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment (2009). In that Croydon stated that in the period 2011-2021 they would return 91 long term vacant properties per year to housing, plus a further 20 per annum for non-self contained units. This means that you have already stated that the borough will gain 555 homes this way in the period 2016-21, why then is a figure of 190 given for empty homes only for the whole period 2016-36? Omitting non-self contained units conflicts with the GLA SHLAA 2009.

The 2011 census Croydon had 3,814 empty properties, and as well as that there were over 1,500 commercial sites in 2010 that were vacant, many would have flats over shops, or would be capable of conversion to residential.

- Effect on local character

Sections 11.140 and 11.141 of the Detailed Policies document emphasises the pleasing uniformity of Shirley with its predominately 1930s housing in planned estates. New buildings have tended to be designed to fit into the existing streetscape.

You have stated in your report to Cabinet that development should only complement and enhance character.

This conflicts with your reasons given in paragraph 3.46 of the Report to Cabinet of 21 September 2015 (select 7.2 Main Report then find pages 15-16). Then this is used to argue Shirley has no dominant character and can therefore be the host for more intensive development.

This is clearly not the case with one exception the shopping centre is consonant with the surrounding architecture, that of 1930s suburbia, creating a homogenous whole. In no sense can intensified development with dense house building up to 4 stories high in suburban side roads be in keeping with the inter-war single and two storey houses with gardens.
• Inability of development to occur
  We have ordered a number of registers for properties in the proposed expanded Shirley Centre and it appears that large swathes are incapable of intensified development because they contain restrictive covenants which limit the number of houses to 1 per plot.

We note you have rejected a number of proposed development sites because of the unlikelihood that they can be developed (e.g. A181 - 45 to 61 Church Street, A465 - 234 The Glades, A476 - 1 to 19 Craven Road and many others). We would particularly refer you to A354 (118-148 Tennison Road) which was rejected as a site because of replacing the existing function. This is precisely the situation here.

Detrimental effect on residents of merging two smaller properties re intensification

On page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies and Proposals, it is explained that intensification involving building of medium rise blocks of flats (up to 4 storeys) could be achieved by merging smaller properties.

As noted on page 84 of Croydon Local Plan Policies and Proposals, appendix 4, there is a higher than average proportion of older people living in Shirley. And some of these may be quite vulnerable.

If a developer succeeds in buying up a semi-detached property, which could potentially be used for building flats on, what pressures could be brought to bear on an elderly owner of the adjoining semi if he or she refuses to sell? What sort of tenant could the developer obtain that might change the mind of the elderly owner? This policy has the potential to result in harassment and substantial distress. It is troubling that the Council could propose such an approach.
Caroline Porter Object Further objections to the proposed intensification of Shirley Local Centre and as outlined in table 11.2 on page 129 of Croydon Local Plan Detailed Proposals and Policies (marked DM43.1)

Shirley Local Centre has a very distinctive character. Almost all the properties were built in the late 1920s or early 1930s and attractively designed. They are also very well maintained by their owners. Many of the residents are active older people who take an interest in the area and the younger ones do too. They keep the area clean and tidy, volunteer to help out with green spaces such as Miller’s Pond, help out with the Spring Park Residents Association, organise the local Neighbourhood Watch etc. The SPRA also publishes a magazine called SPAN (Spring Park Activities News) which provides details of all the events going on in Shirley (and there are pages and pages of them). There are loads of things to do and these are organised and attended by the villagers. There a substantial number of churches in Shirley and they are very well attended. A recent Victorian Carol Concert in the Methodist Church was sold out.

When I came to live in Shirley two years ago, I was invited for coffee or drinks to my neighbours’ houses and one neighbour even came and mowed my lawn for me. The welcome was amazing.

There is nothing wrong with the character of this neighbourhood nor does it lack distinctiveness. And this character would be spoilt if our houses were demolished and replaced by anonymous blocks of flats and the sense of community would be lost. And then instead of being able to support each other, residents would be calling on the Council for help instead. And the churches too would suffer if you tried to tinker with the population make-up and the loss of them would also increase the burden on the Council.

You have marked Shirley Library and Hartland Way Surgery as suitable for redevelopment. There has been overwhelming community support for keeping the library open — not only is it a magnificent building but it also plays a huge part in our community. I have already sent you the Land Registry title register for Shirley Library — you can read the agreement between the owner and the Corporation — if a library or public building isn’t built there, the land reverts back to only permitting the building of a single dwelling-house. The only option for the Hartland Way Surgery building is either as a private house or as the professional residence of a solicitor, architect, medical practitioner or dentist. That is how it is a doctor’s surgery. With the number of older people in the area and an increasingly aging population, there is no way we could do without the surgery. It would be a community disaster if you went ahead with these proposals.

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this, this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickhams Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Local Centre), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. I am writing to register my objection to those parts of the pr, which is too weak. Proposals referred to focussed intensification associated with gradual change of the area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road shopping parade and Shirley local centre. (also see table 11.2)

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Local Centre), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. Area of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade

I am writing regarding the Council’s plans for a massive redevelopment in the Shirley Area. More houses mean more traffic on our already crowded roads. I no longer go into Croydon because of the journey times. How long would it be before the Council considered bringing in a congestion charge. When you build all these properties do you consider the local amenities and the effect that more people would have on these. Where are the school places for all of these children? Regarding doctors. Unless it is an emergency I have to wait at least a week for an appointment. This waiting time can only increase if there are more patients. Is it the Council’s policy to build over green belt land to the detriment of locals? I sincerely hope not. I think you need to seriously reconsider these plans.

Support

The response supports the inclusion of the proposed intensification site known as "Area of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade" and confirms that 0.03ha of land, which is underutilised and owned by the respondent - is both deliverable and developable for intensification purposes. The site is deliverable in that our client represents a willing landowner and the site is available for redevelopment now. There is more than a realistic prospect that development will be delivered on the site within five years.

the draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see “focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character” under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

The two areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre (the area around Shirley Library). The former is quite tightly drawn and I therefore don’t object to it, but the latter includes not just the Wickham Road itself but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way (page 166, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). I object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached and detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library, West Way Gardens, Hartland Way, Wickham Rd, Devonshire Way, West Way, Verdayne Ave, Ridgemount Ave, Wickham Ave, and the area around the Shirley Road/Shirley Shopping Parade including the Green Triangle and the Trinity School educational open space. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; at these locations would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations. In the case of the Shirley Road/Shirley park parade shops, the area behind the shopping parade is a site of Nature Conservation Importance (locally called the Green Triangle) which should be preserved for future generations and the area of Educational Open Space for future Trinity School children. If High density residential accommodation were provided there would be insufficient area for communal open space allocation. The local side road network and width could not cope with high residential density proposal and the likely car ownership and on street parking. If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.

Objections to the proposed Intensification of Shirley Local Centre and Shirley Shopping Parade as outlined in table 11.2 on page 129 of Croydon Local Plan.

I would like to register my objection to the proposals and also to request that the consultation period is extended to allow residents and other interested parties the time to fully research the likely impact of the proposals. There appears to have been very little action on behalf of the council to ensure that those affected by these proposed plans were made aware of them, thus denying them the opportunity of airing their opinion. It is a pity that the council felt itself unable to be transparent over this matter, perhaps anticipating how unpopular and ill advised the proposal is.

I object most strongly to the council planning to change the current face of The area around and including Shirley library. My understanding is that development should only complement and enhance character in an area and this cannot be achieved by building multi occupancy buildings in and around this site. Contrary to statement, it is a characterful, and typical face of 20's and 30s builds and it is this that gives it's welcome open feel. As such, residents have a strong sense of community, care for the area and this in turn contributes to a positive sense of well being and belonging. This destabilising of an area by the proposals should not be underestimated in terms of drain on council services for policing, maintenance, cleansing if this were destroyed by intensified housing.

The amenities are a further positive of this part of Shirley, the library and Surgery being two most important parts of the whole and loss of these would impact strongly on the community.

In addition, public transport in the locality is inadequate, schools and doctors surgeries oversubscribed, and any remedy would result in even greater loss of land and character.

The council should be looking at derelict area and under used sites and areas where conditions for existing residents could be improved, rather than destroying well balanced

Area of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade

Ref DM31.4 changes to Shirley Road shopping parade and many local roads with medium rise blocks, this will change the character of Shirley. I also wonder about the impact on schools and local doctors surgeries already stretched to capacity and the ever increasing traffic in the area.

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Local Centre), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
First, the draft Local Plan identifies two areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see “focused intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character” under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The document also explains what this means – that it is the aim of your team to materially change the character of the local area. Please could you explain why? Even if it was an area which had problems, this would be unacceptable. But the area you are talking about is a good residential district with good shops and a pleasant atmosphere. An area to which people move specifically because of its character, an area which people love.

1. Policy DM31.4: Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character. Shirley Road shopping parade and Shirley local centre:

Whilst some limited intensification in the local centre along Wickham Road may be desirable to provide additional housing, the area around the local centre is far too widely drawn, including roads with quality family housing (Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Firsby Avenue, Hartland Way, Devonshire Way etc.) which should be maintained. Family housing with gardens needs to be retained for young families upsizing from flats to move to, who it is in the borough’s interest to retain.

Intensification would also lead to increased traffic which Wickham Road cannot support (rush hour delays are already very significant), especially since traffic is already expected to increase with the (admittedly desirable) Westfield development where visitors from Shirley, West Wickham and farther afield from A21/M25 will naturally use the A232 to reach Croydon.

ii) We strongly oppose intensification around the Shirley Road shopping parade. This is an architecturally strong parade which accordingly enjoys very low vacancy rates. In fact we strongly urge you to consider the 1930s parade for local listing, local heritage area or similar protection. Indeed 11.147 states that “each of Shirley’s shopping centres has a distinct character which should be enhanced and strengthened” and some form of protection is essential to secure this in the light of intensification proposals. (We would comment similarly in respect of the Sandeford Local centre also listed under DM31.4) As with the area around the Shirley local centre, we object to the loss of family housing for the reasons already stated. In fact 11.142 notes that the features of Shirley’s shopping areas “play a vital role in creating Shirley’s sense of place” and yet, in apparent contradiction, the proposed focussed intensification as outlined would seriously undermine this sense of place.

As an aside and instead it would seem that areas in need of regeneration within the borough might be considered for focussed intensification and/or change of use to provide additional housing and where access to transport and other facilities is good. For example the area along Lower Addiscombe Road between Grant Road and Davidsom

Road has several retail units which have been unlet for a long period and a fragmented character which provides the opportunity for redevelopment into a much higher quality and largely residential area, although focus on the quality of development/conversion will be necessary to achieve a good living environment.

We are pleased to note that public realm improvements are planned for the Shirley Local Centre, as these are long overdue.

I object to focused intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character.

Taken at face value, it would appear that many of the residential roads adjoining the Wickham Road are now implicated in the scheme in their entirety including; Ridgemount Avenue, Verdayne Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Firby Avenue, Orchard Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. This apparent ‘land-grab’ is totally unacceptable and disruptive for the established community on so many levels, not the least being that were these proposals to become Croydon Council’s adopted policy, they would stultify home-owner development, and possibly blight the sale and value of local properties for many years to come. Unless the Council’s intentions are better clarified and more precisely detailed damage to the market will be done.

Fourth, the draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see “focused intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character” under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means:

“New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds’, ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas” (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

The two areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre (the area around Shirley Library). The former is quite tightly drawn and I therefore don’t object to it, but the latter includes not just the Wickham Road itself but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Davonshire Way (page 166, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The idea that the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of Shirley and I will be objecting to it very strongly.
The plan for the Shirley Road Shopping Parade & the Shirley local centre (page 129) actually states its intention to change the local character. So it will involve pressurising inhabitants of perfectly good houses to move out to allow demolition of their homes to replace them with multi-occupational blocks. It will not ‘complement the local character’ to remove houses and their gardens. London’s Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment assumes that garden land WILL NOT BE DEVELOPED.

Existing semi-detached houses should not be demolished in favour of soulless blocks of flats. People require houses to live in, especially bringing up families. Please stick to sensible developments and do not destroy Croydon with horrendous buildings. We are long-term residents and care very much about the area in which we live.

Focused intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

Apart from the obvious increase in traffic, to an already overburdened Wickham Road, we are starting to see the gradual erosion of traditional residential roads formed of classic semi or detached houses. To cram more and more houses and flats into the designated areas would destroy their character and to build on existing green belt and back gardens would be completely inappropriate, as well as placing additional stress on local facilities and amenities. I urge the Council to reconsider these proposals and adopt a more sensitive agenda using only space and land capable of absorbing additional development.</td>

I have heard from another source that a plot of land known locally as the Green Triangle at the bottom of our gardens is included in the proposals and yet to my knowledge there is no mention of it in the document. None of the local residents know anything about it neither do the Shirley Parade Shops management committee.

Change: The triangle referred to in the representation is a Site of Nature Conservation Importance and not suitable for development. Therefore, it has been removed from the proposed area of focussed intensification.

I have lived in Shirley for 22 years and one of the main reasons we moved here was because of the character and charm of the area. Needless to say we were horrified when we were recently made aware of the above document and the proposals involving medium rise housing intensification. When I first read the document I thought it just involved the development of the Shirley Road Parade of Shops, however, when I looked at the line drawing on page 166 the outline boundary stretched further than the parade so I wrote to your planning department asking for the addresses affected by the proposals. I received a reply from Dominique Barnett on 3/12, however, she did not answer my question so I replied on 5/12 and told her that I required a definitive list of addresses - to date I still haven't received a reply, although I spoke to her directly last week and she said she would try to obtain the info. And write to me.

Please can you let me know if my objection has been noted and how I can make it more official?

My other objection relates to the draft Local Plan relating to two other areas in Shirley, i.e. Shirley Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre, the area around Shirley Library. From the draft plan, the Council wants to see "focused intensification associated with gradual change of the area's local character" under Policy DM31.4... It further describes how this would mean merging smaller properties, medium rise blocks, large buildings with strong frontages. "The introduction of such buildings will alter, over time, the predominant character of the intensified areas"... Page 106 CLP mentions local roads in Shirley. To replace the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium rise blocks is not acceptable. It will inevitably change the character of Shirley and I would like to register my objection.

I am writing to object to:

1. Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character under Policy DM 31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre.

   This policy is lacking in sufficient detail or thought, and actually perpetuates the poorly planned and thought out development that the Croydon Local Plan refers to, which it seeks to avoid.

   The idea that largely semi-detached buildings in the residential roads surrounding Shirley library should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is entirely unsuitable, and wholly unacceptable.

   This policy would completely change the character of Shirley for the worse (not better), with particular and direct effect on those residential streets encompassed by the suggested policy on the south side of Shirley that sit off/behind the main Wickham Road and library.

   Adopting such a policy would also significantly devalue and detract from Shirley as a whole, and would have negative consequences in respect of the existing residential properties surrounding any such development that would remain. It is also likely to result in at least a perceived element of blight if pursued.

   The policy does not indicate a respect for the local area and the existing character, which would be destroyed by adopting such a policy. It also shows little regard to the impacts on what is a settled and well established community, which would be eroded fairly quickly. The policy also shows no regard for the local environs, as well as local and public services, traffic considerations, and existing infrastructure.

   Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Local Centre), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. I am concerned that the areas which have been earmarked for ‘intensification’ will suffer as a result of over-building, which will destroy the character of these areas.

Objections to the proposed Intensification of Shirley Local Centre and Shirley Shopping Parade as outlined in table 11.2 on page 129 of Croydon Local Plan Detailed Proposals and Policies and extensive development in other areas of Shirley.

I wish to lodge my objection to the proposals on the following grounds:
- Insufficient Notice was given to allow adequate consideration to be given to the proposals
- The intensification of dwelling places in the area will have a negative impact, changing the nature and character of the area
- The transport links in the area are inadequate to cope with a large increase in the population. The A232
Wickham Road is notoriously bad.

A proposal to build flats to replace two bungalows on the corner of Alton Road was turned down on the grounds that it would change the nature and character of the road.
Alton Road consists of traditional family homes with gardens.
Many similar roads referred to in the Shirley proposal would be affected in the same way.

You only have to look at Pampisford Road in Croydon to see how such developments change the nature and character of a road.

Croydon's suburbs will have maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria

referring to infrastructure
availability and accessibility;
deliverability of growth based on local character. The

Mr K George: I am unaware that I have missed public meetings or been sent details of these plans as it affects my local area. I think that were you to have had a local referendum as I think you should have done, these proposals would receive practically zero support except possibly by those who stand to gain from it. My wife and I are longstanding Shirley residents. While I understand the need for more housing, the Croydon plan as it affects Shirley seems extreme in extent and its likely impact on Shirley. I am especially concerned with policy DM31.4 and the proposed focussed intensification of the Shirley Road Shopping parade and Shirley local centre which is tantamount to the destruction of Shirley as it exists and it’s replacement by New developments of unknown nature. Apart from the unknown endpoint it is clear that the impact in terms of inconvenience and disruption to local residents would occur over many years during this redevelopment for no benefit to existing residents. It is also not evident why that part of Shirley as opposed to any other reasonably pleasant suburban area in Croydon should have been chosen for ‘intensification’.

Finally, the draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means:

“New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds’, ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas” (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

First, the draft Local Plan identifies two areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). Happily the document also explains what this means. Unhappily, it appears to mean exactly what it says – that it is the aim of your team to materially change the character of the local area. If it was an area which had problems, which needed to be helped up, which was suffering unduly from the privations of the tight financial climate then perhaps, perhaps, it would be understandable, if still unacceptable. But the area you are talking about is none of those things – it is a nice residential district with nice shops and a pleasant atmosphere. An area to which people move specifically because of its character, and area which people love.

Object Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 – 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: Shirley, page 166, Shirley Road from Shirley Avenue to the BP Service Station and a further zone on Wickham Road from Verdayne Avenue to Cheston Avenue.

Having read both local plans for the Shirley area, I strongly object to all aspects in both plans, this includes the 750 new homes on Shirley Oaks Village, 35 new homes in Shrublands, the two gypsy sites at Combe Fram and Conduit Nursery and the development for up the four storeys along Wickham Road.

None of these plans will benefit Shirley and I object to them all.

I have considered details of the proposed Croydon Local Plan and have the following objections on the basis that they will:

- detract from the local areas,
- dramatically change the local areas,
- have a significant adverse effect on an already overloaded infrastructure, including roads, public transport, public open space, environment and emergency, health and support services.

3. I object to the proposed replacement of low rise, terraced, semi detached, and detached properties with medium and high rise properties in the Shirley area, Addington and Forestdale area, New Addington area, Addiscombe and East Croydon area.

4. I object to the proposed increased building capacity and density in the Shirley area, Addington and Forestdale area, New Addington area, Addiscombe and East Croydon area.

This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification. The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: Shirley, page 166, Shirley Road from Shirley Avenue to the BP Service Station and a further zone on Wickham Road from Verdayne Avenue to Cheston Avenue;

Change Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Local Centre), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

I also object strongly to the proposed development of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre (Policy DM31.4). Shirley is made up of mostly semi-detached houses in residential roads. To replace these very functional and beautiful houses with medium rise blocks will change the entire character of Shirley. It will only serve to lead to further development in an already well populated area.

We are life long residents of Croydon. With reference to the local plan we would like to object to the following proposals:

• DM40.1 - A skyscraper in Purley is total out of character for the town. Purley needs development but this is not the way to go about it.
• DM40.4 - Purley Pool - whilst not objecting to this area being redeveloped it should include a swimming pool. Our children learnt to swim here and it is an important facility to the community. For instance our Father uses it regularly. It has been vital to maintaining his health and he would not be able to travel to more distant pools.
• DM44.2 - It is not appropriate to have a travellers site on green belt land. We believe it is important to protect all Green Belt land from development.
• DM31.4 - We are opposed to the intensification of these areas.

The green belt land we have in our areas, in Shirley, Forestdale, Addington and beyond, is a precious resource that should be protected by the council, not placed under threat of development at your whim. Having these green spaces helps the environment, the ecosystem, biodiversity and nature, and local residents, who benefit in many ways from having such places nearby their homes.

The draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means: New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: 'Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds', 'Large buildings with spacing' and 'Large buildings with strong frontages'. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas" (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The two areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre (the area around Shirley Library).

The former is quite tightly drawn and I therefore don’t object to it, but the latter includes not just the Wickham Road itself but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way (page 166, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The idea that the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of Shirley and I object to this very strongly.

Mr. Vince Hemmott

Focused intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgmount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Below is a list of our objections:

4. Policy DM 31.4 - Intensification of development in South Croydon, Kenley, Purley, Sanderstead - more new developments on these sites will change character of the areas and put local communities at risk.

Change: Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. I object to focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road shopping Parade. Replacing the existing shopping parade and the surrounding semi-detached housing with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of the Shirley Area.

Change The policy 31.4 was withdrawn from the final draft of the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies and Proposals in response to the new piece of evidence which was not available prior to consultation. The detailed Level 1 Strategic Flood Risk Assessment identified all six proposed areas of focussed intensification as being of a high risk of flooding (fluvial, surface and groundwater) therefore not suitable for intensification.
I am grateful to the Council for consulting on the detailed policies and proposals that will make up the Croydon Local Plan. There is much in the document that I agree with, but some of the proposals would, in my opinion, change the character of parts of Croydon very much for the worse. I hope you will forgive me if I focus on these areas of contention. I am therefore writing to formally object to:

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this, this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Local Centre), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

DM31 (Table 11.2) Area of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade

Identification of two Shirley areas as suitable for "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of areas local character" under policy DM31.4

The areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley Local Centre. The roads around Shirley Library are largely semi-detached housing, where families have lived for many years. It is a settled community and it is completely unacceptable the family houses should be replaced by medium-sized blocks of flats, which would completely change the area's character and disrupt the existing community. This has personal relevance, as the proposals cover the road where I have lived for the past 32 years.

Mrs Mary Lane

I object to the focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgmount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennett Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

Focused intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre. As higher buildings require more surrounding space, there is no advantage in destroying the character. As a long term resident of Shirley, since 1969, I am appalled at your proposals for focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character. Although I and other local people appreciate the need for housing, surely it is part of your responsibility as a Council to respect the views of your residents and to conserve good local character, not to bulldoze it in favour of such inappropriate redevelopment? Shirley is recognised as a prime example of excellent inter-war development. It would seem our Council is determined to destroy this asset and replace it with anonymity.

Change Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Local Centre), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
In Policy DM31.4 some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for intensification which is a euphemism for more building. This will change the character of those areas and should be opposed.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries:

- South Croydon, page 167: Brighton Road from Napier Road to Kingsdown Avenue.

We have lived in Sanderstead for over 40 years, and have thoroughly enjoyed the areas to the south of Croydon being unspoilt. In our view these ill conceived proposals will change this area beyond recognition and take away that for which it is well known and valued. Please rethink, and do not continue with the proposed policies set out below and which can be found in your Local Plan:

- The loss of Local Area of Special Character protection for many roads such as West Hill, Campden and Spencer Roads, the Woodcote Estate and Hartley Farm will open these roads up to inappropriate development. Roads such as Oakwood Avenue in Purley should also be included as new Local Heritage Areas.
- In Policy DM31.4 (p126) some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for “intensification” — which is a euphemism for more building. This will change the character of those areas beyond all recognition and I am strongly opposed to any of it.

Brighton Road (Sanderstead Road) Local Centre with its setting (subject to development being safe from flooding for the lifetime of the Plan)

Mr & Mrs Mott object I object to this site allocation.

Change Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this, this designation will be amended so that it does not include homes on smaller plots of land focusing instead on Brighton Road and Sanderstead Road, areas in between and key corner plots. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
Object Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 – 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: South Croydon, page 167, Brighton Road from Napier Road to Kingsdown Avenue.

We are life long residents of Croydon. With reference to the local plan we would like to object to the following proposals:

- DM40.1 - A skyscraper in Purley is total out of character for the town. Purley needs development but this is not the way to go about it.
- DM40.4 - Purley Pool - whilst not objecting to this area being redeveloped it should include a swimming pool. Our children learnt to swim here and it is an important facility to the community. For instance our Farther uses it regularly. It has been vital to maintaining his health and he would not be able to travel to more distant pools.
- DM44.2 - It is not appropriate to have a travellers site on green belt land. We believe it is important to protect all Green Belt land from development.
- DM31.4 - We are opposed to the intensification of these areas.

focused intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. I am astonished that further building is proposed within Forestdale. It was created by builders who used the contours of the land and green spaces to create an environment that combined high-density housing with a pleasant living environment. The estate does not contain any 'wasted space'. The thought of erecting a medium sized tower here is a mad scheme.

Forestdale as a location where the Council wants to see focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means:

New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds’, ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

The idea that the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of the area.

In addition to changes in the housing stock, these proposals would significantly alter the population density. Most individuals continue to aspire to own a car and for many this is a necessity in order to travel to and from work. Public transport will never cover the needs of all people particularly those that need their vehicles as an integral part of their work. The proposed dramatic increase in dwellings and population density will add to the demand for on-street parking which is already an acute problem in some parts of Forestdale.

<td>In my opinion the Councils proposals, if approved, would alter the physical appearance of Forestdale changing it from one designed to blend harmoniously with the local rural environment ‘Where Town meets Country’ was developers original concept. It is difficult to imagine medium rise flats, perhaps up to 15 storeys high, blending with the existing housing stock or the countryside surrounding Forestdale as the existing area is relatively small and narrow and surrounded by woods and a bird sanctuary.</td>

When Forestdale was designed by the developers, Wates, it was always intended that the housing stock would provide a range of dwellings for various incomes and different household needs. It remains ‘relatively cheap’ by current London standards. These proposals would alter that original concept.

Furthermore, there must be considerable doubt whether existing home owners would be adequately compensated. I am left with the inevitable but uncomfortable conclusion that many existing owners, dispossessed by the council, will have insufficient funds to buy a similar property either in Croydon or elsewhere in London and will either have to downsize or relocate to another part of the country.

I wish to object strongly to what I consider are ludicrous proposals bordering on the insane. Referring in particular to Policy DM31.4 I would like to state that myself and many other people moved here because it's quite an open area without large blocks of flats. Already over time the area has changed - parking is a nightmare and amount of litter and fly tipping has increased greatly. How indeed does the Council propose to change small housing into blocks of flats? Will they issue hundreds of Compulsory Purchase Orders or send in the 'Heavies' to force residents out. Public transport around Forestdale is already stretched to breaking point and parking along the Piston Way is so bad that at certain times of the day and particularly at weekends the high frequency bus service finds the main road virtually impassible. I do believe Abellio the company running the bus service have complained on many occasions.

At present Forestdale is served by two schools- Forestdale and Courtwood. Forestdale has recently doubled in size. So what plans for the future when the population on Forestdale virtually doubles? Also there is one small part time Doctors surgery. It's all very well moving in masses of people but what about other services? In my opinion Forestdale is not suitable for your so called 'intensification' But yet again residents with modest amounts of money and property and of course little political influence pay the price again.
The respondent states that they chose this area because of the affordable housing, garden spaces (open plan feel) and no large blocks of flats. Already the area has changed (and not for the better).

I am writing to object to:

1. Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of Forestdale

With regard to policy DM31.4, my wife and I have lived in Forestdale for 40 years and raised our family here, firstly in Hartscoft and then in Brookscroft. I have been a director of Brookscroft Management Ltd for ten years and chairman for eight. I believe that Brookscroft is a valuable asset for Croydon which the Council should be aiming to protect, not threaten:

a) The houses are relatively low cost, and therefore aspirational homes for first time buyers including those moving from social housing (there are also Housing Association properties in the estate)

b) Unlike most properties at comparable cost the area is ‘green’ thanks to shared amenity land, providing a healthy environment for young families with consequential benefit in terms of their children’s development and reduced social cost compared with other more ‘urban’ areas

c) This is achieved because the amenity land (including roads and street lighting) is owned and maintained by Brookscroft Management Ltd at no cost to the Council, despite all houses paying full Council Tax. If the character was changed this cost (currently £52,000 pa) would fall to the Council

d) It should also be noted that the current character and legal status of Brookscroft is protected by Trust and Covenants, which we would fight to preserve.

These points apply in varying degree to Forestdale as a whole, of which Brookscroft forms only a small part.
Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

I agree with the proposal to include Forestdale in the Selsdon district which is our natural District centre. I also approve of the concept of designating a Neighbourhood centre at the Selsdon Park Road/Featherbed Lane junction. This is a thriving centre and convenient for local residents. It has a small supermarket, two chemists, a newsagent with sub post office, bakery, launderette, GP surgery and dentist so it's good to protect these services. There are also restaurants for fish and chips and Indian food plus daytime cafes and takeaways. The loss of the bank to become a betting shop was a shame although there are cash points at the newsagent and petrol station. There are also good public transport links. Some intensification in this locality may be appropriate if carefully designed and does not adversely affect the existing residents or businesses. Therefore I would not object if the intensification is only in the area shown marked as DM31.4 on the Changes of Policies map of Selsdon indicated in blue (page 165).

My initial worry on learning of the intensification proposal from my MP was that it would apply to all of Forestdale and this has been the impression that he and his supporters have given to me and other residents. The whole of Forestdale is identified in the Detailed Policies and Proposals, Paragraph 11.9, Table 11.2 as marked for intensification.

Andrew Green Object Forestdale to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). "New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: 'Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds', 'Large buildings with spacing' and 'Large buildings with strong frontages'. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas"

I have been a resident of Forestdale all my life, having been brought up in our family home there, and subsequently my first flat, and now a 3 bedroom house. I am incensed that the above would even have crossed someone's mind let alone be turned into a formalised plan. Forestdale is a private housing estate which was built with great consideration to provide a mixture of property types for all, from solo occupancy to family homes. They were built with consideration for the surroundings and with green spaces and play areas incorporated. It is a measure of its success that many like myself have chosen to stay there over moving elsewhere as we have moved through the property chain.

The proposal to rip up areas of Forestdale to replace the well thought out considerate planning with mid-rise blocks of flats, which would sit like high-rise amongst their surroundings, is beyond ludicrous. The way to increase housing is not to rip up good housing and destroy an area through a complete change of character, it is to build houses on unused brownfield sites and develop waste ground or derelict areas.

"Focused intensification...change of local character" – How is changing the character of a well thought out housing development a positive move? Focussed intensification is just a flowery way of saying cram people in. Forestdale already is used to capacity as far as vehicles and parking spaces is concerned, and has the facilities in place such as primary schools and local shops for the size it is. It was designed and built that way. Increasing the volume would just break these facilities and destroy the environment.

"Significantly larger than existing", "large buildings with strong frontages" – This sounds like the worst decision that could be made. Rip out areas of existing housing that serves the community well and replace with vast facades that dominate their surroundings and destroy the area.

I cannot object strongly enough to these proposals and find them incredibly insulting as a way of developing the area and providing housing solutions. Croydon is a huge town covering a large area, and the best that can be come up with is to rip out existing homes in nice areas and destroy communities and the character of area. That is to say nothing of the utilities such as water and drainage which has been put in to serve the existing environment and would have to be ripped out and replaced ruining many surrounding roads and areas whilst that was being done.

Forestdale

I have lived on Forestdale for some thirty years, twenty-six of those years at my present address. Forestdale is a well-planned, pleasant estate largely in private ownership and it horrifies me that the Local Plan identifies it as a location where the Council wants to see “focused intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character”. The idea that the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats should be replaced by medium-rise blocks or even large buildings is quite unacceptable. Forestdale is complete in itself and the Council’s proposals would completely change the character of the whole area.

I strongly object to the latest proposals specifically.

1. Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of areas local character under Policy DM31.4 of Forestdale. This is unacceptable because Forestdale was built by Wates as a family community, with large swathes of land for children to play in, wider paths for pushchairs etc and a focussed character. It has always been a pleasant place to live. Building large buildings with strong frontages and medium rise blocks will so alter the character of the area and housing that it will become very unpleasant to live here. Forestdale is known for it's beauty being centred in the middle of some beautiful woodland and spaces that were part of the original design to provide a safe haven for family living. It was built with Christian values in mind.

Change Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it does not include homes on smaller plots of land focussing instead on Selsdon Park Road, Gravel Hill, parts of Featherbed Lane and key corner plots. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
I strongly object to the areas listed being earmarked for 'intensification' as this will dramatically change the character of these areas.

Mr Laurie King Forestdale

I have lived on Forestdale for over 20 years and it has become a mature and well structured area of housing that is completely conducive to its local environment and surrounding areas. To remove some of the current housing and replace with medium to large story flats is neither in keeping nor is required in this area and would change the character beyond recognition. I object to this proposal.

I am also concerned about Forestdale being identified for a gradual change of the area’s local character (Policy DM31.4, page 129 Local Plan) by allowing new development to be significantly larger than that in existence and which may be associated with merging smaller properties eg gradually introducing larger, taller buildings. The idea that the existing terraced housing and small blocks of flats should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable and would change the character of the area. This area has already changed over the years with more and more cars and not enough parking spaces – the recent introduction of double-decker buses to replace the single decker ones has also been a retrograde step already as the poor drivers find it very difficult to get between the rows of parked cars.

4 focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Davonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

Mr Robert Watson

I live in Crofters Mead, Forestdale and cannot see any benefits to the areas mentioned in the above proposals. I am sure it would be better to refurbish existing properties in the area concerned and create more green areas for residents and their children to enjoy. To create more sensible car parking areas people will buy cars regardless of not having a parking space and simply park in and existing space thus creating a problem for somebody else. Transport for London have already created a problem by the introduction of double yellow lines which in some areas are not required. Why anybody would want to create a traveller camp at Pear Tree Farm is beyond me surely a nice new housing complex would be more suitable.

Forestdale is a very nice place to live and I cannot see any improvement to the area in your proposals. I understand that these proposals are inappropriate and unacceptable these are my views on the matter.

Equally concerning, the draft Plan identifies Forestdale as a location where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). “New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds; ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. I am also worried about the plan stating it wants to change the areas local character. I am not exactly sure what this means but my understanding is that it is building bigger blocks of flats. Having lived in this quiet, safe area for over 30 years I find this very worrying. There is no space to put these extra larger buildings and any building would change the area adversely. If more people move into the area there will need to be more infrastructure needed. Things such as schools, doctors, dentists, shops and improved travel infrastructure. The councils intention seems to be to try and discourage the use of cars. Many older people need their own transport as they cannot use public transport and carry say food shopping. Most people will have a car even if they do not use it all the time, myself included. The parking situation in this area is dire as it is with the council removing car parking spaces the whole time. All these changes that you are proposing will be detrimental to the area and will not encourage people to move to the area.

The idea that the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of the area and I will be objecting to it very strongly.

To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it does not include homes on smaller plots of land focusing instead on Selsdon Park Road, Gravel Hill, parts of Featherbed Lane and key corner plots. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and its support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
Existing semi-detached houses should not be demolished in favour of soulless blocks of flats. People require houses to live in, especially bringing up families. Please stick to sensible developments and do not destroy Croydon with horrendous buildings. We are long-term residents and care very much about the area in which we live.

Forestdale

The draft Local Plan identifies Forestdale as a location where the Council intends to implement a policy of focussed intensification associated with the gradual change of the area’s local character. This apparently means that new developments in the area would be significantly larger than those in the existing street scene with medium-rise blocks and large buildings increasingly predominant in the area. This is objectionable because, to the detriment of existing residents, it would totally change the friendly cul-de-sac defined, local neighbourhood character of the largely terraced housing in Forestdale.

Mr D Lane Object Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennets Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

I am writing to express my concerns. About 20 years ago I decided to move from Woodpecker Mount to Brockscoft on Forestdale. My decision was made because Brockscoft is a well managed estate with plenty of green spaces. When I brought the house, took on board that strict covenants were in place and that a management charge was in required to cover the cost of our lighting, gardening, upkeep of the roads and other maintenance issues. From time to time we have had problems from ill disciplined youths on quad bikes and misbehaving in the adjoining playground but I feel making areas of Forestdale more dense would make the security problem of this quiet part of the estate worse.

I suggest that changing the format of the Forestdale estate be dropped. Any further development of denser housing would make the current congestion on the roads at peak times even worse than it is at present. The proposed reduction in parking spaces is not a good idea as parking is already at a premium and the suggestion that more people would not have a private vehicle is quite ridiculous. Parking problems are made worse due to so many workers having to park their vans on the estate. Safety on Forestdale roads is bad enough at present. We have already had one fatality on Linton Glade which resulted in the parking spaces in the area being removed.

Forestdale

I have been made aware that Croydon Council has recently published proposals which, if approved and implemented, will fundamentally alter the existing housing density and adversely change the appearance of my local area, Forestdale. Specifically, if approved, it is proposed that existing terraced housing and small blocks of flats will be replaced by medium sized blocks of flats perhaps 8, 10 or 15 storeys high (Policy DM31.4 Croydon Local Plan - focused intensification associated with gradual changes of area’s local character). My objection is based on my experience of living in Forestdale since 26th June 2015 when I purchased my property in Markfield. I am shocked that this planning proposal was not found in my solicitors searches prior to purchase. The area is popular with all ages as the existing area is relatively small and narrow and surrounded by woods and a bird sanctuary. My neighbour in Markfield has lived in her property since it was built in the 1970’s and is proud of her home, as I am sure there are many more in Forestdale. Since moving here there is a real community spirit. The only negativity is the parking as many home owners who initially moved here and had small children, have now young adults who drive and have vehicle. I moved to this area with my son his partner and their three year old son as it has good schools and was ideal with the woods and nature surroundings. So I urge you as a new resident to this community to reject this planning application and the prospect of destroying a community and my home.

As a Forestdale resident I am somewhat at a loss as to how the Council can influence the intensity of development on a privately owned estate, unless they are going to sell off Forestdale Primary School’s playground, or the triangle down by Featherbed Lane. How can you support the ‘merging of smaller properties’, or the knocking down of blocks of flats to build taller ones, when those properties are owner occupied?

RE: OBJECTION TO DE-DESIGNATION GREEN BELT ; SHIRLEY, NEW ADDINGTON,
FOREST HILL

We have lived in the Borough of Croydon for 30 years and value its vibrancy and diversity.

As Croydon ratepayers we object to the de-designation of Metropolitan Open Land generally, especially land detailed above, which will change forever Croydon's character.

We would ask you to encourage policies/development to:

1. Build new housing on brown field sites by all means AND preserve invaluable green space for the benefit of the community of Croydon;
2. Protect green belt land and preserve the green corridors we desperately vital for wildlife and biodiversity;
3. Amend the tall buildings policy and keep the tall building zone where it is suited in the centre of town;
4. Utilise brownfield sites for new low-level housing only where it can be developed alongside new GP surgeries, schools and improved public transport;

"Nowadays people know the price of everything and the value of nothing".
Green Belt is vital and precious.
Once lost for future generations and will not be replaced by developers.

We understand the need for housing, schools, hospitals and infrastructure.
Are the Developers investing these also alongside their building investments?

Please protect our few remaining green spaces on the borough map, by making better use of brown field sites.

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it does not include homes on smaller plots of land focussing instead on Selson Park Road, Gravel Hill, parts of Featherbed Lane and key corner plots. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria
referring to infrastructure
availability and accessibility;
deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on

This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 – 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification. The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: Selsdon, page 165. Equally concerning is that the draft Plan identifies Forestdale as a location where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means: "New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds’, ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas" (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The idea that the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable and would completely change the character of the area and I object to it most strongly.

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it does not include homes on smaller plots of land focussing instead on Selsdon Park Road, Gravel Hill, parts of Featherbed Lane and key corner plots. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. I write to you having received this email from Gavin Barwell MP, the tone of which I find inflammatory and discriminatory towards the Gypsy and Traveller communities, and smacks of “not in my backyard”.

I write as a resident of Addiscombe who recognises the huge problem of lack of affordable housing to buy and to rent in London promulgated by this Conservative government and the previous coalition government.

I fully support Croydon Council’s proposals.

I have considered details of the proposed Croydon Local Plan and have the following objections on the basis that they will:

detract from the local areas,

dramatically change the local areas,

have a significant adverse effect on an already overloaded infrastructure, including roads, public transport, public open space, environment and emergency, health and support services.

3. I object to the proposed replacement of low rise, terraced, semi-detached, and detached properties with medium and high rise properties in the Shirley area, Addington and Forestdale area, New Addington area, Addiscombe and East Croydon area.

4. I object to the proposed increased building capacity and density in the Shirley area, Addington and Forestdale area, New Addington area, Addiscombe and East Croydon area.

The idea of knocking down semi-detached houses and replacing with medium-rise blocks is totally unacceptable and I object to most strongly as it will completely destroy the area and character of Shirley, and Forestdale. Mr & Mrs Crane

We are life long residents of Croydon. With reference to the local plan we would like to object to the following proposals:
- DM40.1 - A skyscraper in Purley is total out of character for the town. Purley needs development but this is not the way to go about it.
- DM40.4 - Purley Pool - whilst not objecting to this area being redeveloped it should include a swimming pool. Our children learnt to swim here and it is an important facility to the community. For instance our Farther uses it regularly. It has been vital to maintaining his health and he would not be able to travel to more distant pools.
- DM44.2 - It is not appropriate to have a travellers site on green belt land. We believe it is important to protect all Green Belt land from development.
- DM31.4 - We are opposed to the intensification of these areas.

Ms R Lloyd Object The green belt land we have in our areas, in Shirley, Forestdale, Addington and beyond, is a precious resource that should be protected by the council, not placed under threat of development at your whim. Having these green spaces helps the environment, the ecosystem, biodiversity and nature, and local residents, who benefit in many ways from having such places nearby their homes.

Vivienne Murray has lived in Forestdale for 33 years - it has become over populated as it is - parking is a nightmare and Pixton Way is being used for parking, with vehicles parked right and left. At certain times vehicles speed on this road making it a hazard - more properties would be madness. I also don’t agree to changing the landscaped areas in and around Forestdale for more properties. People in flats don’t have gardens but Management companies keep the areas pleasant for us to enjoy.

The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries:
- Selsdon, page 165, Selsdon Park Road from Farnborough Avenue to the roundabout at Kent Gate Way and Holmbury Grove

The draft Plan identifying Forestdale as a location where the Council wants to see 'focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character’ under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The idea that the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of the area and greatly impact the current residents who chose to live here for the character of the area as it currently is.

I am grateful to the Council for consulting on the detailed policies and proposals that will make up the Croydon Local Plan. There is much in the document that I agree with, but some of the proposals would, in my opinion, change the character of parts of Croydon very much for the worse. I hope you will forgive me if I focus on these areas of contention. I am therefore writing to formally object to:

4. focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgmount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Benneffs Way and Davonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too;

I understand the need for regeneration, new housing and for spaces for travellers to rest. However I am deeply concerned as to your current plans in using Croydon’s fabulous green spaces and encroaching on and changing existing, thriving communities with vague plans for developments. We have brownfield sites that could be used for these purposes as well as alternative proposals. I am writing to strongly object to: 1. The focused intensification with gradual change of area’s local character under policy DM31.4 of Forestdale and Policy DM2 development of garden land. Forestdale is currently a family estate with young couples and families living in small maisonettes and family houses. Why on earth would we want to ‘alter over time, have ‘large buildings with strong frontage’s and ‘development on garden land’ in this wonderful green estate with protected trees? The centre of Croydon has fantastic new developments of some such homes which are urban living for those who desire it- you do not need to encroach on family housing and gardens to do this. It would completely change the character of the homes and family areas where children still play safely outside to have “Medium Rise blocks with associated grounds.” The Policy DM2 clearly assumes that garden land will not be developed and therefore the arguments that it will ‘complement the local character’ to lose such small gardens as they are in small terraced houses has no valid argument on the estate as it stands and they are inappropriate and weak. There is absolutely no detail as to how ‘biodiversity’ is to protected- vague and weak again.

Mr John Mathers

Furthermore, we totally object to the Council’s plan to Intensify Forestdale. Replacing the terraced houses and small flats with much larger properties will completely ruin the lovely nature of Forestdale and this is the reason so many Families enjoy living here. It is unbelievable that Councils always want to ruin nice places to live and create monstrosities. We live near open spaces and Nature reserves and doing this will not Compliment the Local Character of the area but ruin it, and doing this will definitely not ensure that biodiversity is protected! Both of these are the criteria for permitting new dwellings so these plans need to be scrapped NOW.

I am writing to express concern about the following proposals for Forestdale which have been brought to my attention namely:

New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds’, ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas” (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

As a long term resident of Forestdale and Chair of Sorrel Bank Management Company, I am opposed to the idea that the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale should be replaced by medium-rise blocks in time. This would completely change the character of the area.

In Policy DM31.4 (p126) some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for intensification which is a euphemism for more building. This will change the character of those areas and should be opposed.

Intensification in Onslow Gardens and surrounding roads would be contrary to the desire expressed in Strategic Policies p186 to retain and protect the view of All Saints Church from Limpfield Road. On this page the view is listed as being ‘close to Wentworth Way’, whereas in the map on p103 of the CLP Strategic Policies document the viewpoint is shown as being next to Hilton Way. In both cases any intensification of the roads surrounding All Saints would inevitably block the view. The appendix to this letter shows the current state of development of these residential roads and the view from both referenced locations.

We have lived in Sanderstead for over 40 years, and have thoroughly enjoyed the areas to the south of Croydon being unspoilt. In our view these ill conceived proposals will change this area beyond recognition and take away that for which it is well known and valued. Please rethink, and do not continue with the proposed policies set out below and which can be found in your Local Plan:

The loss of Local Area of Special Character protection for many roads such as West Hill, Campden and Spencer Roads, the Woodcote Estate and Hartley Farm will open these roads up to inappropriate development. Roads such as Oakwood Avenue in Purley should also be included as new Local Heritage Areas. In Policy DM31.4 (p.126) some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for "intensification" – which is a euphemism for more building. This will change the character of those areas beyond all recognition and I am strongly opposed to any of it.

Setting of the Sanderstead Local Centre

We are life long residents of Croydon. With reference to the local plan we would like to object to the following proposals:
• DM40.1 - A skyscraper in Purley is totally out of character for the town. Purley needs development but this is not the way to go about it.
• DM40.4 - Purley Pool - whilst not objecting to this area being redeveloped it should include a swimming pool. Our children learnt to swim here and it is an important facility to the community. For instance our Farther uses it regularly. It has been vital to maintaining his health and he would not be able to travel to more distant pools.
• DM44.2 - It is not appropriate to have a travellers site on green belt land. We believe it is important to protect all Green Belt land from development.
• DM31.4 - We are opposed to the intensification of these areas.

Below is a list of our objections:

4. Policy DM 31.4 - Intensification of development in South Croydon, Kenley, Purley, Sanderstead - more new developments on these sites will change character of the areas and put local communities at risk.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where there may be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two-storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: Sanderstead, page 164, Limpfield Road from the roundabout at Sanderstead Hill to Riding Hill and Cranleigh Close; Change Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. 4 focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

Focusing on 2 areas for "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character". Replacing smaller buildings with larger ones. This would completely change the character of the area and I object.

We are happy for the Council to replace under-used garages with much-needed homes, but we are objecting to building on precious open space. Finally, the draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see “focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character” under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means: “New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds’, ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas” (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The two areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre (the area around Shirley Library) (page 166, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The idea that the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of Shirley and we are objecting to it.

The two areas around Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley Library which have been targeted are roads of semi-detached houses where families have lived for years. It is completely unacceptable that family houses should be replaced by medium-rise blocks of flats. The character of the area would change completely and would mean neighbours in conflict with each other.

I object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library and the area around the Shirley Road/Shirley Shopping Parade including the Green Triangle and the Trinity School educational open space. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; in this location would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations.
1. In the case of the Shirley Road/Shirley Park parade shops, the area behind the shopping parade is a site of Nature Conservation Importance (locally called the Green Triangle) which should be preserved for future generations and the area of Educational Open Space for future Trinity School children.
2. If High density residential accommodation were provided there would be insufficient area for communal open space allocation.
3. The local side road network and width could not cope with high residential density proposals and the likely car ownership and on street parking.
4. If those proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.

For the reasons given above:
1. I do not think that the preferred approach is the most appropriate for Croydon to help us meet our Strategic Objectives set out in Section 3.
2. The preferred approach is deliverable, but not acceptable.
3. I do not think the preferred approach enables sustainable development, because it will compromise the ability to meet the needs of future generations.
4. If High density residential accommodation were provided there would be insufficient area for communal open space allocation.
5. The local road network and width could not cope with high residential density proposal and the likely car ownership and on street parking.
6. If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.

I strongly object to many of the proposed developments within the Shirley area. I believe that allowing low rise developments around Shirley library will alter the balance of properties in that area, which are mainly detached and semi-detached. People have moved to this 'sought after area' precisely because of its current character. I also object to the intensive developments proposed on the Metropolitan open land around Shirley Oaks. We need open land to reduce carbon emissions, for wildlife and for our own well-being. Both of the above developments would put a huge strain on the services in the area, schools, doctors, busses and the already congested road system. I urge you not to progress with these proposals.

I also think that the two proposed travellers site in Shirley are inappropriate as they would be on Green Belt land, which is against your own policy and would be a blight on one of the few areas that are beautiful and wildlife friendly within Croydon. I am always defending Croydon to those that mock it, saying that we have some lovely open spaces in which to walk and enjoy the diversity of nature. They only see the high rise blocks and litter. If these proposals go ahead, Croydon will have nothing left to commend itself.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries:

- Change Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Shopping Parade), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. As a resident at 70 West Way, Shirley, I see your proposed allowance to develop the local roads around the Shirley shopping precinct to allow the removal of houses to build larger dwellings IE flats as to tally in appropriate and not in keeping with the local area. Also it will be destroying large areas of green land and gardens that are home to wild life.</td>

DM31 (Table 11.2) Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

I object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; Large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; in this location would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations. The preferred option is deliverable but not acceptable and does not enable sustainable development as it will comprise the ability to meet the needs of future generations.

Objections to the proposed Intensification of Shirley Local Centre and Shirley Shopping Parade as outlined in table 11.2 on page 129 of Croydon Local Plan Detailed Proposals and Policies and extensive development in other areas of Shirley that are affected by road congestion and poor PTAL scores.

Lack of Communication re Consultation

Many residents in the Shirley area only learnt about Croydon Council’s proposed local plan first through an email sent out by Gavin Barwell, MP and secondly through documents he delivered to each property.

There were no notices put up on lamp posts, in the library or on public noticeboards in Shirley’s main shopping parade or any prominent place in the Shirley Local Centre.

The consultation period commenced on 5 November but the three large books containing the Croydon Plan and associated consultation documents were only delivered to Shirley Library on 11 December – after the consultation meeting had taken place and one week before the closing date of 18 December.

The Consultation meeting that covered the Shirley area was not held in Shirley (even though there are many suitable venues there – particularly Shirley Library or the Parish Hall) but miles away in Selsdon so that fewer people could attend.

For this reason Croydon Council, with regard to the transparency it claims for itself, should extend the closing date so that all residents can have a say and that this time the plans and proposals be widely advertised.

Shirley Road Area

I am writing to object to the proposals to intensify development in many roads around this centre for the following reasons:

- Poor transport accessibility

The Shirley character assessment notes that Shirley has some of the poorest public transport links in the borough. There is no railway or tram station in the built up area. The nearest railway station is 1½ miles away.

The bulk of the proposed intensification area has a PTAL score of only 2, some parts as low as 1a.
The A232 Wickham Road leads into the A215 at the Methodist Church, this has been identified as one of the most congested roads in Europe (Source: Daily Telegraph).

The council already knows there are existing traffic problems in Shirley even before any houses are built - see page 253 of transport strategy document which notes high car dependency due to poor public transport and peak time congestion. https://www.croydon.gov.uk/sites/default/files/...localcentres.pdf

There is no evidence (beyond a mere pious hope in section 7.76 that people will use public transport more) that the council has considered the effect of the intensification of development on local transport networks. This is contrary to London Plan policy 6.3 which states assessments must be undertaken, and in particular the cumulative effects of development considered. Paragraph D of the policy contains the presumption that development should be directed to areas with good transport links. See London Plan paragraph 8.15 “In practical terms, this means ensuring that new developments that will give rise to significant numbers of new trips should be located either where there is already good public transport accessibility with capacity adequate to support the additional demand or where there is a realistic prospect of additional accessibility or capacity being provided in time to meet the new demand.”

- Increased car usage

This is further reflected in modes of... travel to work. Only about 10% of people who don’t work at home work in Central Croydon, the rest have to work further afield.

54% of all journeys to work from Shirley are by motor. Even in the narrow corridor along the A232 there are as many car journeys as bus/tram. Outside of there it is no contest. Even in the remainder of Croydon itself, these three times as many journeys are made by car as by tram/bus/train. 70% of journeys to work in the second placed borough of Bromley are by car.

- Sustainability

National Planning Policy Framework (page 6) has a presumption against development in locations that are non-sustainable, which includes where environmental damage such as increasing greenhouse gases would result (‘actively manage patterns of... growth to make the fullest possible use of public transport, walking and cycling, and focus significant development in locations which are or can be made sustainable). The poor transport links in Shirley is reflected in a significantly higher level of car ownership than the borough as a whole.

Individual applicants have to carry out transport assessments, why has the council not done the same for the areas they propose to designate as suitable for development?

- Council has underestimated the amount of empty houses coming forward

We note that the council assume only 190 empty houses will be reoccupied during the period 2016-36. However this appears to be at variance London Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment (2009). In that Croydon stated that in the period 2011-2021 they would return 91 long term vacant properties per year to housing, plus a further 20 per annum for non-self contained units. This means that you have already stated that the borough will gain 555 homes this way in the period 2016-21, why then is a figure of 190 given for empty homes only for the whole period 2016-36? Omitting non-self contained units conflicts with the GLA SHLAA 2009.

The 2011 census Croydon had 3,814 empty properties, and as well as that there were over 1,500 commercial sites in 2010 that were vacant, many would have flats over shops, or would be capable of conversion to residential.

- Effect on local character

Sections 11.140 and 11.141 of the Detailed Policies document emphasises the pleasing uniformity of Shirley with its predominately 1930s housing in planned estates. New buildings have tended to be designed to fit into the existing streetscape.

You have stated in your report to Cabinet that development should only complement and enhance character.

This conflicts with your reasons given in paragraph 3.46 of the Report to Cabinet of 21 September 2016 (select 7.2 Main Report then find pages 15-16). Then this is used to argue Shirley has no dominant character and can therefore be the host for more intensive development. This is clearly not the case with one exception the shopping centre is consonant with the surrounding architecture, that of 1930s suburbia, creating a homogeneous whole. In no sense can intensified development with dense house building up to 4 stories high in suburban side roads be in keeping with the inter-war single and two storey houses with gardens.

- Inability of development to occur

We have ordered a number of registers for properties in the proposed expanded Shirley Centre and it appears that large swathes are incapable of intensified development because they contain restrictive covenants which limit the number of houses to 1 per plot.

We note you have rejected a number of proposed development sites because of the unlikelihood that they can be developed (e.g. A181 - 45 to 81 Church Street, A469 - 234 The Glades, A476 - 1 to 19 Craven Road and many others). We would particularly refer you to A354 (118-148 Tennison Road) which was rejected as a site because of replacing the existing function. This is precisely the situation here.

Detrimental effect on residents of merging two smaller properties re intensification

On page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies and Proposals, it is explained that intensification involving building of medium rise blocks of flats (up to 4 storeys) could be achieved by merging smaller properties.

As noted on page 84 of Croydon Local Plan Policies and Proposals appendix 4, there is a ‘higher than average proportion of older people’ living in Shirley. And some of these may be quite vulnerable.

If a developer succeeds in buying up a semi-detached property, which could potentially be used for building flats on, what pressures could be brought to bear on an elderly owner of the adjoining semi if he or she refuses to sell? ‘What sort of tenant could the developer obtain that might change the mind of the elderly owner?’ This policy has the potential to result in harassment and substantial distress. It is troubling that the Council could propose such an approach.
Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this, this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Shopping Parade), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

Strongly object to the plans for the Shirley Library area. Wickham Road is already overloaded with traffic. Have you thought about schools, doctors and cars with more people living here. Where are existing residents supposed to go?

With the threat of redevelopment hanging over us the value of our property will significantly diminish.

Please re-think your proposals and put our minds at ease soon.

| 2683/01001/DM31 | Mr & Mrs Iles | Setting of the Shirley Local Centre | How anyone in their right mind can think of putting medium-rise blocks around the Shirley Library area needs to think again. This idea will not only completely change the essential character, it will obviously mean the removal of the library, the doctors surgery, and by the sound of it, the shopping parade as well. The area has many hundreds of elderly people, where are they to go? Will they be re-housed at enormous cost to the tax paying people of Croydon, or put into the new medium-rise blocks? The idea is totally unacceptable. | Change | Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. As a local affected resident, I would like to register my comments and objection to the proposals as documented in the Croydon Local Plans CLP1.1 and CLP2.

I object to the Proposed Policy DM31.4 Focussed Intensification Associated with Gradual Change of the Local Area around Shirley Local Centre, Including Wickham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue.

I object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; Large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; in this location would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations.

For the reasons given above:
1. I do not think that the preferred approach is the most appropriate for Croydon to help us meet our Strategic Objectives set out in Section 3.
2. The preferred approach is deliverable, but not acceptable.
3. I do not think the preferred approach enables sustainable development, because it will compromise the ability to meet the needs of future generations.
4. If High density residential accommodation were provided they would be insufficient area for communal open space allocation.
5. The local road network and Width could not cope with high residential density proposal and the likely car ownership and on street parking.
6. If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.
7. I recommend that consultation documents of such importance are given much wider publicity.

I do not object to the development plans for the Shirley Road Shopping Parade provided that any expansion is along the A232 and does not affect the existing residential areas.

It was with immense shock that I was informed of Council plans for Shirley. We already have Shrublands in our area and the very large New Addington housing on our doorstep. Over the last few years in fit back gardens and spare land has been used to building both private and public housing in a sensible, to fit in with the area way. Now we see that you are looking at plans to demolish many roads such as Wickham Avenue, Finshy, Ridgemount, West Way Gardens and part of Hartland way thus destroying well built houses which over the years have had million of pounds spent on them by caring owners. How can you justify destroying much sort after property to erect blocks of flats which will resemble Shrublands Council Estate. As far as I can see there are no proposals for more schools, the present ones are over suberbuted. No more doctors surgery and we have Dr Nick Ford's Surgery and not a children's nursery.

Whoever stands to gain by these proposed plans needs to heed the strong objections that will arise unless the area is changed to New Addington or similar unbuilt-on land.

Object DM31 (Table 11.2) Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

I am writing regarding the Council's plans for a massive redevelopment in the Shirley Area. More houses mean more traffic on our already crowded roads. I no longer go into Croydon because of the journey times. How long would it be before the Council considered bringing in a congestion charge. When you build all these properties do you consider the local amenities and the effect that more people would have on these. Where are the school places for all of these children? Regarding doctors. Unless it is an emergency I have to wait at least a week for an appointment. This waiting time can only increase if there are more patients. Is it the Council's policy to build over green belt land to the detriment of locals? I sincerely hope not. I think you need to seriously reconsider these plans.

Change Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Shopping Parade), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

The designation of these sites will put planning blight on all dwellings in Wickham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue Shirley until 2036. Intensification with high density accommodation could not be provided without changing the character of the area. It is very unlikely that current methods of retail shopping will continue to be competitive with the substantial growth of on-line provision and future development of on-line services and therefore it is questionable whether the proposed intensification of retail premises in the areas specified, will even be necessary. If the proposed gradual intensification is for high density residential accommodation of 3 or 4 storeys the residential density and number of families will increase; therefore car ownership per hectare will also increase. Even being near public transport, there is unlikely to be any way that the authorities could prevent car ownership and both Wickham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue are narrow roads as compared to other local roads. If the objective is to provide increased housing and residential density for the increased population, it would not be efficient to displace current residents who would need somewhere else to live with their families. The requirements for new dwellings are for three bedroom dwellings and most of the dwellings in Wickham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue are already 3 or more bedrooms having been extended at great expense by the owners. In addition, re-intensification of these streets would generate more traffic and as previously stated these two roads are very narrow compared to many roads in the area. To intensify the area would create traffic chaos unless the roads could be widened but that would require extensive major redevelopment of the area whereas the proposal is for slow gradual intensification - not a feasible strategy. If re-intensification were gradual, only small sections of the area would individually be re-developed in a piecemeal fashion and therefore there would not be any spare area for the allocation of communal open space for the occupants of the new high density flats or apartments as the footprints would consume most of the area used for intensification. It would be difficult to provide space in accordance with recommended retention of UDP RO12. For all the reasons stated above we request that Wickham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue are removed from areas recommended for intensification. i.e.

Wickham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue should be removed from the proposed areas suitable for intensification.

allowed for redevelopment for high density residential accommodation. Why should local residents suffer planning blight up to the year 2036 when the intensification would cause local congestion and loss and degradation of amenity? There is no proposal to increase school places or health provision in the locality which, according to previous policies, should be provided prior to any developments or re-developments.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

I am emailing to raise concerns over the council's proposals for Shirley, to replace buildings to provide medium-rise blocks. I am the Estate Manager at Peregrine Gardens, Shirley Croydon. This is a leasehold residential retirement estate, with 43 properties housing the over 60's, and is specifically mentioned within your proposals.

My residents have expressed concerns that they may be forced to sell their properties, as you will appreciate for an elderly population this is a worry.

We are managed by Anchor (the largest not for profit) organisation for care provision to the elderly, and provide a valuable resource for the older people in Shirley.

I would appreciate your assurances to pass on to my residents.

DM31 (Table 11.2) Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

The CPL identifies the Local Area around Shirley Local Centre, including Wickham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue as locations where the Council wants to see as stated on page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals: “Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character”. It goes on to describe what this means on page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals “New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds,’ ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas”.

The Shirley Local Centre and surrounding area comprises of well-maintained two-storey semi-detached houses, purchased by people with families, which also include grandparents. This neighbourhood is not one which can incorporate Medium-rise blocks without significantly having an adverse impact on its character. I therefore strongly object to such action.

I object to most of the proposals around Shirley as we are already over populated causing traffic hold ups and long queues even in the middle of the day to say nothing of the way Shirley is being spoilt and turned into a small town. The land around Hartland Way and Devonshire Way should only be used for either detached or semi-detached housing with gardens at least 150' long and no sheds or caravans. I object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached and detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library, West Way Gardens, Hartland Way, Wickham Rd, Devonshire Way, West Way, Verlayne Ave, Ridgemount Ave, Wickham Ave, and the area around the Shirley Road/Shirley Shopping Parade including the Green Triangle and the Trinity School educational open space. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; at these locations would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations. In the case of Shirley Local Centre the local side road network and width could not cope with high residential density proposal and the likely car ownership and on street parking. At present there are significant traffic delays at rush hour times on the Wickham Rd, Hartland Way, Devonshire Rd and West Way gardens and substantial parking by non-residents in area who access transport links. West Way gardens and Devonshire Way are reduced to single way traffic when vehicles are parked on both sides of the road. Any additional development would only increase this problem.

The type of home in the area lends itself to family oriented living, a move towards apartment type dwellings will impact upon the area character. If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.

The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. Policy DM31.4 sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. As this is a new designation it will need to be shown on the Policies Map. Details of each designation are shown below:

Place-specific development management policy Place Setting of the Shirley Local Centre Shirley Area of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade Shirley

I object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached and detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library, West Way Gardens, Hartland Way, Wickham Rd, Devonshire Way, West Way, Verdayne Ave, Ridgemount Ave, Wickham Ave, and the area around the Shirley Road/Shirley Shopping Parade including the Green Triangle and the Trinity School educational open space. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; at these locations would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations. In the case of Shirley Local Centre the local side road network and width could not cope with high residential density proposal and the likely car ownership and on street parking. At present there are significant traffic delays at rush hour times on the Wickham Rd, Hartland Way, Devonshire Rd and West Way and substantial parking by non-residents in area who access transport links. West Way gardens and Devonshire Way are reduced to single way traffic when vehicles are parked on both sides of the road. Any additional development would only increase this problem. The type of home in the area lends itself to family orientated living; a move towards apartment type dwellings will impact upon the area character. If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.

4 focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Objections to the proposed Intensification of Shirley Local Centre and Shirley Shopping Parade as outlined in table 11.2 on page 129 of Croydon Local Plan.

I would like to register my objection to the proposals and also to request that the consultation period is extended to allow residents and other interested parties the time to fully research the likely impact of the proposals. There appears to have been very little action on behalf of the council to ensure that those affected by these proposed plans were made aware of them, thus denying them of the opportunity of airing their opinion. It is a pity that the council felt itself unable to be transparent over this matter, perhaps anticipating how unpopular and ill advised the proposal is.

I object most strongly to the council planning to change the current face of the area around and including Shirley library. My understanding is that development should only complement and enhance character in an area and this cannot be achieved by building multi-occupancy buildings in and around this site. Contrary to statement, it is a characterful, and typical face of 20's and 30s builds and it is this that gives it's welcome open feel. As such, residents have a strong sense of community, care for the area and this in turn contributes to a positive sense of well being and belonging. This destabilising of an area by the proposals should not be underestimated in terms of drain on council services for policing, maintenance, cleansing if this were destroyed by intensified housing.

The amenities are a further positive of this part of Shirley, the library and Surgery being two most important parts of the whole and loss of these would impact strongly on the community.

In addition, public transport in the locality is inadequate, schools and doctors surgeries oversubscribed, and any remedy would result in even greater loss of land and character.

The council should be looking at derelict area and under used sites and areas where conditions for existing residents could be improved, rather than destroying well balanced change.

Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

I object to the focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre. Replacing the existing shopping parade and the surrounding semidetached housing with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of the Shirley area. The traffic congestion on Wickham Road, once limited to rush hour and school times is now so bad that even mid-morning traffic tails back from Shirley Library to the roundabout on Shirley Hills Road. The proposed development would exacerbate this to a dangerous level.

First, the draft Local Plan identifies two areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see “focused intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character” under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The document also explains what this means – that it is the aim of your team to materially change the character of the local area. Please could you explain why? Even if it was an area which had problems, this would be unacceptable. But the area you are talking about is a good residential district with good shops and a pleasant atmosphere. An area to which people move specifically because of its character, an area which people love.

Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

Policy DM31 (Table 11.2) 1. Policy DM31.4: Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character: Shirley Road shopping parade and Shirley local centre: (Whilst some limited intensification in the local centre along Wickham Road may be desirable to provide additional housing, the area around the local centre is far too widely drawn, including roads with quality family housing (Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Firsby Avenue, Hartland Way, Devonshire Way etc.) which should be maintained. Family housing with gardens needs to be retained for young families upsizing from flats to move to, who it is in the borough's interest to retain. Intensification would also lead to increased traffic which Wickham Road cannot support (rush hour delays are already very significant), especially since traffic is already expected to increase with the (admittedly desirable) Westfield development where visitors from Shirley, West Wickham and farther afield from A21/M25 will naturally use the A232 to reach Croydon.

ii) We strongly oppose intensification around the Shirley Road shopping parade. This is an architecturally strong parade which accordingly enjoys very low vacancy rates. In fact we strongly urge you to consider the 1930s parade for local listing, local heritage area or similar protection. Indeed 11.147 states that "each of Shirley's shopping centres has a distinct character which should be enhanced and strengthened" and some form of protection is essential to secure this in the light of intensification proposals. (We would comment similarly in respect of the Sanderstead Local centre also listed under DM31.4) As with the area around the Shirley local centre, we object to the loss of family housing for the reasons already stated. In fact 11.142 notes that the features of Shirley's shopping areas "play a vital role in creating Shirley's sense of place" and yet, in apparent contradiction, the proposed focussed intensification as outlined would seriously undermine this sense of place.

As an aside and instead it would seem that areas in need of regeneration within the borough might be considered for focussed intensification and/or change of use to provide additional housing and where access to transport and other facilities is good. For example the area along Lower Addiscombe Road between Grant Road and Davidsen

The suggestion of developing medium-rise blocks in several residential roads surrounding Shirley would totally alter the character of the area and again brings with it more traffic and parking pressure to the surrounding streets.

Fourth, the draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means:

“New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds’, ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas” (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

The two areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre (the area around Shirley Library). The former is quite tightly drawn and I therefore don’t object to it, but the latter includes not just the Wickham Road itself but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Davonshire Way (page 166, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The idea that the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable – it would completely change the character of Shirley and I will be objecting to it very strongly.

Change Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Shopping Parade), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
The plan for the Shirley Road Shopping Parade & the Shirley local centre (page 129) actually states its intention to change the local character. So it will involve pressurising inhabitants of perfectly good houses to move out to allow demolition of their homes to replace them with multi-occupational blocks. It will not ‘complement the local character’ to remove houses and their gardens. London’s Strategic Housing Land Availability Assessment assumes that garden land WILL NOT BE DEVELOPED.

This is to object strongly to your ill-conceived proposals for high density dwellings on greenbelt parkland, on existing semi-detached housing areas, and gardens in the Shirley Oaks / Library regions. Also for travellers sites in the vicinity of Coombe farm. All as outlined in Gavin Barwell’s email.

Existing semi-detached houses should not be demolished in favour of soulless blocks of flats. People require houses to live in, especially bringing up families. Please stick to sensible developments and do not destroy Croydon with horrendous buildings. We are long-term residents and care very much about the area in which we live.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where there may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: Shirley, page 166, Shirley Road from Shirley Avenue to the BP Service Station and a further zone on Wickham Road from Verdayne Avenue to Cheston Avenue.

Mr D Lane Object Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennets Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

I am writing to object to the Council's proposed long term plans for certain parts of Croydon, particularly the area around Shirley Library, where I have lived for 30 years.

Apart from the obvious increase in traffic, to an already overburdened Wickham Road, we are starting to see the gradual erosion of traditional residential roads formed of classic semi or detached houses.

To cram more and more houses and flats into the designated areas would destroy their character and to build on existing green belt and back gardens would be completely inappropriate, as well as placing additional stress on local facilities and amenities.

I urge the Council to reconsider these proposals and adopt a more sensitive agenda using only space and land capable of absorbing additional development.

Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

We would like to object to 1 aspect of the Croydon Plan that affects Shirley under policy DM31.4. We are really concerned that the proposals for more high density buildings around the Shirley Centre will have an impact on amenities in the area. What will happen to the local library? Shirley has very few public amenities. What will happen to the GP surgery at the bottom of Hartland Way? Shirley needs to be a living place and a space with public amenities. This is what makes a community. The idea that the largely semi detached houses in the residential roads around Shirley library should be replaced by medium rise blocks is not acceptable as it would simply change the character of Shirley.

I am writing to object to:

1. Focused intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character under Policy DM 31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre.

This policy is lacking in sufficient detail or thought, and actually perpetuates the poorly planned and thought out development that the Croydon Local Plan refers to, which it seeks to avoid.

The idea that largely semi-detached buildings in the residential roads surrounding Shirley library should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is entirely unsuitable, and wholly unacceptable.

This policy would completely change the character of Shirley for the worse (not better), with particular and direct effect on those residential streets encompassed by the suggested policy on the south side of Shirley that sit off/behind the main Wickham Road and library.

Adopting such a policy would also significantly devalue and detract from Shirley as a whole, and would have negative consequences in respect of the existing residential properties surrounding any such development that would remain. It is also likely to result in at least a perceived element of blight if pursued.

The policy does not indicate a respect for the local area and the existing character, which would be destroyed by adopting such a policy. It also shows little regard to the impacts on what is a settled and well established community, which would be ended fairly quickly. The policy also shows no regard for the local environs, as well as local and public services, traffic considerations, and existing infrastructure.

Objections to the proposed Intensification of Shirley Local Centre and Shirley Shopping Parade as outlined in table 11.2 on page 129 of Croydon Local Plan Detailed Proposals and Policies and extensive development in other areas of Shirley.

I wish to lodge my objection to the proposals on the following grounds:

- Insufficient Notice was given to allow adequate consideration to be given to the proposals.
- The intensification of dwelling places in the area will have a negative impact, changing the nature and character of the area.
- The transport links in the area are inadequate to cope with a large increase in the population. The A232 Wickham Road is notoriously bad.

A proposal to build flats to replace two bungalows on the corner of Alton Road was turned down on the grounds that it would change the nature and character of the road. Alton Road consists of traditional family homes with gardens. Many similar roads referred to in the Shirley proposal would be affected in the same way.

You only have to look at Pampisford Road in Croydon to see how such developments change the nature and character of a road.
Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where there may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: Shirley, page 166, Shirley Road from Shirley Avenue to the BP Service Station and a further zone on Wickham Road from Verdayne Avenue to Cheston Avenue;

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Shopping Parade), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. Mr K George

I am unaware that I have missed public meetings or been sent details of these plans as it affects my local area. I think that were you to have had a local referendum as I think you should have done, these proposals would receive practically zero support except possibly by those who stand to gain from it.

My wife and I are longstanding Shirley residents. While I understand the need for more housing, the Croydon plan as it affects Shirley seems extreme in extent and its likely impact on Shirley.

I am especially concerned with policy DM31.4 and the proposed focused intensification of the Shirley Road Shopping parade and Shirley local centre which is tantamount to the destruction of Shirley as it exists and its replacement by new developments of unknown nature. Apart from the unknown endpoint it is clear that the impact in terms of inconvenience and disruption to local residents would occur over many years during this redevelopment for no benefit to existing residents. It is also not evident why that part of Shirley as opposed to any other reasonably pleasant suburban area in Croydon should have been chosen for 'intensification'.

Finally, the draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means:

“New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated ground’ , ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas” (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

First, the draft Local Plan identifies two areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see “focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character” under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). Happily the document also explains what this means. Unhappily, it appears to mean exactly what it says – that it is the aim of your team to materially change the character of the local area. If it was an area which had problems, which needed to be helped up, which was suffering unduly from the privations of the tight financial climate then perhaps, perhaps, it would be understandable, if still unacceptable. But the area you are talking about is none of those things – it is a nice residential district with nice shops and a pleasant atmosphere. An area to which people move specifically because of its character, and area which people love.

I am concerned that I cannot find further information regarding the development at Shirley Library. detract from the local areas, dramatically change the character of local areas,

have a significant adverse effect on an already overloaded infrastructure, including roads, public transport, public open space, environment and emergency, health and support services.

The roads within the identified area are predominantly semi-detached properties on small/medium plots and terraced properties on small/medium size plots. In another part of the policy, the Council states that 3-bed properties are predominantly required. DM38.1c states “complement the existing predominant building heights of 2 storeys up to a maximum of 4 storeys”. I do not believe that this is possible to provide when you also need to add the associated grounds and required parking without totally changing the character of Shirley. The Council also states that this is a busy traffic area (consolidated borough character appraisal - Shirley/movement points 4 & 5) also DM18.1 states “the Council also ensure the provision of community facilities”. Both the Shirley Library and Hartland Surgery are within this area. I strongly object to this proposal and eagerly await the Council’s response.

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Shopping Parade), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. I have been a Shirley Resident since 1966 and am aware of how the majority of Shirley residents feel about where they live. Ref. DM 31.4. Areas around Shirley Library. It is understood that you intend to replace semi detached houses with medium rise flats!! Who are these flats for? Does this mean compulsory purchase orders? Shirley is already densely populated and the traffic in Wickham Road is already over congested with regular traffic jams.

We are writing to you to voice our very real concerns and objections to your proposals to allow the development of up to four storeys along some of the Wickham Road, especially in the area around the library. Also your proposal for relaxing the rules with regard to allowing back-garden developments. We feel that these plans will totally alter the character of Shirley.

Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

We are life long residents of Croydon. With reference to the local plan we would like to object to the following proposals:

• DM40.1 - A skyscraper in Purley is total out of character for the town. Purley needs development but this is not the way to go about it.

• DM40.4 - Purley Pool - whilst not objecting to this area being redeveloped it should include a swimming pool. Our children learnt to swim here and it is an important facility to the community. For instance our Father uses it regularly. It has been vital to maintaining his health and he would not be able to travel to more distant pools.

• DM44.2 - It is not appropriate to have a travellers site on green belt land. We believe it is important to protect all Green Belt land from development.

• DM31.4 - We are opposed to the intensification of these areas.

I object to the gradual change of the area’s local character, the Council states it wants to see "focused intensification" by allowing properties significantly larger than the existing ones to be built in Shirley Local Centre and Shirley Road under policy DM31.4.

The draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means: New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: 'Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds', 'Large buildings with spacing' and 'Large buildings with strong frontages'. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas" (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The two areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre (the area around Shirley Library). The former is quite tightly drawn and I therefore don't object to it, but the latter includes not just the Wickham Road itself but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way (page 166, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where there may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: Shirley, page 166, Shirley Road from Shirley Avenue to the BP Service Station and a further zone on Wickham Road from Verdayne Avenue to Cheston Avenue;

Identification of two Shirley areas as suitable for "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of areas local character" under policy DM31.4

The areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley Local Centre. The roads around Shirley Library are largely semi-detached housing, where families have lived for many years. It is a settled community and it is completely unacceptable the family houses should be replaced by medium-sized blocks of flats, which would completely change the area's character and disrupt the existing community. This has personal relevance, as the proposals cover the road where I have lived for the past 32 years.

Change

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Shopping Parade), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
The local draft plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see “focused intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s character”. The two areas around Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley Library which have been targeted are roads of semi-detached houses where families have lived for years. It is a settled community and it is completely unacceptable that family houses should be replaced by medium-rise blocks of flats. The character of the area would change completely.

Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

The focussed intensification associated with the gradual change of area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre. The idea that new development located in these areas, including local residential roads, could be significantly larger than existing buildings of up to four storeys is totally out of keeping with the area and would fundamentally change the character of Shirley. Such a significant change is disrespectful to existing residents who have chosen to live, contribute and build a strong local community in an established residential suburban area.

As a local affected resident, I would like to register my comments and objection to the proposals as documented in the Croydon Local Plans CLP1.1 and CLP2

I object to the Proposed Policy DM31.4 Focussed Intensification Associated with Gradual Change of the Local Area around Shirley Local Centre, Including Wickham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue.

I object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; Large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; in this location would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations.

For the reasons given above:

1. I do not think that the preferred approach is the most appropriate for Croydon to help us meet our Strategic Objectives set out in Section 3.
2. The preferred approach is deliverable, but not acceptable.
3. I do not think the preferred approach enables sustainable development, because it will compromise the ability to meet the needs of future generations.
4. If high density residential accommodation were provided they would be insufficient for communal open space allocation.
5. The local road network and Width could not cope with high residential density proposal and the likely car ownership and on street parking.
6. If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.
7. I recommend that consultation documents of such importance are given much wider publicity.

I do not object to the development plans for the Shirley Road Shopping Parade provided that any expansion is along the A232 and does not affect the existing residential areas.

Object of Policy DM31 (Table 11.2) Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

I object to the focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

It is a private owned sheltered accommodation for the elderly. There is no way we can do without the shops in walking distance. If you pull them down the dust and dirt would be bad for all our health etc. More people put into this area would require more parking spaces, not less. The library is the hub of my life as I cannot go far at 83. Pulling down more houses would alter Shirley forever.

As a long term resident of Shirley, since 1969, I am appalled at your proposals for focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character. Although I and other local people appreciate the need for housing, surely it is part of your responsibility as a Council to respect the views of your residents and to conserve good local character, not to bulldoze it in favour of such inappropriate redevelopment? Shirley is recognised as a prime example of excellent inter-war development. It would seem our Council is determined to destroy this asset and replace it with anonymity.

Objection to the focussed Intensification - Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley Local Centre. This will totally change the character of the Shirley area and damage communities without consideration for what the people of those areas need. It will create an artificial town centre by removing groups of e.g. villages, a hallmark of Shirley.

As a local affected residents we would like to register our comments and objection to the proposals as documented in the Croydon Local Plans CLP1.1 and CLP2.

We object to the Proposed Policy DM31.4 Focussed Intensification Associated with Gradual Change of the Local Area around Shirley Local Centre, Including Wickham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue.

We object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; Large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; in this location would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations.

For the reasons given above:
1. I do not think that the preferred approach is the most appropriate for Croydon to help us meet our Strategic Objectives set out in Section 3. The preferred approach is deliverable, but not acceptable.
2. I do not think the preferred approach enables sustainable development, because it will compromise the ability to meet the needs of future generations.
3. If High density residential accommodation were provided there would be insufficient area for communal open space allocation.
4. If High density residential accommodation were provided there would be insufficient area for communal open space allocation.
5. The local road network and Width could not cope with high residential density proposal and the likely car ownership and on street parking.
6. If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.
7. I recommend that consultation documents of such importance are given much wider publicity.

I do not object to the development plans for the Shirley Road Shopping Parade provided that any expansion is along the A232 and does not affect the existing residential areas.

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. To achieve this designation will be amended so that it applies to the buildings along Wickham Road and Shirley Road (combining the area with that of Shirley Shopping Parade), key corner plots and excludes the majority of residential streets away from the main roads. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

Mrs Janet Baine

Object focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre. We do not need intensified build up of the local area; I was walking along the Wickham Road recently and was praying like mad that the Council would do something about the fumes because they are most unpleasant to inhale. When my parents moved from Camberwell to Shirley many years ago, it was in the fond hope that the prevailing atmosphere in Shirley would be a lot healthier than that found in Camberwell. Some hopes! Now the Labour council is just seeking to impose more fumes and a less healthy way of life upon us! I object!

Setting of the Shirley Local Centre

The focussed intensification associated with the gradual change of area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre. The idea that new development located in these areas, including local residential roads, could be significantly larger than existing buildings of up to four storeys is totally out of keeping with the area and would fundamentally change the character of Shirley. Such a significant change is disrespectful to existing residents who have chosen to live, contribute and build a strong local community in an established residential suburban area.

DM31.1
House extensions should not be allowed to extend up to property boundaries, because as mentioned above this can rapidly change the street scene by changing roads of semi-detached properties into roads of continuous terraced houses. It can also cause problems to existing wild life particularly in areas like Coulsdon.

No change
Gradual renewal of housing stock is led by individual developers. Policy 31.1 in conjunction with Policy 7.4 of the London Plan and Paragraph 58 of the National Planning Policy Framework will guide design solutions. Spacing between buildings is an integral component of many local character types and therefore will be protected in relevant areas. Detailed information about particular local character types is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages supporting the Croydon Local Plan.

Housing Renewal: We support the demolition of old life expired large properties and their replacement with a greater number of smaller houses, apartments and flats on the same site provided that this does not lead to overcrowding. We believe this is more desirable than turning large unsuitable properties into multiple occupation. We are opposed to the replacement of existing good quality property that is not life expired and still suitable for occupation as this can radically alter the existing street scene.

No change
Gradual renewal of housing stock is led by individual developers. Policy 31.1 in conjunction with Policy 7.4 of the London Plan and Paragraph 58 of the National Planning Policy Framework will guide design solutions. The principle of converting larger properties into smaller dwellings is supported by the plan due to relatively low impact of such transformations on existing character of the area.

5. “Intensification”
We are of course aware that there is pressure to build more housing but we believe that at this point in time this can for the most part only be done at the expense of the current living environment. Cramming ever more smaller houses or apartments into small plots of land with completely insufficient car parking facilities cannot be a vision for a good quality of life.

Surely it must be recognised that at some point the borough is effectively “saturated” and that further development will be very detrimental to the quality of life in the borough. We believe that this point has now pretty much been reached.

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. Policy 31.2 should be read in conjunction with Policy 7.4 of the London Plan and Paragraph 58 of the National Planning Policy Framework. The policy encourages the height of minimum three storeys to impose more efficient use of valuable land in the context of general shortage of developable plots. In case of existing housing stock, the predominant height of single family dwellings in the borough is two storeys plus pitched roof. Roof extensions are one of the most common ways residents increase their living space, by effectively adding one storey. The policy makes clear that such an increase in height would be acceptable, subject to design.

DM31.2 states that ‘The Council encourages the increase of height to 3 storeys of developments across the borough, subject to high quality design, other policies’ compliance and cumulative impact on community and transport infrastructure.’ It is not clear where the justification is for a 3 storey restriction. In Policy DM31.4 (page 126 – CLP2) some parts of Kenley, Purley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for "intensification" or in other words allow more building. This will change the character of these areas and we object. These areas should not be identified as being suitable for intensification.

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. Although some boundaries have been amended for specific areas of Focussed Intensification, the challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is still to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Croydon’s local and proposed neighbourhood centres have a linear layout and are at present only using a fraction of their land capacity. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
I appeal to you to fully document all of the proposed sites for “Intensification” (DM31.4) and explain why they have been selected when other areas (e.g. London Rd, Portland Rd, Lodge Lane & Parkway) have not been included. Where are the plans for the reconstruction of sites damaged in the Riots? For example fig 7.2 on page 88 of Preferred and Alternative Options and fig 7.12 on page 108 make no mention of the proposed areas of “Intensification” that were included on the display screens at public meetings.

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. Although some boundaries have been amended for specific areas of Focussed Intensification, the challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is still to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Croydon’s local and proposed neighbourhood centres have a linear layout and are at present only using a fraction of their land capacity. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. Addiscombe Residents Association

Object

We are aware of the difficulties the residents have had in the area between Canning Road and Cherry Orchard Road and Lower Addiscombe and Addiscombe Road. This area has been neglected in the past. The owners of the properties have been discouraged maintain their properties possibly because of uncertainty, waiting for the grand plans around East Croydon to materialise - this has been the case for more than 20 years. The area is predominantly small homes, semi detached and some detached. Same will happen in DM31.4 if it is approved and it should not be under any circumstances.

Object against approval of DM31.4 due to detrimental impact on surrounding smaller scale areas.

Object DM31.4

We are opposed to the replacement of existing good quality property that is not life expired and still suitable for occupation as this can radically alter the existing street scene.

Properties in good condition should not be replaced.

We support the demolition of old life expired large properties and their replacement with a greater number of smaller houses, apartments and flats on the same site provided that this does not lead to overcrowding. We believe this is more desirable than turning large unsuitable properties into multiple occupation.

Older larger properties should be demolished and replaced with a greater density of development.

I totally disagree to the following planning applications which would spoil the character of our local environment and threaten our green belt. I choose to live in an area that is peaceful and quiet and resent the changes that are being forced upon me. In the spirit of true democracy I wish to make clear my objection to the following developments –

Policy DM2 (p18); Policy DM40.1 (p165); Policy 40.4, Table 11.3, Site 30 (p168); Policy DM41.3, Table 11.14, Site 61 (p171); Policy DM44.2, Table 11.17, Site 61 (p179); Policy DM44.2, Table 11.17, Site 61 (p179); Policy DM44.2, Table 11.17, Site 61 (p179); Policy DM35, Table 11.8, Site 945 (p146); and Policy DM31.4 (p126).
Its treatment of areas in Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon should be treated with respect and not allowed to be crammed with more development. The character of these areas should be protected and not exploited.

I object to the focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgmount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

I am concerned about the proposals in DM31.4 regarding certain areas losing the current Local Area of Special Heritage status and not being reclassified as a Local Heritage Area. In meeting this increased housing target TfL would welcome further discussions with the council about how development could be intensified around current and future transport links and nodes, for example plans to expand and increase capacity of the tram network could provide an opportunity for higher density or potential change of use or changes to the mixture of uses. TfL would be pleased to discuss this further with the council.

The Council should explore how development could be intensified around current and future transport links and nodes.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

Specifically from a Kenley viewpoint I am concerned at DM31.4 in that I feel that there is a poor definition for the zone for focussed intensification. The definition of focussed intensification needs to be improved.

This will have a deleterious effect on the character of residential roads adjacent to Shirley Library due to the loss of Local Area of Special Character protection for many roads (West Hill, Campden & Spencer Road, the Woodcote Estate and Hartley Farm) leading to inappropriate development. Of concern is the earmarking of some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon for ‘Intensification’ i.e. more building. These areas should not lose their protection and Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon should not be identified as areas for intensification.

Blighting the area with focused intensification would not enhance the area.

Building low rise flats would be an echo of the 60s would destroy prime residential sites.

This is poor planning and would be a travesty for Shirley and there will be mass opposition.

The preferred approach is ill thought out and the Council should not just wade in and change things.

Development cannot be sustainable if the areas are changed for the worst and the more flats the more exploitation and overcrowding and misery for all involved.

what does Large buildings with strong frontages and spaces actually mean?

Shirley should not end up like Central Croydon and be an eyesore.

Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre;

To take away the semi-detached houses from these areas and put in medium height blocks of flats would take away the character of the local area which is the reason Shirley is a sought after area to live and would again, increase the volume of traffic in an area which is already congested in morning and afternoon rush hours and would put increased pressures on local schools and public transport.

I am aware that more affordable houses are needed but please reconsider these plans which will totally change the area in which we have chosen to live and definitely not for the better.

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. Although some boundaries have been amended for specific areas of Focussed Intensification, the challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is still to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Croydon’s local and proposed neighbourhood centres have a linear layout and are at present only using a fraction of their land capacity. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility, deliverability of growth based on local character. If high density residential accommodation were provided there would be insufficient area for communal open space allocation. The intensification would result in insufficient communal open space.

Object DM31.4: The local road network and width could not cope with the high residential density proposal and the likely car ownership and on-street parking. Higher density development should not be supported in this area due to the impact on the local road network.

If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4, until the year 2036. Higher density developments should not be permitted in these areas due to the impact on existing properties.

Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre;

To take away the semi-detached houses from these areas and put in medium height blocks of flats would take away the character of the local area which is the reason Shirley is a sought after area to live and would again, increase the volume of traffic in an area which is already congested in morning and afternoon rush hours and would put increased pressures on local schools and public transport.

The level of growth depends on existing local character. The capacity for natural evolution is dependent upon the local character typology. The new development should not adversely impact on the predominant character. I cannot understand how this statement is compatible with Note 11.16. Is the Council proposing that semi-detached houses in my area should be replaced by medium-rise blocks. Totally unacceptable!

Any development should be sympathetic to the existing area. Medium to high density developments would intrinsically change a well established residential area. As above, the impact on local transport would be unacceptable. Devonshire Way and Hartland Way are already used as a means to avoid Wickham Road and residents are often severely compromised, unable to leave their own driveways at peak times because of the heavy flow of traffic. This would impact way beyond the local area, causing further congestion at the Shirley Library traffic lights, leading to Elmers End, West Wickham and beyond.

Any development should be sympathetic to the existing area - medium to high density development would have unacceptable impact on the local character and local transport.

We are aware of the difficulties the residents have had in the area between Canning Road and Cherry Orchard Road and Lower Addiscombe and Addiscombe Road. This area has been neglected in the past. The owners of the properties have been discouraged to maintain their properties possibly because of uncertainty, waiting for the grand plans around East Croydon to materialise; this has been the case for more than 20 years. The area is predominantly small homes, semi-detached and some detached. Same will happen in DM31.4 if it is approved and it should not be under any circumstances.

The area should not be identified as being suitable for intensification.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification. The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries: Kenley and Old Coulsdon, page 163, Godstone Road, Hayes Lane up to Kenley Lane and Station Road; Sanderstead, page 164, Limpsfield Road from the roundabout at Sanderstead Hill to Riding Hill and Cranleigh Close; Selsdon, page 165, Selsdon Park Road from Farborough Avenue to the roundabout at Kent Gate Way and Hornbury Grove; Shirley, page 166, Shirley Road from Shirley Avenue to the BP Service Station and a further zone on Wickham Road from Verdayne Avenue to Cheston Avenue; South Croydon, page 167, Brighton Road from Napier Road to Kingsdown Avenue.

To comment properly on policy DM31.4 we need clarity in terms of its practical implications with respect to planning. One assumes it means more of the same, but the ‘scale’ can be increased. Logically, the scale here would mean a given building can occupy more of the available curtilage or potentially have 1 or 2 more floors. But is there more to this? What level of character change under DM31.4 is deemed acceptable?

In the absence of any clarity we ask that DM31.4 be removed from the Croydon Local Plan.

Policy DM31.4: why would our own council even seek to "change (an) area's local character?" This makes any particular area desirable - or otherwise! Indeed, the very reason my wife and I chose to move into Shirley was its historic ambience and village atmosphere, the shopping parade reflecting its admirable past. Our art-deco style library epitomises Shirley and what Shirley is. Change this and you will destroy the environment we chose to pay a premium for.

DM31.4 some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for “intensification” and specifically the loss of Local Area of Special Character protection for many roads such as West Hill, Campden and Spencer Roads, the Woodcote Estates and Hartley Farm will open these roads up to inappropriate development. Rather than a relaxation roads in Purley such as Oakwood Avenue and Selcroft Road should also be included as new Local Heritage Areas to prevent the change of character in these areas and erosion of green spaces.

This will result in the loss of character to areas which were designed to allow for street scenes with greenery and open areas and a semi rural feel. Its removal will result in more loss of character as so well demonstrated in Pampisford Road which in some 20 years has changed from detached and semi-detached early 20th century dwelling houses to mass over development of small bland design houses often of some 50 sq m to 60 sq m usable floor area and numerous block of flats.

In Policy DM31.4 (p126) some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for “intensification” – which is a euphemism for more building. This will change the character of those areas and should be opposed.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 - 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries:

- Shirley, page 166, Shirley Road from Shirley Avenue to the BP Service Station and a further zone on Wickham Road from Verdayne Avenue to Cheston Avenue;

The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Croydon’s local and proposed neighbourhood centres have a linear layout and are at present only using a fraction of their land capacity. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
Do you think that the preferred approach is the most appropriate for Croydon to help us meet our Strategic Objectives set out in Section 3? - No it remains to be seen if objections are taken into account. Do you think that the preferred approach is deliverable? - No the onus for this is on the council. Is it sustainable? See response below. Why are you changing the `Local Area of Special Character` protection to some areas of South Croydon? Do you plan to demolish all the properties in the area to facilitate less acceptable property building? The whole policy proposal suggests envy and destruction of the one area in Croydon which can claim to be a credit to the council in its pursuit of city status.

I am writing regarding the proposed redevelopment plans affecting Forestdale in South Croydon, which I understand are to be shortly debated by the Croydon Council. I am unclear exactly how much public consultation has been conducted beforehand in order to sound out residents concerns however if the impact is so far reaching then I believe it would only be right and proper that local residents’ views are kept paramount before any final decision is arrived at. The plans may well have a detrimental effect on the neighbourhood and negatively alter the character of the area.

Hartland Way is recognised locally as a rat run and with cars parked on the side of the road becomes congested at busy times of the day which would obviously be made much worse if there is an increase in housing. This road also suffers several burst water mains a year which adds to the traffic and parking problems. The Title Deeds of the properties targeted state that the site should not be used for any purpose other than a private dwelling or professional office. The proposals under this policy will completely change this area’s character which is not pleasing to local residents. The A215 from Camberwell to Shirley Road Croydon was named as having 9.5 miles of traffic congestion and delays.

I also object to the draft plan DM31.4. I live on Forestdale. It is already a crowded area with little room for car parking. If the Council intensify the density of the buildings the traffic problems will increase accordingly. Please use your head and let us keep one part of the borough as pleasant as possible.

In Policy DM31.4 (p.126) some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for “intensification” which is a euphemism for more building. This will change the character of those areas beyond all recognition and I am strongly opposed to any of it.

Facilities are already stretched across the borough, intensification in quite residential areas is not the answer and these areas should remain as they are.

I have to say No No No to any more loss of green spaces around Croydon.

In an already crowded and busy borough we need fields, open spaces, trees, gardens, parks and fresh air to be able to allow future generations to live, breathe and enjoy some freedom to relax, walk and enjoy nature, sunshine and space. Life is not just about having somewhere to live or work or go to school. Living in small flats and houses with little or no garden working in high rise blocks in a crowded town where little sun will even shine through the windows is not beneficial to the populations health and well being.

I am writing to object to the following: Policy DM31.4 re Forestdale (focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character)

Forestdale consists of mainly terraced houses and low blocks of flats and is already densely populated. To introduce, gradually or otherwise, medium rise blocks of flats or large buildings would not only change the character of the area in an unacceptable way but also put unbearable pressure on parking and local facilities.

I am a resident of Hartley Farm in Purley, and am very concerned that the removal of its classification of an area of special protection (as in other local areas) could lead to more buildings being accepted and thus losing the current proportion of houses to area of land which maintains the character and history of the original farm and Hartley area.

Fourth, and most important to me as I live in this part of Shirley, the draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations the Council wants to ruin. The Plan states - “New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds”, “Large buildings with spacing” and “Large buildings with strong frontages”. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas”.

The two areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre. This includes not just the Wickham Road itself, but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. There is already way too much traffic around these roads. I moved to Hartland Way specifically in Shirley as it was one of the quieter roads. Now its probably the busiest road. It used to only be busy in rush hour for literally, an hour, now from before 7am to gone 10am and again from 4.00pm to gone 7.00pm it has hundreds of cars cutting through. There are speed bumps on Hartland Way but these do nothing to slow the majority of drivers down. They seem to see it as an acceleration tool! There is one guy on a moped that stands on the pegs to get greater acceleration and must do in excess of 60mph. I have been thinking of starting a petition for years to get either the speed limit lowered, new speed bumps or even suggesting that the road is made one way. Something is needed, whatever reduces traffic the most. When I first moved in, children used to play on the pavements. Always supervised of course, but they did play. Now you never see a child. I purposely don’t let my cats out till gone 9.30am at the earliest in the hope the traffic has decreased somewhat. You can tell you are in Shirley by the house style, it’s a beautiful part of Croydon and South Shirley is the place to live. Ask any estate agent in the area. They are chomping at the bit to get your home if you live on any of the roads mentioned above. The idea that the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of Shirley plus add to the already hazardous traffic problem and I am objecting to it very Equally concerning, the draft Plan identifies Forestdale as a location where the Council wants to see "focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character" under Policy DM31.4. Focussed intensification associated with enhancement of area’s local character. Area identified as Shirley Local Centre around Shirley Library including Wilmsham Avenue and Ridgemount Avenue. DM43.1 states: ‘Within Shirley Local Centre, to retain the unique qualities development should...’ However, 11.16 states: ‘New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘medium-rise blocks with associated grounds’, ‘large buildings with spacing’ and ‘large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas’. The objectives of DM43.1 and 11.6 cannot be achieved together. The proposed developments in this location would be out of character, unacceptable and destroy the areas unique qualities which you say you wish to retain. How can medium or large 4 story high density blocks complement the existing buildings? They would be overpowered and would completely change the character of Shirley. The preferred approach is not acceptable. Future generations will not thank you for high residential density in this area where current infrastructure cannot cope. This proposal is unachievable, unsustainable and should be abandoned.

I AM AGAINST MORE INTENSIFICATION, WHICH IS ANOTHER NAME FOR HOUSE CRAMMING IN OUR BOROUGH. It will change the character of our district. It will put more cars on the road, take away our green spaces - our lungs - thus reducing the air quality. Put pressure on our hospitals and doctors.

I object to the proposal to change an area's local character by introducing medium-rise blocks amongst normal residential housing. Policy DM31.4.

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. Although some boundaries have been amended for specific areas of Focussed Intensification, the challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is still to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Croydon's local and proposed neighbourhood centres have a linear layout and are at present only using a fraction of their land capacity. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon's local and neighbourhood centres. I recently purchased number 39 crofters mead with my fiancé back in December 2014, after much deliberation as we were looking to start a family and invest our life savings in to a home. We chose Forestdale for its open spaces and quite neighbourhood, Low crime rates and pleasant surroundings, with largely professional neighbours. I'm extremely angry at the proposals for developments of large scale flats and a traveller sight. I'm extremely angry that Croydon council have not notified the residence of Forestdale aiming to get the development in through the back door. I have only been made aware of the proposal because members of our management team have notified us (8/12/2015) with the deadline being the 18th of December, giving me just 10 days to make this objection. I will also be writing to my MP, The Croydon Advertiser and fellow Forestdale residence. The house we bought was sold on information by the owner (A member of the estate management team) that the gardens were small due to the amount of open space of the surrounding areas. The proposed developments and traveller sight would greatly affect this (it’s my understanding that the traveller sight would effectively be at the bottom of my Garden). Changing the views and greatly impacting on the sense of privacy and claustrophobias. Had I known about this we wouldn’t have purchased the house. I also currently Pay an additional of £39 per month to the management team of our Estate for the upkeep of the natural surroundings and would like to keep it that way.

- The proposed developments would greatly infringe on my personal privacy.
- Would greatly affect area’s local character.
- The proposal would put a strain on local infrastructure, impact our school catchment, GP services and public transport. This is and was a key reason why we made the purchase. Croydon council is assuming without evidence based data that less cars would be used which is incorrect.
- Increase parking of residence cars and work vans that are already parallel parked in the surrounding areas of the proposed developments.
- Busier roads will lead to increase risks of injuries/death to children and animals and adults.
- The increased volumes of traffic on the all roads in the surrounding area (roads leading in and away from the area are already congested).
- The additional volume of people would lead to an increase in noise.

crime and litter (recent articles in newspapers have shown a significant drop in crime when travellers have been removed from their place of address. (Luke salkeld the daily mail June 25th 2009 reports removal of one traveller family reduced crime rate in county to a 20 year low) to name one.

The council acknowledges that the Pear tree farm and cottage is green belt land Policy E of planning policy for traveller sights, published by the government in August says very clearly ""Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the green belt are an inappropriate development. Their fore Croydon council is in breach of that policy. If the council requires an immoral traveller sight then it should look at expansion of existing sights like off the Purley way.
The loss of Local Area of Special Character protection for many areas is a step backward for preserving the character of the area. More housing is of course a requirement the council is obliged to provide. Intensification at the expense of amenity for local residence is not the answer. I implore the council to think again about over crowding Kenley as it is already verging on the ridiculous. The area is already overcrowded and under resourced as it is. Recycling areas near Purley station have become flats already. The current recycling scheme with fortnightly collections is a shambles that causes more litter on the street than seems to end up in the collection vehicle. This is the tip of the iceberg and the area will only degenerate further with more intensification.

I am writing to object: Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of the area's local character under Policy DM31.4 of Forestdale. Forestdale is a mature area of low density housing which backs onto several green areas, and to transplant large buildings and medium rise blocks into this would completely change the character of the area. I understand that this is the intention, but please can you explain why you believe that it would be improved by converting it from an community of small terraces and low rise flats to an estate of 'medium rise blocks' and 'large buildings with strong frontages'?

Where intensification of existing land use is to occur, I would argue that strong and specific regulations be adopted regarding the size and in particular the height of the replacement structures. What does 'medium height' mean?

I object to the focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgmount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

In Policy DM31.4 (p126) some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for "intensification". As mentioned earlier, this area of Croydon is at the start of a less intensively populated and more green area, the graduation of building leading to the green belt. This planned change of character of those areas is not in the interests of Croydon residents since it will put more pressure on the greenbelt. And development should be on brown field sites and not at the expense of the areas character.

1 Proposed Policy DM31 Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon

Policy DM31.4 sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area’s local character. As this is a new designation it will need to be shown on the Policies Map. Details of each designation are:

- Area of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade - Shirley
- Setting of the Shirley Local Centre - Shirley

I object to the relaxation of the planning regulations to allow the building of significantly larger structures in close proximity to the existing housing stock, comprising mainly bungalows and two storey semi-detached houses in residential roads in the area described as Shirley Local Centre, i.e. around the Shirley Library and the area around the Shirley Road/Shirley Shopping Parade including the Green Triangle and the Trinity School educational open space. The promoted character types of Medium rise blocks with associated grounds; large buildings with spacing; and Large buildings with strong frontages; in this location would look out of character and is unacceptable. These types of developments in the wrong locations would adversely affect the character of Shirley both now and for future generations.

1. In the case of the Shirley Road/Shirley park parade shops, the area behind the shopping parade is a site of Nature Conservation Importance (locally called the Green Triangle) which should be preserved for future generations and the area of Educational Open Space for future Trinity School children.
2. If High density residential accommodation were provided there would be insufficient area for communal open space allocation.
3. The local side road network and width could not cope with high residential density proposals and the likely car ownership and on street parking.
4. If these proposals were to become the Croydon Plan adopted policy, it would place Planning blight on all properties as defined in DM31.4 until the year 2036.

DM31.4

Dear Sirs,

With reference to the recently published ‘Croydon Local Plan’, as a resident of the past 25 years I give my views as follows:-

Policy DM31.4 (p126). Objection- No intensification in these areas. Loss of Local Area of Special Character protection unacceptable.

I wish to object to DM31.4. For centuries parks and green spaces have been an important part of urban living where people can walk and relax. It would be a sad day if these open spaces were lost for ever. We have enjoyed open places and do not want to see them lost for future generations when with a bit of imagination brownfield sites could be considered ahead of the green belt. Future generations will not thank us for destroying their heritage, and character of their local community. We are aware of the need for housing but here in Sanderstead we have already seen a lot of development in recent years, and its character slowly being eroded.

I object to the draft local plan in two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see ‘focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character’ under Policy DM31.4. The idea that largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of Shirley and I will be objecting to it very strongly.

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. Although some boundaries have been amended for specific areas of Focussed Intensification, the challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is still to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Croydon’s local and proposed neighbourhood centres have a linear layout and are at present only using a fraction of their capacity. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
In Policy DM31.4 (p.126) some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are earmarked for "intensification" which means more building. This will change the character of those areas and is opposed.

I wish to register my objection in the strongest possible terms to Policy DM 31.4 - the proposal for 'Medium-rise blocks' near Shirley Library amounts to a deliberate plan to change what remains of the village-like character of this area much for the worse in the opinion of almost everyone who lives in this area.

I write to express my extreme objection to those elements of the plan relating to Forestdale, viz DM31.4 - intensification. My husband and I lived on Forestdale for over 25 years, and now let the property to a tenant. When work first brought us to Croydon, Forestdale was the only area where we could afford to buy. It remains an area where property prices have not risen to the extremes of other parts of the borough and thus fulfils a vital part in the housing strategy. Elsewhere your plan identifies the need for 3 bedroom family homes, and this is what Forestdale offers, alongside a well mixed offering of smaller and larger homes and easily accessible flats and apartments. It is already high density, but in a way that does not feel overwhelming. Outside of the green belt, there are no areas remaining undeveloped that would permit the sort of property that your plan describes, and it would surely be counterproductive to demolish what is there and meeting an important need, in order to build something completely of different character. “Large buildings with strong frontages” are completely inappropriate to an area immediately abutting the green belt, and are surely out of step with the buildings in the rest of Selsdon. Nor do they meet the need for 3 bed family homes. I ask that my objection be formally noted, and that this element of the plan be revised to enhance and not destroy what Forestdale currently offers.

I would like to put in writing my objections to the following local plans:
I am listing the relevant Policy Numbers:
10.DM31.4 Areas of Special Character

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. Although some boundaries have been amended for specific areas of Focussed Intensification, the challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is still to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. I am unaware that I have missed public meetings or been sent details of these plans as it affects my local area. I think that were you to have had a local referendum as I think you should have done, these proposals would receive practically zero support except possibly by those who stand to gain from it.

My wife and I are longstanding Shirley residents. While I understand the need for more housing, the Croydon plan as it affects Shirley seems extreme in extent and its likely impact on Shirley.

I am especially concerned with policy DM31.4 and the proposed focussed intensification of the Shirley Road Shopping parade and Shirley local centre which is tantamount to the destruction of Shirley as it exists and its replacement by new developments of unknown nature. Apart from the unknown endpoint it is clear that the impact in terms of inconvenience and disruption to local residents would occur over many years during this redevelopment for no benefit to existing residents. It is also not evident why that part of Shirley as opposed to any other reasonably pleasant suburban area in Croydon should have been chosen for ‘intensification’.

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. Although some boundaries have been amended for specific areas of Focussed Intensification, the challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is still to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. Fifth, the draft Local Plan identifies two other areas of Shirley as locations where the Council wants to see "focused intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character" under Policy DM31.4 (page 129, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). It goes on to describe what this means:

"New development located in designated areas would be significantly larger than existing and may be associated with merging smaller properties. The promoted character types are: ‘Medium-rise blocks with associated grounds’, ‘Large buildings with spacing’ and ‘Large buildings with strong frontages’. Their gradual introduction will alter over time the predominant character of intensified areas" (page 132, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

The two areas are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the Shirley local centre (the area around Shirley Library). The former is quite tightly drawn and I therefore don’t object to it, but the latter includes not just the Wickham Road itself but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Davonshire Way (page 166, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

The idea that the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is unacceptable - it would completely change the character of Shirley and I object to this very strongly.

Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre;

To take away the semi-detached houses from these areas and put in medium height blocks of flats would take away the character of the local area which is the reason Shirley is a sought after area to live and would again, increase the volume of traffic in an area which is already congested in morning and afternoon rush hours and would put increased pressures on local schools and public transport.

I am aware that more affordable houses are needed but please reconsider these plans which will totally change the area in which we have chosen to live and definitely not for the better.

This suggests that some areas of South Croydon, Sanderstead and Kenley are going to be assigned for "intensification" (in building?) I strongly oppose these changes in way of the proposed areas of consideration. These areas should be protected and remain areas of Special Character.

Object Soundness - Effective DM31.4

Intensification - the areas designated for intensification will lead to pressures to consider inappropriate developments, and the areas will risk becoming undesirable zones, which will suffer from lack of care. The approach towards building additional properties needs to be far more selective and carefully thought-through.

We cannot afford more intensification of our area generally. It is a shortsighted policy as the environment cannot cope with largely increased numbers without corresponding improvements in services. Additionally, we need to preserve the character of the area and consider the impact on the environment of too much construction and large numbers of people. Our green spaces are a necessity not a luxury.

Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre;

To take away the semi-detached houses from these areas and put in medium height blocks of flats would take way the character of the local area which is the reason Shirley is a sought after area to live and would again, increase the volume of traffic in an area which is already congested in morning and afternoon rush hours and would put increased pressures on local schools and public transport.

I am aware that more affordable houses are needed but please reconsider these plans which will totally change the area in which we have chosen to live and definitely not for the better.

Change

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. Although some boundaries have been amended for specific areas of Focussed Intensification, the challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is still to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Croydon’s local and proposed neighbourhood centres have a linear layout and are at present only using a fraction of their land capacity. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. More than enough dense development exists, both old and recent, new development must be open and green and to the minimum density, there is already far too much intensification in the borough, consideration should be given to quality of life. We do not want to return to Victorian concepts. Change

I am a resident of Shirley and strongly object to the current proposals to build on green belt land on the Shirley Oaks and surrounding areas. There are plenty of brown sites that are unoccupied and could fulfil the purpose of providing new homes. Shirley is already tight for school places. St John's, in Spring Park Road, is increasing to 2 form entry already with the number of children living locally requiring education. The 367 bus serving the Shirley Oaks Village is infrequent and much more transport will be required. Parking is already a nightmare and with the lack of parking contemplated with the new build supply the problem will only get worse. There will be an incredible build up of traffic on the already congested Wickham Road and other local roads.

I believe this proposed building of traveller's sites and homes will change the whole ethos of Shirley and cause resentment and the lowering of living standards. This is a particular area of standard housing and should not be changed by the building of blocks of houses. Garden land should not be built on and this is an inappropriate development and should not be allowed to go ahead. Metropolitan Open Land has the same protection as the Green Belt and the rules should be followed accordingly.

I am grateful to the Council for consulting on the detailed policies and proposals that will make up the Croydon Local Plan. There is much in the document that I agree with, but some of the proposals would, in my opinion, change the character of parts of Croydon very much for the worse. I hope you will forgive me if I focus on these areas of contention. I am therefore writing to formally object to:

1. de-designation of the Metropolitan Open Land around Shirley Oaks Village;
2. the use of the following five sites for housing:
   - land at Poppy Lane reference number 128;
   - Stroud Green Pumping Station, 140 Primrose Lane reference number 504;
   - land to the east of Shirley Oaks Road and to the rear of Beech House and Ash House reference number 541;
   - land to the west of Shirley Oaks Road reference number 542; and
   - land to the rear of 5-13 Honeysuckle Gardens reference number 548.

   If the Council will not keep them as Metropolitan Open Land, these five sites should at least be designated as Local Green Spaces. Building housing on them would mean the loss of a vital green corridor between Shirley Oaks and the surrounding areas, changing the character of this part of Shirley. As far as I can see, these are the only bits of Metropolitan Open Land in the whole borough which the Council is proposing to de-designate and allow housing to be built on. Why has Shirley Oaks been singled out in this way?

3. the use of the following locations as gypsy/traveller sites:
   - Coombe Farm off Oaks Road reference number 502;
   - Coombe Lodge Nurseries off Conduit Lane reference number 661; and
   - Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane reference number 756.

   As the Council acknowledges, all three of these sites are in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site Change.
of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly:

“Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”.

The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. All three sites are also some distance from public services and they are all in the same part of the borough (two are in Heathfield ward, one just over the border in Croham). Why has Heathfield been singled out in this way? If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough - which I would question - they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is);

4. Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too;

5. Policy DM2 on development on garden land, which is too subjective and therefore too weak. There should be a much stronger presumption against development on garden land; and

6. Policy DM28, which should allow higher levels of parking in developments of low public transport accessibility. Restricting parking spaces in such areas doesn’t lead to fewer people owning their own car; it just leads to greater competition for existing spaces.

Given the existing levels of brownfield sites in the area, these should be exhausted before encroaching on areas that would significantly alter the character of the area.

More Protection: Less "Intensification". In Policy DM31.4 some parts of Kenley, Sanderstead and South Croydon are designated for "Intensification" meaning more building. This has already happened in some areas which has significantly changed the character of these areas for the worse and therefore any further changes must be opposed.

Croydon's suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough's housing need. Although some boundaries have been amended for specific areas of Focussed Intensification, the challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is still to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Croydon's local and proposed neighbourhood centres have a linear layout and are at present only using a fraction of their land capacity. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council's website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.

I am writing to object to:

1. Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area's local character under Policy DM 31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre.

This policy is lacking in sufficient detail or thought, and actually perpetuates the poorly planned and thought out development that the Croydon Local Plan refers to, which it seeks to avoid.

The idea that largely semi-detached buildings in the residential roads surrounding Shirley library should be replaced by medium-rise blocks is entirely unsuitable, and wholly unacceptable.

This policy would completely change the character of Shirley for the worse (not better), with particular and direct effect on those residential streets encompassed by the suggested policy on the south side of Shirley that sit off/beside the main Wickham Road and library.

Adopting such a policy would also significantly devalue and detract from Shirley as a whole, and would have negative consequences in respect of the existing residential properties surrounding any such development that would remain. It is also likely to result in at least a perceived element of blight if pursued.

The policy does not indicate a respect for the local area and the existing character, which would be destroyed by adopting such a policy. It also shows little regard to the impacts on what is a settled and well established community, which would be eroded fairly quickly. The policy also shows no regard for the local environs, as well as local and public services, traffic considerations, and existing infrastructure. The transport system has been struggling in peak hours with slow moving traffic and passengers having to stand on buses from Shirley to East Croydon, increasing the number of multi-occupied residences will add to this problem. While some areas have benefited from addition forms of public transport such as the tram Shirley has seen the number of bus routes and services reduced.

Policy DM31.4: Positive Character of the Places of Croydon, should be amended so that it does not include the hinterland of many of the areas selected. This policy sets out locations where the Council will support intensification associated with gradual change of the area's local character. This policy seems to focus around existing shopping parades where they may well be scope for intensification. However, the areas as detailed on pages 163 – 167 include large areas of hinterland that would not be appropriate for such intensification.

The boundaries should be re-drawn to remove the predominantly two storey residential roads that should not be subject to change and should instead show the following boundaries:

- Kenley and Old Coulsdon, page 163, Godstone Road, Hayes Lane up to Kenley Lane and Station Road;
- Sanderstead, page 164, Limpsfield Road from the roundabout at Sanderstead Hill to Riding Hill and Cranleigh Close;
- Selsdon, page 165, Selsdon Park Road from Farnborough Avenue to the roundabout at Kent Gate Way and Holmbury Grove;
- Shirley, page 166, Shirley Avenue to the BP Service Station and a further zone on Wickham Road from Verdayne Avenue to Cheston Avenue;

Object DM31.4

Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and Shirley local centre; To take away the semi-detached houses from these areas and put in medium height blocks of flats would take away the character of the local area which is the reason Shirley is a sought after area to live and would again, increase the volume of traffic in an area which is already congested in morning and afternoon rush hours and would put increased pressures on local schools and public transport.

I am aware that more affordable houses are needed but please reconsider these plans which will totally change the area in which we have chosen to live and definitely not for the better.

Whilst recognising the need for more housing there seems to be no sense whatsoever in knocking down high quality family houses that young families desperately need now and will increasingly so. Therefore, to replace them with flats of which there is a significant supply in Croydon town centre where the demand for flats can be more appropriately and sympathetically accommodated would appear to be detrimental to providing a sufficiently varied range of types of accommodation in the Borough. This also seems to be contrary the policy of opposing back garden development which has demonstrated until now the council’s recognition of the importance of high quality private outdoor space with associated environmental benefits. The result of the implementation of any of these proposals would be the dramatic loss and detrimental change to the character of the area.

I object to the focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too.

The two areas identified are the Shirley Road Shopping Parade and the local Shirley Centre. The latter includes not just Wickham Road but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennets Way and Devonshire Way. We believe that such an approach to the area is both wholly unjustified, unnecessary and frankly without any added value for the area for the following reasons. There is no justification for the potential demolition of numerous houses whose design and character is consistent with the total area of Shirley. The properties are in great demand and are well maintained. The roads identified have well established and supportive communities which would be lost by redevelopment. The centre and shopping area, the heart of the ‘village’, would be totally destroyed. The proposed use of medium rise blocks would completely change the nature of the area in a wholly negative way. The suggestion of gradual change is itself fraught with hidden danger. One might suggest that the changes are likely to be piecemeal with the area being subject to change over a long period with the centre continually having the appearance of an ongoing building site, with continual disruption to both pedestrians and traffic flow. Without any guarantee of the finance required for the whole project being available there would be a grave danger of a partial and ill considered scheme being the result. There is no reference to resulting ‘hidden’ costs such as additional school places or potential replacement medical facilities. Additional traffic on local roads appears to be ignored. In short there is no suggestion of any benefits that these proposals would bring to the area. Indeed for the local population these proposals would seem only to produce a future of unwanted change, disruption, a loss of the quality of life and general blight of the area.

Unfortunately, we already have an example of how a similar proposal approved by Croydon Council can fundamentally change an area. There is already an end of terrace house on Markfield for which, inexplicably, permission has been given for its conversion into a multi-occupancy hostel for single men where they are allocated their own room with shower and spend their leisure time in a communal area and share the kitchen. Unsurprisingly, this has led to instances where residents escape their cramped conditions to drink beer on the terrace above the garages outside their lodgings, in full view of neighbours and their children. This was never the intention of the original developers of Forestdale and I doubt it is the wish of the majority of current residents either. (See attached Application and Approval dated 28.07.2014)

It is hard to avoid the conclusion that the real intention of Croydon Council is to fundamentally change the character of Forestdale to replace the current mix of housing types with flats only suitable for single or two person occupancy. These proposals, if approved, would almost certainly ‘plight’ the entire housing stock on the Forestdale development by damaging future housing sales. Potential buyers would be reluctant to purchase any house or flat on Forestdale fearing that at some point their home would be designated for ‘compulsory purchase’ by Croydon Council. The same ‘planning plight’ might apply to those home owners unfortunately located next to a property with a large garden. Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. The challenge for the Croydon Local Plan is to enable growth and regeneration in the local context while recognising the local character and distinctiveness. The objective of policy DM31.4 is to maximise use of the existing growth capacity, to focus growth in sustainable locations and to support a smart spatial vision for the borough. Croydon’s local and proposed neighbourhood centres have a linear layout and are at present only using a fraction of their land capacity. Spatially, additional growth would strengthen the potential for further development of public transport and other uses which require a certain level of localised demand. The proposed areas meet criteria referring to infrastructure availability and accessibility; deliverability of growth based on local character. The policy opens up opportunities for more intensive development in selected areas and enables gradual change of character over time. It would also positively encourage spatial quality and distinctiveness of Croydon local and neighbourhood centres. The complete review is available on the Council’s website on the evidence base pages which support the Croydon Local Plan.
Since I started writing this letter I have been struck by the number of my neighbours who have stayed in the same property for the past 20, 30 or even 40 years. We have attended celebrations together—weddings and funerals too. Many are now retired and their children live nearby. I assume that many have planned to stay in the same home, content in the knowledge that they could continue to rely on the support of family, friends and neighbours they have known for many years. I deeply resent these unwelcome proposals to destroy the community spirit that it has taken years to establish.

DM32.1 should not allow for 12 storey development within Central Parade as this will not enhance the district centre.

Croydon’s suburbs will have sustainably grown to accommodate homes to contribute to the borough’s housing need. Policy 31.2 should be read in conjunction with Policy 7.4 of the London Plan and Paragraph 58 of the National Planning Policy Framework. New Addington is one of Croydon’s district centres with high level of accessibility to public services, including transport, and therefore suitable to accommodate its share of sustainable growth. 11-12 storey high buildings are already present in the area.

DM32.1 should not allow for 12 storey development within Central Parade as this will not enhance the district centre.

Your objection is noted; however not substantiated in planning terms. New Addington is a district centre with high level of accessibility to public services, including transport, and therefore suitable to accommodate substantial amount of sustainable growth. 11-12 storey high buildings are already present in the area.

Object Soundness - Justified DM32.1

Object to allow buildings of up to 12 storeys on Central Parade West. One document there is reference of up to 290 homes - where will their cars be parked & this will add to the existing problem of getting in and out of the estate by car due to Lodge Lane being the only access road. You have this noted as a Medium for Public Transport Accessibility, however no mention of Road usage. The estate only has one main road in & out and this could have High Impact to the existing problems the estate has with road access.

There is more green belt around Kenley, Purley or coulsdon where it is not overcrowded already. New Addington is not the area for more housing, we are suffering already with too many people living off benefits in this area. We are trying to make this community a better community. We would benefit more from more decent smaller shops and less of the monopoly on the parade. Provide us with a new leisure centre, Centre for Families and the Elderly. Same goes for the traveller site: we do not need more bad vibes here, please let us get ourselves on our feet first. We all are standing together trying our best to give New Addington a better name as we have loads of good people around here too.</td>

It has come to my attention that you propose several changes to New Addington. I object to these proposals. As a resident of New Addington for over 31 years, I feel I have to have my say. Very many people who live here, regard it as a village or small town - and no more.

1) Policy DM32.1B ... “create buildings with smaller footprints that compliment the existing predominant building heights of 3 storeys up to 12 storeys within Central Parade.”

This is absurd. How can you go back to the sixties when in the end they had to tear down the high rises as they were not fit for purpose? The same will happen again. Thrown up high rises with no thought for the people living there with the damp, lifts not working etc. this will happen, because you will throw them up on the cheap and will not fix them because we don't have the money' (usual garbage) and they will be a blot on a very beautiful landscape. If you want to house people, why not put them into some of the empty office blocks (Converted of course) in the centre of Croydon?

I write to you having received this email from Gavin Barwell MP, the tone of which I find inflammatory and discriminatory towards the Gypsy and Traveller communities, and smacks of "not in my backyard".

I write as a resident of Addiscombe who recognises the huge problem of lack of affordable housing to buy and to rent in London promulgated by this Conservative government and the previous coalition government.

I fully support Croydon Council’s proposals.

The document goes on to say: “Additional policies are required to manage the area to the west of Central Parade where there are precedents of large and tall buildings. This location presents opportunities for growth through the creation of large or tall buildings” (ibid.). It identifies this site as suitable for 50 to 290 homes (pages 181-183, Changes to the Policies Map arising from proposals contained within the Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies Partial Review and the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies & Proposals, reference number 44). I object strongly to all new proposals for ghastly council flats full of ghastly people. Are there already not enough drug dealers and vanquishers in Croydon borough?

While I do want to see the regeneration of the western side of Central Parade, I don’t believe 12-storey tower blocks are appropriate nor do I think this is what the people of New Addington want. I will therefore be objecting to this policy.

Your objection has been noted; however it has not been substantiated in planning terms. New Addington is a district centre with high level of accessibility to public services, including transport, and therefore suitable to accommodate its share of sustainable growth. 11-12 storey high buildings are already present in the area.

There are precedents of large buildings to the west of Central Parade. However any redevelopment would be subject to the submission of a planning application and would be considered on their merits taking account of the character and layout of the surrounding area.

<td>We understand housing is also to be built around the Fisher Farm recycling site, the 21 Club and beyond. Whilst local people do appreciate housing needs to be built - they have also questioned the lack of infrastructure this potential influx of all these combined properties - sited on Northdowns and also planned for Central Parade west, will highlight. Also a worry is the change to TfL bus routes has seen an added length to every journey around the estate, further afield is worse - it took children from Rowdown School visiting the Pantomime at the Fairfield Halls 1 hour and 20 mins to get back from East Croydon to New Addington. Road congestion has also been flagged as an issue. To build a substantial amount of housing, the Council needs to look at providing another road off the estate. Pathfinders take it personally that residents have been lied to - hoodwinked - and this is not right. Does this regeneration need yet more protracted legal arguments, or will the weight of residents voices actually be listened to? Where are the long-awaited plans which should have been out for viewing before these plans were commented on? This would have at least provided residents with a more comprehensive knowledge of the Council's ideas and how this would look.</td>

This site currently lies within the Green Belt, however to what extent this land meets the purposes of the Green Belt, outlined in paragraph 80 of the NPPF is contentious. We believe that this site could accommodate residential development and help in meeting the housing requirement over the plan period. We believe that this site should be considered deliverable and available as one of the leading UK house builders is positively promoting the site. In allowing development to be brought forward on this site it will allow the Strategic Policies of the Local Plan to be met.</td>

Object | Soundness - Justified | DM32.2 | Many local people appreciate the need to build affordable housing, it is the placement and reasoning that we are objecting to. Pathfinders liaised with the Council CEO, Officers and Legal Departmment at the time of the 2nd Village Green application which, if passed, would have effectively halted any regeneration. We offered residents the opportunity to support or oppose the TVG2 and, as we were asked various questions regarding the longterm plans for GP West, we asked for and received, in writing, various answers from the CEO of Croydon Council one of these being that there would be NO housing associated with any regeneration on this area, and many signed on this premise. We would also draw your attention to the history of the previous regeneration with many unhappy with the height of dwellings - this has been echoed throughout every public and costly consultation since. Residents are clear that they do not want high-rise dwellings, but do want a decent sized supermarket together with other amenities on this site.

Site 44 - I think the site needs updating as long as all current provisions are rebuilt to a better standard without losing any current facilities or downsizing. The community centre is used by many groups/clubs and organisations at the moment. I don’t think we need anymore housing on this site as we don’t have enough facilities for local people as it is. The local dance school provides a great service to many children and other groups for children and adults need to continue.

I cannot see this being delivered to local’s satisfaction. I think it will cause many problems and some current facilities will be lost New Addington residents pride themselves with the facilities it offers to the whole community. Please don’t take any of this away.

It seems that it is a way to solve the current housing issues but many other facilities will definitely be compromised i.e. facilities for children, the elderly and GP services are stretched as it is. Please make sure the community are kept well informed and are asked what they want/need. But above all please listen to us not ignore us.

With the proposal to provide new residential, community, healthcare facility, leisure and retail with large footprint, the recent past proposal to provide more open space is not an option if the Council's wish to maintain the garden village character of the area. The larger footprint proposal could be suggesting development of up to 3 storeys and with numerous developments proposed little open space would appear available after allowance is made for the motor car.

DM32.1b is not an accurate statement. In the area proposed development there are no influential structures to the height of 12 storeys. There is an isolated 11 storey residential tower block in the centre of Chertsey Crescent and an 8 storey residential tower block near each end of Overbury Crescent, neither of which could be considered to be predominant or respect and enhance local character (DM15.1) and the addition of further high rise will not improve the situation nor be compatible with the Council’s wish to maintain the garden village character of the area.

Neither does the development proposed fit well with the Council’s claim to protect Local Green Spaces including the space around the public buildings on the west side of Central Parade.

The number of homes proposed for this site should be reduced.

This is the case I object to the scale of housing proposed and the height of the proposed housing as it will affect peoples privacy. Also the extra amount of cars will cause even more of a problem for the elderly residents in the tower block on Chertsey Cres, who already are unable to park near to their homes. For the elderly, disabled and frail this is already a problem. The area is part of a dispersal and drink free zone because of anti-social behavior already filling the area with more people, I feel will increase the problem. I understand that Croydon Council has a commitment to build a huge amount of housing to ease the housing crisis but here is not the place.</td>

We do not need or want anymore tower blocks at New Addington, nor do we need another school on Rowdown fields. The travellers when up here cause trouble being rude to people and stealing from the shops, which I have witness, also this happen many years ago on Forestdale shops, where I worked, do you really want to spoil all the green belt, there is the old Stewart Plastic site at Purley Way which has been left empty for years.

It has come to my attention what Corydon council are planning to do, such as building on green belt land, or the building of high rise flats on or near centre parade. This is rank out of order! And most others think, as you are laying out to build high rise flats in or around centre parade.

As well as building on green belt land. A gypsy/traveller's site on the said green belt land, nor do I agree to building of a second school on land next to Rowdown school, this also being on green belt land. This I see as very under handed by this labour council.
Policy DM32.1b says the Council will welcome applications that:
- create buildings with smaller footprints that complement existing predominant building heights of 3 storeys up to 12 storeys within Central Parade” (p.133, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals).

The document goes on to say:
- Additional policies are required to manage the area to the west of Central Parade where there are precedents of large and tall buildings.
- This location presents opportunities for growth through the creation of large or tall buildings” (ibid.)

It identifies this site as suitable for 50 to 290 homes (pages 181-183, Changes to the Policies Map arising from proposals contained within the Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies Partial Review and the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies & Proposals, reference number 44).

Whilst it would be important to see the regeneration of the western side of Central Parade, I don’t believe 12-storey tower blocks are appropriate. Tower blocks in central London are mostly discontinued and examples of these are those in Elephant and Castle area and Harlesden. The high tower blocks in these areas were eventually destroyed and the residents who lived in them were resettled into lower rise blocks bungalows and duplex type accommodations.

So, my question to you is as follows:- Why are you proposing to build structures that other councils and boroughs are fast withdrawing from? I live in New Addington and have done so for a decade, this is definitely not what we want in this area as we all love the greenery and village atmosphere. A lot of people here have moved from the “lego” brick like areas of central London to New Addington for the air quality, tranquility and rural setting.

My question to you is:- Do you value the well being of the residents of New Addington and if so why are you putting forward proposals that would drastically change the setting,atmosphere entire environment and well being of the people who currently live in this area without any seemingly forethought?

Ms E Randall

I strongly object to the following proposals which will have a negative impact on either green belt land or the character of Addington.

Wanting to build tall housing property will change the landscape drastically and create a grotesque barrier of concrete between Croydon and the countryside. It will also put immense pressure on the primary school system of the local area where a majority of schools are over subscribed.

Changes to Forestdale will have a negative impact on local services and the housing prices of Forestdale for existing residents. The local schools are over subscribed and therefore additional resident numbers cannot be supported. The areas around Forestdale are managed by a management company which is paid for by residents. Additional rubbish along footpaths and general maintenance of the footpaths gets ignored by the council as it happens within the estate. Would this change if the council insist on throwing their weight on changing the quiet family demeanour of the estate?

Mr Ian Leonard

Policy DM32.1b states the Council will welcome applications that: “...create buildings with smaller footprints that complement existing predominant building heights of 3 storeys up to 12 storeys within Central Parade” (p.153, Croydon Local Plan Detailed Policies & Proposals). The document goes on to say: “Additional policies are required to manage the area to the west of Central Parade where there are precedents of large and tall buildings. While I, among many, would like to see the regeneration of the western side of Central Parade, I do not believe twelve storey tower blocks are appropriate nor do I think this is what the people of New Addington want. Consequently, I therefore object to this policy.

We were told this couldn't happen as the road in and out of Fieldway would be unable to cope with the added traffic. Are we now to understand that this will be the first step to the erosion of our green space and that the road will now be able to cope with regular deliveries to a Secondary School, plus more pressure on our bus route and more road traffic from parents cars? It should also be noted that our present Secondary School is under-subscribed and at present, has pupils from across the Borough attending. I am writing to strongly object to:

6. De-designation of the green belt land to the west of Timbridge Community Centre and east of Lodge Lane. Reference number 636

No change

There are insufficient sites within the urban area of the borough to meet the need for secondary schools. Therefore, the search for sites was expanded to encompass sites in Metropolitan Green Belt and Metropolitan Open Land. This site, although in Metropolitan Green Belt, is close to a tram stop and bus interchange and therefore is capable of serving a wide area of the borough. It is also on the edge of the built up area and could, therefore, be integrated into existing built form. Once the school buildings are built the remainder of the site will remain designated as Green Belt.

The Education Funding Agency has approved 3 new Free Schools currently looking for sites within Croydon. This site has been identified as being potentially suitable options for the permanent location of the Ark Croydon Secondary Academy. We would welcome the opportunity to work with Croydon Council and the respective trust to make these sites available options for these schools.

| Object Soundness - Effective | The more specific site allocations represent a large reduction in the amount of designated and non-designated open space. While we acknowledge the need to build new homes and associated infrastructure such as schools, Croydon's growing population also needs quality open spaces for all the human amenity and ecosystem services which they provide.

We object to the proposed designation of this site for a new secondary school. The council’s Green Belt Review concluded it met its Green Belt designation and the proposed development is inappropriate. It has also been suggested that school places are not actually needed in this catchment area (Local MP, Gavin Barwell) and, in any event, school place requirements constitute a general pressure and not the ‘exceptional circumstances’ required by the NPPF or London Plan to justify development on Green Belt. |

| Object | At this point it would be time to say that a new school on Rowdown Fields is not the answer to this. Lodge Lane is the only way in and out of New Addington and is always busy. A school at the top end would not be conducive to keeping traffic flowing.

Moving on from this, although the transport structure here is not totally inadequate, more housing and school would mean that the current timetables would not be good enough. Trams are already overcrowded with standing room only at all times of the day, not just during the peak hours. The new bus timetable, which has recently been introduced, does not realistically cater for journeys towards Croydon anymore. |

The main reason for my objection on this point is not just use of green belt land but mainly the impact this will have on travelling in and out of the New Addington estate. As you are aware there is only one main road in and out of the estate and travelling time by bus & car is excessive as it is due to current levels of traffic - what are your plans for the local roads? Travelling along Kent Gate Way from Coney Hall to the round about at the bottom of Lodge Lane is also a congested route, so this route will also have to be reviewed. In addition at peak times trams are completely full so more trams would need to run during these peak times - how could the tram (and bus) network possibly ever cope with 100% of additional school children going to school when it can't even cope with current passenger levels. You have this noted as a Medium for Public Transport Accessibility, however this must be Extremely HIGH impact.
Again no mention of Road usage. The estate only has one main road in & out and this could have Extremely High Impact to the existing problems the estate has with road access - the 'school run' effect of parents dropping children at school will be a disaster for the local road network.

2. Do you think that the preferred approach is the most appropriate for Croydon to help us meet our Strategic Objectives set out in Section 3? Whether yes or no please state your reasons...

No, the land is current Green Belt or Metropolitan Open Land or otherwise designated green land and should not be built on.

Yes there is, or will be, a shortage of secondary school spaces in Croydon but there is no shortage (and unlikely to be a shortage) of secondary school spaces in Addington. Yes, it is deliverable but should not be delivered on that land.

No. It is not sustainable because it removes the need for green space for future generations. It is also not sustainable because all the demand for spaces will occur outside of the Addington area so a new secondary school here will impose additional pollution from unnecessary transport journeys.

We both agree that we do not want to lose any of our green belt. And the parking in the area is truly so bad especially in Coulsdon.

We do not need or want anymore tower blocks at New Addington, nor do we need another school on Rowtown fields. The travellers when up here cause trouble being rude to people and stealing from the shops, which I have witness, also this happen many years ago on Forestdale shops, where I worked, do you really want to spoil all the green belt, there is the old Stewart Plastic site at Purley Way which has been left empty for years.

We certainly need additional secondary school places in certain parts of the borough, but there isn’t a shortage of secondary school places in the New Addington area. I will therefore be objecting to the de-designation of this land as Green Belt and the use of this site for a secondary school.

It has come to my attention what Corydon council are planning to do such as building on green belt land or the building of high rise flats on or near centre parade. This is rank out of order! And most others think as you are laying out to build high rise flats in or around centre parade.

As well as building on green belt land A gypsy/traveller site on the said green belt land. nor do I agree to building of a second school on land next to rodown school. This also being on green belt land. This I see as very under handed by this labour council.

<td>Croydon is currently running out of space and actually letting more people in through building more flats is putting pressure on our services: we do not have enough schools in the area to cater for all new arrivals. However taking green belt land is a step too far. Similarly a site for travellers with amenities which would prevent them from invading current green spaces is a good idea, but where to put it needs to be sensibly planned and the current proposal in my view is not adequate.</td>

<td>The Rowdown Fields area is Green Belt but the Council's draft Local Plan intends that it be de-designated so as to allow it to be used to build a new secondary school. I strongly object to further loss of Green Belt land particularly as the building of a new school here is misguided since there is no shortage of secondary school places in the New Addington area. In addition, early de-designation of Rowdown Fields is likely to mean that the site would be lost from the Green Belt even if the school was never actually constructed. This would happen because some other development would most likely be proposed for such a prime site.</td>

Ms E Potman | | As a mother I know how important it is in this day and age to have open green spaces to go in the city, that are natural, unspoiled, spacious and adventurous. In this fast paced and pressured computer era, children and families and everyone else, need spaces to go to unwind, to re-energise, to connect to the real, living world and to have clean air to breath. With down grading green belt land and woods, we jeopardise the physical and mental health of our children and fellow citizens. We disrespect the need for green spaces for wild life and trees to bring healthy air and a healthy eco-system. If we do not teach our children and everyone else the importance of green in a city, we set a bad precedent for the next generation.

If we let money be our main aim, choices like this will become easier and easier made and we would be left with no green at all. The strongest thing that Croydon has going for itself are the green spaces and woods. The green belt had been established for a reason. It is not meant to be touched! It is meant to be preserved for the good of all!

Please re-consider your plans and leave the green spaces protected in the green belt. Don’t let it be eroded in the name of ‘progress’.

Please do not build on greenbelt areas. There is plenty of space in the empty building in central Croydon and in West Croydon. Spend money on empty land and leave the last green parts of Croydon alone. When those green belt areas are gone so will nature. We are not inner city. We have a history of enjoying our green spaces in Croydon.

I object to the de-designation of Green Belt to the west of Timebridge Community Centre and the east of Lodge Lane (reference number 636) so that it can be used for a new secondary school. Over many years and persuasion of politics various schools have been demolished and the land sold or used for building, yes green belt is cheaper and easier to build on but this should not be the pre requisite. Some of our existing schools seem to have people from outside the borough so why do we need new schools when the previously demolished ones were perfectly usable.

As regards Reference Number 636. Why? They are extremely beautiful fields, used for children to play on safely. Why divest New Addington of extra green fields? No sense (and therefore no feeling). A Secondary school? Why? It is not necessary. As I understand it, we actually don't need any Secondary Schools in this area. What are you going to do? Bus them in? More bad behaviour by 'non Addingtonites', and New Addington youth will get the blame yet again.

I am emailing you to express my concerns about Croydon Council’s Plans to build houses on some of our precious green spaces, back gardens. I understand that there is a great need for housing in the Croydon area and that the number of homeless people in Croydon is high. However, I need assurance that in providing this need we do not destroy our few remaining green spaces as these are vital to the well-being of our environment and people’s health. When I received the information about these proposals from my MP and local residents association I had been away from home and so have not studied these plans in depth. However, with the information I have I cannot visualize how these proposals would work without destroying the character of the Shirley area and the destruction of our few remaining green areas. In order for me to agree to these proposals I would not only require the assurance that these environmental issues were taken into account but the homes that are planned for were affordable to those who are in need of a home, and that they were of good quality, energy efficient homes. Finally, having lived in Shirley for many years I have seen the increase in traffic which has brought about an increase in air pollution which is detrimental to our health. This is another important factor that has to be borne in mind when increasing the density of the population of the area.

As Croydon ratepayers we object to the de-designation of Metropolitan Open Land generally, especially land detailed above, which will change forever Croydon's character.

We would ask you to encourage policies/development to:

1. Build new housing on brown field sites by all means AND preserve invaluable green space for the benefit of the community of Croydon;
2. Protect green belt land and preserve the green corridors we desperately vital for wildlife and biodiversity;
3. Amend the tall buildings policy and keep the tall building zone where it is suited in the centre of town;
4. Utilise brownfield sites for new low-level housing only where it can be developed alongside new GP surgeries, schools and improved public transport;

"Nowadays people know the price of everything and the value of nothing". Green Belt is vital and precious. Once lost for future generations and will not be replaced by developers.

We understand the need for housing, schools, hospitals and infrastructure. Are the Developers investing these also alongside their building investments?

Please protect our few remaining green spaces on the borough map, by making better use of brown field sites.

Mr Neil Morrison

We as a nation have maintained the principles of "the Green Belt" since its first inception in 1935 when it was part of a plan devised by the Greater London Regional Planning Committee eventually becoming law by virtue of the Town and Country Planning Act 1947. Recently the Government formally set out its policies and principles towards green belts in England and Wales in Planning Policy Guidance Note 2: Green Belts, but this planning guidance was superseded by the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) in March 2012. Planning Authorities are strongly urged to follow the NPPF's detailed advice when considering whether to permit additional development in the green belt. In the green belt there is a general presumption against inappropriate development, unless very special circumstances can be demonstrated to show that the benefits of the development will outweigh the harm caused to the green belt. The NPPF sets out what would constitute appropriate development in the green belt. I can not find any justifiable cause for allowing building on any "Green Belt" having viewed Gavin Barwell's email on the matter. This series of developments cannot seriously be described as "Appropriate Development" under any circumstances. Please do not build on land which we, as a nation, have preserved for future generations.

This information only becomes apparent when looking at individual sites, which begs the question as what other significant changes have not been detailed in the strategic policy overviews:

- Coombe Road Playing Fields as Green Belt, site reference 662;
- Land to the west of Timebridge Community Centre, Lodge Lane, site reference 636.

The de-designation of all the above sites would not comply with Policy SPT 2 and protection of the green grid.

As the Council acknowledges, all three of these sites are in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly:

“Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development.”

The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. All three sites are also some distance from public services and they are all in the same part of the borough (two are in Heathfield ward, one just over the border in Croham). Why has Heathfield been singled out in this way? If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough (which I would question - they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is), the site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
Hidden in the depths of the documents without any detailed maps and no backing documentation are plans to allocate Traveller sites: Addington, Shirley, South Croydon

Ref no
755 Pearl Tree Farm & Pear Tree Farm Cottage, Featherbed Lane Gypsy and traveller site
502 Coombe Farm, Oaks Road Gypsy and traveller site
661 Coombe Lodge Nurseries, Conduit Lane Gypsy and traveller site

There is no reference to any national mechanism for rating such sites, so has Croydon invented a scoring regime without any accreditation? There should be a review including increased weighting for needs for transport, education and health facilities for all sites suitable for 15+ pitches with site area greater than 4.0

Croydon has very few green places that are actually loved and residents are proud of so they need to be left as they are or enhanced. The proposal to place travellers site is not acceptable. These sites are stated by the Council to be in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly: “Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”. Also these sites are far from schools and shops therefore not suitable for the proposed change of use.

We note the council comment "should not have an unacceptable adverse impact on the biodiversity of the borough. In spite of this we feel that the 3 sites that are being offered will have a biodiversity impact. I am emailing to formally object to your worrying proposals to build 3 gypsy traveller sites in Croydon on Green Belt sites, and your proposals to build housing on some of our precious green spaces and back gardens. We have to protect our green belt at all costs, and we feel that as residents that we are under constant attack having to protect land which is sacrosanct. You can’t just keep changing the goal posts to suit your purposes. I have lived in the area all my life and have never been so alarmed about council proposals. It is hugely stressful for residents, who use and appreciate the green spaces, to be threatened with your proposals. I fully support and agree with the objections raised by my MP Gavin Barwell, and ask you to reconsider your plans to prevent irreversible damage to Croydon and its green spaces.

Whilst we welcome the approach to meeting these two Vision elements:

- A Sustainable City: A place that sets the pace amongst London boroughs on promoting environmental sustainability and where the natural environment forms the arteries and veins of the city.
- A Caring City: A place noted for its safety, openness and community spirit where all people are welcome to live and work and where individuals and communities feel empowered to deliver solutions for themselves.

London Wildlife Trust is concerned at the assessment undertaken to identify potential new travellers' sites (Assessment and Selection of sites for Gypsy and Travellers, Evidence for the Local Plan: Detailed Policies and Proposals (P&A Options), August 2015). It sets out criteria and scoring for the assessment of sites in Table 1.

For Green Belt/MOL:
- No built form -10
- Built form -5
- Not GB/MOL +10

There is no +5 score amber or green. Yet for the GB/MOL scoring of each site in Table 5, a score in amber of +5 is sometimes used. This is incorrect as it overscores sites by 10 points (i.e. +5 when it should be -5). Therefore the accumulated site scores in Table 8.2 are incorrect.

London Wildlife Trust has particular concerns over one of the 'preferred' sites (755, Pear Tree Farm), in the evidence report. We are managers of three nature reserves in immediate proximity of the site: Hutchinson’s Bank, Threecorner Grove (both with entrances on the opposite side of Featherbed Lane), and Chapel Bank (which is to the immediate south). All three sites are identified as a Site of Metropolitan Importance for Nature Conservation, consist of nationally important habitats (chalk grassland, ancient woodland), and are a statutory Local Nature Reserve (LNR).

Our experience of nature reserve management with travellers has not been wholly positive; some of our other nature reserves have been occupied and/or damaged. Reserves which have been adjacent to travellers sites have experienced high levels of anti-social behaviour, such as fly-tipping and scrambling.

Two of the above reserves are grazed with livestock, and our experience elsewhere in London suggests that travellers often illegally...
(fly-) graze their stock (usually ponies) which is very difficult to control, makes it difficult for us meet our conservation objectives, and not an issue our volunteers or staff would want to deal with on a daily basis.

In our view the choice of Pear Tree Farm would directly and adversely impact on our ability to continue to conserve these reserves with the resources we are likely to bring to bear. This would very likely result in a net adverse impact on their biodiversity qualities, thereby not helping to meet the Council’s Strategic Objective 10.

The draft Local Plan identifies Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane as a location for a gypsy/traveller site (pages 188-189, Changes to the Policies Map arising from proposals contained within the Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies Partial Review and the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies & Proposals, reference number 755). The Council acknowledges that this site is in the Green Belt. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly: “Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”. I object to this.

The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. The site is also some distance from public services. If the Council needs to increase the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough – it should develop the existing site off the Purley Way.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

I am appalled by the proposal to create traveller sites on Green Belt land.

I wish to object to the use of Peat Tree Farm as a Traveller site within the designated Greenbelt. Loss of Greenbelt will allow further urban sprawl and increase atmospheric pollution in Croydon.

Once gone these are gone forever. The character of parts of the Borough could be dramatically changed for the worse and this might discourage people from living, working, shopping and investing in the area. Whilst I acknowledge that there is a need for more accommodation in Croydon it is preferable to utilise effectively those brownfield sites which I am given to understand do exist in the area. More brownfield sites might become available in the future and I should like to think that the Council is establishing and/or maintaining and updating a list of suitable locations.</td>

Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane reference number 755; As the Council acknowledges, all three of these sites are in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly: "Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development". The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. All three sites are also some distance from public services and they are all in the same part of the borough (two are in Heathfield ward, one just over the border in Croham). Why has Heathfield been singled out in this way? If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough - which I would question - they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is).

We want to object to the locating of three traveller sites in and around South Croydon. The building of these sites on green land is wrong and will change significantly the area we live in. We live in Gravel Hill between Featherbed Lane and Coombe Lodge Nurseries and we will therefore be impacted by two if not all three of these sites. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly: "Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development" and the Council’s approach is clearly a breach of this policy.

Gypsy and Traveller sites should not be located in the Green Belt.

All three sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b. Furthermore, Policy 6 of 'Planning Policy for Traveller Sites', published by the Government in August, states very clearly that 'Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development'. The provision relating to travellers/gypsies in the Housing and Planning Bill will also remove sections 225 and 226 of the Housing Act 2004 which placed a duty on housing authorities to carry out an assessment of the accommodation needs of this group when reviewing housing conditions and needs within their areas (a process required by section 8 of the Housing Act 1985). Section 8 will also be amended to make it clear that the duty covers consideration of the needs of people residing in, or resorting to the district for, caravan sites and houseboat mooring sites.

I am also concerned by the evidence base for these selections, namely the 'Assessment and Selection of Sites for Gypsy and Travellers'. This assessment contains a vast number of very subjective criteria against which to judge site suitability and has been the subject of 'extensive political consultation'. This political consultation has only taken place with the Labour Administration and has not been conducted on a cross party basis. This begs the question as to what undue political influence may have been placed on the particular criteria which have been used and indeed the selection of the preferred sites. There is also some question as to why the same scoring system has not been used for each set of criteria, rather than subjectively giving weight to certain criteria. Furthermore, the scoring for individual sites has not been carried out in accordance with the table shown at 4.1. A number of sites have been marked incorrectly, for example, site 661 has been scored at 5 for Greenbelt/MOL, when the score should be 6. This begs the question as to how many other inaccuracies are in the document.

Object DM32.2 755

Respondent draws the Council’s attention to Policy E of the Planning for Traveller Sites published by the Government. In addition to this, the following questions are posed:
1. What is the cost to the Council of clearing the existing sites and the installation of whatever is required to make the sites legal and habitable?
2. Regarding Pear Tree Farm, will the existing owner have to bear some or all of the cost of restoring and clearing the land from all the material, including any toxic waste which has been deposited?
3. What will be the impact on local schools?
4. Can local health services cope with the influx of the travellers?
5. Why are there so many sites being proposed in such a small geographic area?

Change

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
Object

I object to the proposal as Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Cottage on Featherbed Lane is Green Belt Land. Policy E of the Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August states very clearly that “Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”. Previous use does not mitigate this policy.

The close proximity of the proposed sites to one another has not been taken into account. All three sites are proposed for a small area in the South of the Borough which seems to be a successful site in Purley Way which could be expanded. None of these sites proposed has good access to schools, shops and other services. The consequent need for private transport goes against environmental and climate initiatives. Government Guidelines ask that local planning authorities policies ensure that children can attend school on a regular basis. These three sites are well away from schools, particularly primary schools and clearly do not reflect the aims of Guidelines or facilitate regular school attendance.

The number of Gypsy/Traveller sites in Croydon is to increase from 1 to 4 when our recent experience locally is of travellers responsible for damage, parking illegally, leaving piles of rubbish behind when they are moved on and even engaged in firearms confrontation with the police.

Change

1.1 Object to use of Pear Tree Farm site 755, as stated in Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites 2015 that 'Traveller Sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development'. Previous use does not mitigate against this policy.

1.2 Featherbed Lane is a narrow rural road with a number of blind bends, making it unsuitable for large vehicles. The Local Plan does not take sufficient account of the proposed increased danger for motorists and other road users. None of the three sites have good access to schools, shops and other services. The consequent need for private transport goes against environment and transport initiatives. Government Guidelines ask that local planning authorities' policies ensure that children can attend school on a regular basis. Objection to Site 755 for Travellers site as goes against Government policy.

Objection to location as narrow road, Featherbed Lane, leading to the site. None of the three sites have good access to schools, shops and other services. Government Guidelines ask that local planning authorities' policies ensure that children can attend school on a regular basis. These three sites are well away from schools, particularly primary schools and clearly do not reflect the aims of the Guidelines or facilitate regular school attendance.

None of the three sites take into account the need for good access to roads as in CLP1.1 Para 4.19. Oaks Road, Coombe Road, Conduit Lane and Featherbed Lane are unsuitable for safe increased movement and manoeuvring of larger vehicles, especially entering and exiting these sites.

The site should not be allocated as a Gypsy and Traveller site.

I object to the planned new sites for travellers, why not expand the site they have at present, on the same basis as the expansion of the housing that is being mooted for estates such as Forestgate and New Addington. I object to Travellers being treated differently. Why should they be given new private prime sites?

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
Object: The application site is not served by public transport. There are no shopping of other facilities i.e. doctor’s surgeries within the recommended walking distance of the site. The PPTS advises that sustainability is a test for the suitability of sites for Gypsies and Travellers. The current site would fail this test. Furthermore there is no public footpath along Featherbed Lane for pedestrians. This is significant for their safety.

Change: The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

Object: The site adjoins an extensive area of Ancient Woodland. Natural England make it clear that when proposing development that there should be a minimum buffer strip of 15 metres between a development and Ancient Woodland.

continue with current use of the site

Change: The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

Object: Attached at Appendix 2 is an extract from the adopted South London Waste Plan being the front cover and the site allocation details of part of Pear Tree Farm as a Waste Transfer Site. The adjoining commercial vehicle parking area and vehicle repair workshop are also essential to the use. The loss of the waste transfer facility would be contrary to the South London Waste Plan. Such sites are safeguarded because it is difficult to obtain planning permission.

continue the current use of the site

Change: The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

Object: The Council say that they are not aware of any developer interest for the site. However the owners have been approached by an operator that was prepared to offer them £4 million for the waste transfer site. They rejected this offer out of hand two years ago. They have no desire or intention to sell the waste transfer site or the remainder of land. The owners are committed to opposing the use of their site suggested by the Council and will oppose any such allocation at the forthcoming Examinations in Public and oppose any Compulsory Purchase notice as appropriate.

Change: The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

Objection to the proposals for gypsy and travellers as not the most appropriate for Croydon and unsuitable for the lovely country area of Croydon visited throughout the year by families, residents and visitors. The approach is deliverable but undesirable and will ruin the only real part of the country area in Croydon, which grows with housing and office blocks almost daily. The preferred approach will not enable sustainable development as it will spoil the existing areas where sites are suggested and which will never be the same again. It will also affect schooling, health, and cause disturbance around all areas. If Croydon must comply, areas such as Purley Way or an extension of facilities at Leyhams Farm should be the correct options.

Change

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
I understand that Croydon Council are considering within their draft local plan the establishment of gypsy/traveller sites at Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane. These sites are on Green Belt Land and this is clearly in breach of the Government’s planning policy for Traveller Sites on Green Belt Land.

I object in the strongest possible terms to these proposals which appear completely ill considered.

While I understand that Croydon needs to provide a site for travellers, this site is not appropriate. The entrance is on a small country lane that is used as cut through and is very busy. It is also used by a youth group that has a motorcycle track and a bus parked there full of youth equipment. New Addington already has Layhams Farm which has previously caused problems.

This site is on a small country lane that has quite a blind entrance. The area around it has Hutchinson conservation area, a local nature reserve and a metropolitan important site for conservation. The site at the moment houses a dirt track for motorbikes from Croydon Auto Bike Schama that train young people that have been involved in riding them illegally or have a passion for them to maintain and ride off road safely. What happens to them? New Addington has a huge problem with motorbike being ridden on green spaces and on the roads by underage youths, surely this is reason enough not to consider using this space. The site is a long way from shops, doctors, schools etc. and therefore it is not I feel a suitable site.

Pearl Tree Farm Travellers Site
New Addington has suffered the anti-social behaviour and roaming travellers around the estate, plus those who are "permanent" at the Hayham Farm area on our doorstep for a long time. Featherbed Lane is very fast and dangerous for a site with many children. Not particularly near health or retail facilities and the local schools are very small. Please consider site other than Pearl Tree Farm.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

This is wholly against the wishes of the local community whom I speak on behalf of with reference to the NPPF which makes it entirely clear that the fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open. It is absolutely against national planning policy for Croydon Council to ignore this fundamental aim. Forcefully imposing a traveller's site on designated Green Belt land which is also ancient woodland and private property is wholly unacceptable and unsupported. The Council's own Local Plan Policies Map designates that land as a 'Site of Nature Conservation Importance' and a 'Local Nature Reserve' which affords the land here with absolute policy protection against this proposed use. Further to this, the Council's own adopted Supplementary Planning Guidance No.5 'Nature Conservation' acknowledges that maintaining a variety of species and plants is one of the most important goals of sustainable development. The proposed use of Pear Tree Farm is wholly against the sustainability and biodiversity goals. Save for criteria D (flood risk) the site fails on all of the policy criteria for which site must comply in order to be suitable to accommodate a traveller/gypsy community as set out SP2. Under appendix 2 the Council has stated where the deliverable is to provide 10 new pitches for Gypsy and Travellers that the Council will work with Registered Providers and public sector landowners in Croydon to identify other potential for new pitches. This is clearly not the approach being taken where private landowners are under threat from Purchase, fully against their wishes and interests. The proposed use would also considerable impact upon the amenity currently enjoyed by local residents in the vicinity of Pear Tree Farm and upon this section of country lanes whereby the additional vehicular journeys would cause considerable impact. The suggestion is that the Council identifies far more suitable land for Gypsy and Traveller accommodation at sites along the Purley Way, which is far more suitable as an urbanised area to meet this need. All three sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b. Furthermore, Policy E of 'Planning Policy for Traveller Sites', published by the Government in August, states very clearly that 'Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development'. The provision relating to travellers/gypsies in the Housing and Planning Bill will also remove sections 225 and 226 of the Housing Act 2004 which placed a duty on housing authorities to carry out an assessment of the accommodation needs of this group when reviewing housing conditions and needs within their areas (a process required by section 8 of the Housing Act 1985). Section 8 will also be amended to make it clear that the duty covers consideration of the needs of people residing in, or resorting to the district for, caravan sites and houseboat mooring sites.

I am also concerned by the evidence base for these selections, namely the 'Assessment and Selection of Sites for Gypsy and Travellers'. This assessment contains a vast number of very subjective criteria against which to judge site suitability and has been the subject of 'extensive political consultation'. This political consultation has only taken place with the Labour Administration and has not been conducted on a cross party basis. This begs the question as to what undue political influence may have been placed on the particular criteria which have been used and indeed the selection of the preferred sites. There is also some question as to why the same scoring system has not been used for each set of criteria, rather than subjectively giving weight to certain criteria.

Furthermore, the scoring for individual sites has not been carried out in accordance with the table shown at 4.1. A number of sites have been marked incorrectly, for example, site 661 has been scored at 5 for Greenbelt/MOL, when the score should be 6. This begs the question as to how many other inaccuracies are in the document.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

Adopted SP2 states that proposals for sites should meet the following criteria:

A. Should be available and deliverable;
B. Should have good access to essential services including health and education facilities and access to local shops;
C. Have good means of access from roads and be near bus routes and other transport nodes;
D. Not be located in areas of high flood risk; and
E. Should not have acceptable adverse impact on the biodiversity of the borough.

The site only meets Criteria D.

Pear Tree Farm is not suitable for a Gypsy and Traveller site based on the criteria set out in SP2.

| Object | DM32.2 755 | Residential access to essential services would be by car only as there are no tarmac footpaths to/from the site - a huge problem for mothers/adults and buggies. Site currently has potentially dangerous entrance/exit point which is close to a blind bend with a history of accidents - one fatal. Proposed location will have an unacceptable and adverse impact on the unique biodiversity of this area due to the Council's appalling reputation in managing and monitoring the current Pear Tree Farm operation. Any intentions on your part to effectively monitor and manage a travellers site will be met with a complete lack of confidence. Subsequent abuse of the site is inevitable. The cost of purchasing the land and effecting decontamination procedures to make it fit for human habitation is prohibitive - and this comes at a time when you announce £90 million budget cut since 2010. £7 million is a current estimate of securing and executing this proposal. This probably excludes additional costs which will be required for road and access improvements. Current (narrow) road access from Tandridge is totally unsuitable for HGV's and trailers - as is the stretch of Featherbed Lane at the 'pinch point' by Silverwood and Addington Court golf courses. Without private transport, residents will be hampered in accessing medical area/drop-in centres. The site is within both Croydon and Surrey health authorities. Gypsy and traveller sites are not appropriate in the green belt. In the preferred option it states that only part of its built form would be accommodated within the area of the original buildings - one could easily assume from this that there would be an increase in the number of buildings on the site which no amount of landscaping could conceal. Respondent also questions the | Change | The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. Croydon has very few green places that are actually loved and residents are proud of so they need to be left as they are or enhanced. The proposal to place travellers site is not acceptable. These sites are stated by the Council to be in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly: “Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”. Also these sites are far from schools and shops therefore not suitable for the proposed change of use.

The site should not be allocated as gypsy and traveller site.

- Coombe Lodge Nurseries off Conduit Lane, site 661
- Coombe Farm off Oaks Road, site 502
- Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage, Featherbed Lane, site 755

As all three sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b. Furthermore, Policy E of ‘Planning Policy for Traveller Sites’, published by the Government in August, states very clearly that ‘Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development’. The provision relating to travellers/gypsies in the Housing and Planning Bill will also remove sections 225 and 226 of the Housing Act 2004 which placed a duty on housing authorities to carry out an assessment of the accommodation needs of this group when reviewing housing conditions and needs within their areas (a process required by section 8 of the Housing Act 1985). DM32.2
Objects to all gypsy and traveller sites (as chairman of Campion Close Freeholders Limited and Parkland Management Company Limited which comprise 75 properties). The proposals conflict with Policy E 'Planning Policy for Traveller Sites' which states that temporary or permanent sites are inappropriate development in the green belt. What happens if the travelling community outgrow these sites? Surely the many industrial sites in the area would be more suitable, or Valley Park?

The proposals would clearly harm the green belt and would have a negative impact on the environment and wildlife in Coombe Wood, Shirley Hills and Lloyd Park some of which is a Site of Nature Conservation Interest and it would create a precedent for further erosion of our valuable local amenity.

Coombe Road and Coombe Lane are already very busy roads. These proposals would exacerbate this problem if significant road improvements were not carried out. These proposals would also exert pressure on local services that are already stretched. The junctions at Coombe Road, Oaks Road and Conduit Lane are already dangerous.

What social and economic benefits would a gypsy and travelling community bring to the existing local community in this area as well?

Change

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
I am writing to object to: The use of the following locations as traveller sites: Coombe Lodge Nurseries off Conduit Lane Site reference 661, Coombe Farm off Oaks Road Site reference 502, Pear Tree Farm Featherbed Lane 755. Because these sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b. To build so close to award winning gardens such as Coombe Gardens, Heathfield or a picturesque Wedding Venue such as Coombe Farm will be detrimental for the local businesses and residents. People from the wider area also enjoy these places. People travel from miles around - even by the coachload - to see these parks in Croydon. If they are built right up to with mobile homes or prefabs and other semi-permanent residences, they cannot fail to appear less attractive. With regard to homes for Travellers, I do not wish to stereotype any group in our society, but first-hand experience of travellers staying recently in Sunken Lane has shown that they do not respect our precious green areas in the same way as the Heathfield and Ballards Farm residents do. I visited Sunken Lane after their recent departure and saw a bathroom suite, mattresses and piles of other waste including dirty nappies and rubbish dumped in and around the beautiful Shirley Hills area. Pathways were blocked and cars could not turn in Sunken lane. Street lights in the local area had been broken so that this fly-tipping could not be filmed by CCTV. In the days before, my sons had felt intimidated when travelling home from school by the travellers’ children and had to call me to collect them by car from the Coombe Rd tram stop. I took the time to visit the Layhams Farm Traveller site so that I could make an informed opinion and I was greeted by dogs off leads and groups of men gathering as soon as I approached. They did not trouble me, but I was made to feel decidedly unwelcome. Outside of the area some of the teenagers were crouched in the road and were smashing the top off bottles and then sprinkling glass in the road where cars were passing. If the sites proposed are to be like this, then I would be very unhappy if the plans were to go ahead.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
The more specific site allocations represent a large reduction in the amount of designated and non-designated open space. While we acknowledge the need to build new homes and associated infrastructure such as schools, Croydon's growing population also needs quality open spaces for all the human amenity and ecosystem services which they provide.

This site still meets the criteria for inclusion within the green belt and therefore its allocation for a Gypsy and Traveller Site constitutes inappropriate development. Any proposals for development at this site must meet the NPPF, in that the existing footprint of buildings should not be exceeded. We are also concerned that the proposed development would lead to the relocation of the existing waste facility which must not lead to loss of green space elsewhere.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

Use of Pear Tree Farm & Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane as a gypsy/traveller site.

Is similar to standard rep 10 but includes mention of the need to relocate a scouts encampment in the vicinity and if the site was proposed and offered to the travellers and refused by them will this be the same as people on the council list get pushed to the bottom.

There is concern that sites that have been identified as locations for gypsies and travellers are considered inappropriate in green belt and constitute a dangerous precedent.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
I object to the use of any of these locations for the creation of Gypsy/Traveller sites. All three locations are within the Green Belt and one borders a site of Nature Conservation Interest. Such development is in breach of Policy Eat Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, which says that ‘Traveller Sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development’. All three sites are also a considerable distance from public services. I believe that the proposal to create three new Gypsy/Traveller sites now, and 39 by 2036 is excessive and will have an adverse effect on the borough. If the number of Gypsy/Traveller sites really needs to be increased by this amount then a more appropriate location would be around the existing site at Purley Way. The positioning of a Gypsy/Traveller site adjacent to the car park for Coombe Woods, between the Chateau Restaurant and the Hotel/restaurant, would probably deter me from using any of these attractions.

For the reasons given above:
1. I do not think that the preferred approach is the most appropriate for Croydon to help us meet our Strategic Objectives set out in Section 3.
2. The preferred approach is deliverable, but not acceptable.
3. I do not think the preferred approach enables sustainable development, because it will compromise the ability of future generations to meet their own needs.
4. I recommend that consultation documents of such importance are given much wider publicity.

I have restricted my objections to those plans that primarily affect the area of Shirley I which I live, but the same objections apply to other proposals in other parts of the borough.

DM32.2 755

We wish to object to the proposal Gypsy/Traveller site Ref 755 for the following reasons:

- Sustainability of the proposed site and the need for any such provision

The current proposals seem to have been produced in isolation from the other neighbouring Councils as the above clearly indicated that nearby councils such as Sevenoaks, Tandridge and Bromley have a higher demand. Proposals in the Housing and Planning Bill 2015-16 are to remove the statutory requirement on local authorities to assess the specific accommodation needs of Gypsy and Travellers - the emphasis being that when authorities are carrying out a review of housing need that it considers the needs of all the people residing in or resorting to their district, without any references to Gypsies or Traveller.

We hope that the Council will consider the needs of our neighbours and local services and businesses as weighty as those of the Gypsy and Traveller people. There is a lot of opposition to the proposed site from people currently residing in the district due to the threat of the Green Belt, increase traffic and increased pressure on local services.

The Assessment selection for the sites for Gypsies and Travellers scored lowly would have resulted in an acceptance that none of the sites are really particularly suitable and that the Council will need to liaise with other Councils if determined to make provision.

With regard to the sustainability of the sites, following on utilising the scoring assessment, we strongly object on a number of grounds:
- All sites lie within the Green Belt. This raises concerns about the impact on the Green Belt as a result of having to provide amenity blocks, communal facilities, safe play areas and areas for grazing horses.
- All three sites are unsuitable because they do not have good means to transport.
- Sites should have access to essential services including health and education facilities and access to local shops. None of the sites have good access to local schools (the nearest primary is over subscribed and the nearest post office is 1.7 miles away).

The document proposes the allocation of the above site for between 15 and 20 Traveller pitches. The site, as you will be aware, lies on the border of our two authorities. We recognise that this proposed allocation is of concern to nearby residents in Tandridge and therefore we ask that any comments from neighbouring communities are taken seriously, including those from Chelsham and Farleigh Parish Council. Whilst the site is within the Green Belt, we acknowledge that due to its current brownfield nature and screenining, it is possible that the redevelopment of the site would have a lesser or similar impact on the Green Belt than it does now.

It would have been beneficial had the Council, in its Sustainability Appraisal Report, been able to allow for an easy comparison of all of the potential allocations, including proposed Gypsy and Traveller sites. This would have been useful for those potentially affected by proposed allocations, including residents in Tandridge District, to understand why certain options had been prefered. Accordingly we would advise that efforts are made to present such information, in a simpler form, at the next stage of the plan making process.

At this stage we do not object to the aforementioned site being identified as a preferred option for allocation but do reserve the right to make alternative comments if further information is forthcoming as the plan progresses, or in response to detailed plans that would accompany any future planning application. We would advise that comments are sought from Surrey County Council, as Highways Authority for the area to the immediate south, in order to confirm that the site would not have an inappropriate impact on our local highway network.

The Council acknowledges that the site is in the Green Belt (and one of the sites borders an SNCI). The Planning Policy for Traveller Sites states that traveller sites in the Green Belt are inappropriate development. The Council's approach is clearly in breach of that policy. Brownfield or industrial land should have been proposed not green belt. Why does the Council need to quadruple the number of sites for gypsy and travellers. The intention may be to do away with illegal encampments but may instead mean the area becomes a hub for travellers.

Why were no appropriate sites suggested for Coulsdon? Opening sites at Coombe Lodge Nurseries and Coombe Farm will be detrimental to the amenities of adjoining owners. There is a lack of amenities close as hand. There are insufficient local infrastructure to accommodate the plans.

Other sites the council should reconsider instead of both Coombe Lodge Nurseries and Coombe Farm are:

- Expand existing permanent sites in Lathams Way off Beddington Farm Road
- Heath Clark playing fields, Stafford Rd, Waddon
- Timebridge Community Centre, Field Way, New Addington
- Land adjacent to 103 Goodeough Way, Old Coulsdon
- Wandle Road, car park, Wandle Rd, Croydon
- Land of former Croydon Airport runway, south of Imperial Way, Waddon
- Land adjacent to Ashburton playing fields at rear of 2-88 Colerdige Rd, Addiscombe
- By Pavilion Playing Fields, Purley Way
- Land south Of Threehalfpenny Woods, Kent Gate Way, Biddle Way
- Land west of Timebridge Community Centre, Lodge Lane, Elmside, Addington

Furthermore, Policy E of ‘Planning Policy for Traveller Sites’, published by the Government in August, states very clearly that ‘Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development’. The provision relating to travellers/gypsies in the Housing and Planning Bill will also remove sections 225 and 226 of the Housing Act 2004 which placed a duty on housing authorities to carry out an assessment of the accommodation needs of this group when reviewing housing conditions and needs within their areas (a process required by section 8 of the Housing Act 1985). Section 8 will also be amended to make it clear that the duty covers consideration of the needs of people residing in, or resorting to the district for, caravan sites and houseboat mooring sites.

I am also concerned by the evidence base for these selections, namely the ‘Assessment and Selection of Sites for Gypsy and Travellers’. This assessment contains a vast number of very subjective criteria against which to judge site suitability and has been the subject of ‘extensive political consultation’. This political consultation has only taken place with the Labour Administration and has not been conducted on a cross party basis. This begs the question as to what undue political influence may have been placed on the particular criteria which have been used and indeed the selection of the preferred sites. There is also some question as to why the same scoring system has not been used for each set of criteria, rather than subjectively giving weight to certain criteria. Furthermore, the scoring for individual sites has not been carried out in accordance with the table shown at 4.1. A number of sites have been marked incorrectly, for example, site 661 has been scored at 5 for Greenbelt/MOL, when the score should be -5. This begs the question as to how many other inaccuracies are in the document.

- Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane reference number 755;

As the Council acknowledges, these sites are in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly:

The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. All three sites are also some distance from public services and they are all in the same part of the borough (two are in Heathfield ward, one just over the border in Croham). Why has Heathfield been singled out in this way? If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough – which I would question – they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is);

Object: Pear Tree & Pear Tree Farm Cottage, Featherbed Lane, Addington:
- Detrimental to the amenities of adjoining owners.
- Inappropriate use of green belt land.
- Site that are located on green belt, considered to be inappropriate development for traveller sites (temporary or permanent) and against Government Policy (Planning policy for Traveller Sites DCLG, August 2015).
- Lack of relevant amenities close to hand.
- Insufficient Local Infrastructure to accommodate plans.
- Selection of proposed site should have bias towards brownfield or industrial land not green belt.
- Why are two sites in very close proximity to one another being proposed.
- Imbalance across the borough with all sites being proposed in the south of Croydon.
- Why not expand the existing permanent gypsy site in Lathams Way off Beddington Farm Road.
- If one has to select one of the proposed sites, the preference is for Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage, Featherbed Lane.

Other sites that the Council should reconsider instead of both Coombe Lodge Nurseries and Coombe Farm are the following.

- 16 Heath Clark playing fields, Stafford Road, Waddon
- 120 Timerge Bridge Community Centre Field Way, New Addington
- 518 Land adjacent to 103 Goodenough Way, The Admirals Walk, Old Coulsdon

Our client is deeply concerned about the manner in which the Evidence for the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies and Proposals (Preferred and Alternative Options) (“the Evidence Paper”) has been prepared. The scoring assessment applied by the Council is reductionist and disregards the wider context (for example outreach programme and supports) within which sites sit. Without that appreciation we do not consider that the Evidence Paper adequately supports the Council’s Strategic Objectives. The Evidence Paper identifies four “absolutes” for the initial screening. In the absence of any justification and evidence backed rationale behind these “absolutes” we are left to conclude that there is none. A site should be available and deliverable. We consider that to be an appropriate test in determining the suitability of a site for development. There is little explanation as to what factors the Council has taken into account for the purposes of scoring whether a site is deliverable—particularly over a 20 year period. No consideration is given to the use of CPO powers where a site for example could be suitable save for possible issues over deliverability. The use of CPO powers should be a consideration for the purposes of deliverability.

The existence of contamination cannot be considered in isolation. There does not appear to be any detailed analysis of whether the extent of contamination on some sites, and the costs of remediating that contamination, would render that site undeliverable in the plan period. A failure to acknowledge the need for sites to be located in proximity of public transport services does not support the principle of sustainable development.

In adopting this flawed approach the Council have failed to consider the contribution that smaller sites could make in delivering sites for gypsy and traveller communities. As a result, the initial screening process was biased towards larger sites despite the evidence base showing that such sites were not supported by the gypsy and traveller community. As a result, the Council has not properly considered if there are exceptional circumstances which justify any of the identified Green Belt sites coming forward for use as traveller sites.

To ensure transparency in the planning process the same tests should be applied to allocated sites and windfall sites.

For the reasons detailed above, the assessment proceeded from an erroneous starting point of “absolute” requirements that were neither justified nor supported by the Council’s existing gypsy and traveller policy. The Evidence Paper is lacking in detail, and the scoring criteria overly simplistic. As a result, the evidence put forward by the Council is lacking in transparency and is an unsound base for policy making.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

Having previously worked with gypsies and travellers on established sites in other boroughs, I agree in principle to Croydon meeting their obligations to provide sites and if these are properly managed they can benefit all residents as the travellers have a legal space and proper services and should not have recourse to encamp on public or private land and leave a substantial mess. However, I have concerns about the proposed site at Pear Tree Farm, Featherbed Lane, Addington. It would be situated in land designated Green Belt, with no local amenities, no public transport, shops, healthcare etc. which are all 1.6 miles away. Also in Appendix 1, Page 192 it states “Gypsy and Traveller pitches are initially considered in the same way as a site for housing as in planning terms it is the same use of land.” Therefore, surely if new houses would not be permitted on Green Belt, then a Gypsy/Traveller site should be treated in the same way. Is isolation and segregation the best way forward for a minority group?

Support

I write in strong SUPPORT for the proposed development of Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Cottage as an additional travellers site. Living on Forestdale I am well aware of the nature of the local area and know this to be effectively an industrial site with no visual amenity value, green belt in name only. There has long been an obvious shortage of facilities for travellers in this area and I can think of no better location locally for such a facility.

I have similar concerns about the proposed use of Pear Tree Farm (Table 11.5, reference 755, page 134) for a gypsy and traveller site. There is a substantial risk of major environmental damage to the surrounding area, both within Croydon and in the adjoining council area. It would also pose a risk for the scouting centre and golf courses in the area.

Object

I strongly object to the Council proposal for this very inappropriate traveller site at Pear Tree Farm on Featherbed Lane. My reasons are:

1. The consultation period is simply not long enough nor appropriate or in-depth given the vast impact this will have on thousands of us living in the community.
2. The site entrance is extremely hazardous and totally unsuitable for this proposal and the extra traffic will generate. It will cause accidents, delays and then cost millions to change the local road structure.
3. The council money wasted on this project is considerably disproportionate to any benefits for such a small number of families and is not good value - they could be housed for 1% of the money proposed.
4. The site is in a designated Green Belt area and so must not be developed. You could build a small site on your local Jubilee Gardens for a fraction of the cost and then the travellers will be close to shops and public transport and you could deal with any anti-social behavior easily as the policy station is close by.

Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane as a location for a gypsy/traveller site with 15-20 pitches

I am strongly opposed to this proposal as it is a completely unsuitable area. As well as going against government guidelines that traveller sites should not be built on Green Belt land, I object to the building of permanent traveller sites. Local residents' money should not be going on providing services in this area. This is a group of people who chose to live outside of convention and have a proven record of paying extremely little in to central funds, those funds should not therefore be used to subsidise their chosen way of life. The area highlighted is close to where travellers turned up in the last year (the field opposite Courtwood Lane) and local residents had them removed within 48 hours. They had broken in and in a very short space of time covered the area in filth, used nappies being one example. This is not the sort of people who should be having areas turned over to them by our council using funds acquired from local residents.

This is wholly against the wishes of the local community whom I speak on behalf of with reference to the NPPF which makes it entirely clear that the fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open. It is absolutely against national planning policy for Croydon Council to ignore this fundamental aim. Forcefully imposing a traveller's site on designated Green Belt land which is also ancient woodland and private property is wholly unacceptable and unsupported. The Council's own Local Plan Policies Map designates that land as a 'Site of Nature Conservation Importance' and a 'Local Nature Reserve' which affords the land here with absolute policy protection against this proposed use. Further to this, the Council's own adopted Supplementary Planning Guidance No.5 'Nature Conservation' acknowledges that maintaining a variety of species and plants is one of the most important goals of sustainable development. The proposed use of Pear Tree Farm is wholly against the sustainability and biodiversity goals. Save for criteria D (flood risk) the site fails on all of the policy criteria for which site must comply in order to be suitable to accommodate a traveller/gypsy community as set out SP2. Under appendix 2 the Council has stated where the deliverable is to provide 10 new pitches for Gypsy and Travellers that the Council will work with Registered Providers and public sector landowners in Croydon to identify other potential for new pitches. This is clearly not the approach being taken where private landowners are under threat from Purchase, fully against their wishes and interests. The proposed use would also considerable impact upon the amenity currently enjoyed by local residents in the vicinity of Pear Tree Farm and upon this section of country lanes whereby the additional vehicular journeys would cause considerable impact. The suggestion is that the Council identifies far more suitable land for Gypsy and Traveller accommodation at sites along the Purley Way, which is far more suitable as an urbanised area to meet this need.

I object to this proposal on the following grounds:

3.1 Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage are Green Belt Land. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly that "Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development". Previous use does not mitigate against this policy.

All of the three preferred sites are on Green Belt Land, contrary to Government Policy.

The close proximity of the proposed sites to one another has not been taken into account. All three sites are proposed for a small area in the South of the Borough when there seems to be a successful site in Purley Way which could be expanded.

None of the three sites proposed has good access to schools, shops and other services. The consequent need for private transport goes against environment and climate initiatives. Government Guidelines ask that local planning authorities policies ensure that children can attend school on a regular basis. These three sites are well away from schools, particularly primary schools, and clearly do not reflect the aims of the Guidelines or facilitate regular school attendance.

The proposed plan does not take into account the need for good access to roads. The Croydon Local Plan paragraph 4.19 refers to the need for good access to roads. "Oaks Road, Coombe Road, Conduit Lane and Featherbed Lane are unsuitable for safe increased movement and manoeuvring of larger vehicles, especially entering and exiting these sites.

The number of Gypsy/Traveller sites in Croydon is to increase from 1 to 4, when our recent experience locally is of travellers responsible for damage, parking illegally, leaving piles of rubbish behind when they are moved on and even engaged in firearms confrontation with the police.

Change

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
I am emailing to object to the proposed travellers sites to be built in the Shirley/Croydon/South Croydon areas.

There are numerous reasons for my objections.
1. This is green belt land and should remain as such. We are lucky to have local green areas that I have enjoyed since my childhood and that my own family benefit from now. Green belt land is not appropriate for any form of dwelling. We need to preserve what we have in the area. Travellers are know to leave there mess around them, this is not what we want on our green belt land
2. There are insufficient local school places as it is. The children (including my own) in the area will be adversely affected by in influx of travellers who normally have large extended families
3. Travellers cause trouble, my son was set upon by a group of travellers in Lloyd's Park recently and we now avoid this area when the travellers are illegally staying there. I would like my children to be able to use the local parks and amenities without worrying about people who regularly do not abide by the law of the land.
4. My elderly parents who live in the Shirley Hills area are vulnerable victims of crime as it is. Do we really need to add to their fears by making the area less safe with a group of people who generally have no regard for the law
5. Crime rates in Croydon are up as it is. Do we really need more residents for our already overstretched police force to watch over
6. And finally, the clue is in the name. These people are travellers and therefore travel, meaning there is no need for a permanent dwelling for them

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

The use of Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane as a location for a Gypsy/traveller site. (reference number 755). You know that this is Greenbelt Land. It is not appropriate for a site to be placed there particularly as you are planning to make it larger in the future and it has no local amenities close by; No transport links and already there is a vast amount of fly tipping in that area, which is a site of natural beauty with a scout camp nearby. Look at Policy E of planning policy for traveller sites published by the government which states that it is inappropriate development whether temporary or permanent. In all these areas I believe you should be looking at brownfield sites and not greenbelt, let us protect the little greenbelt we have left.

<td>Gypsy / Traveller sites in Featherbed Lane and off Coombe Road / Conduit Lane / Oaks Lane - These areas are Green Belt so why would the Council consider these suitable for such developments when this contravenes the current legislation? Additionally, the areas currently have considerable residential and community leisure activities and facilities, so again why would the Council be wanting to destroy the environment to create these Gypsy/Traveller sites for persons of no fixed abode and who are temporary residents to the borough only. It strikes me that this is an imbalance of priorities over the current fixed residents of Croydon and a set of proposals that I object to most strongly.</td>

<td>I am emailing to object to a number of the proposals. My parents live in Forestside so are close to Addington and Shirley and I worry for them if there are more gypsy sites located in the area. My son was involved in a road traffic incident with a traveller from the Layhams Farm site, the traveller caused the accident by pulling out of the road next to the site in front of my son's oncoming right of way car, he then jumped out of his car and ran from the scene and the police were too frightened to enter the site. My view of the police has been very jaded since this incident. My son could have been killed in this crash. If the police are too frightened to patrol these sites,these people are above the law. I definitely do not want to see more sites in or around my local area, I feel very strongly about this. I basically do not agree with many of the plans listed in Gavins email. I do agree we need more housing but that is mainly because too many people are being let into the country in the first place, housing them all is not the answer as other amenities will not be able to cope even if we build more houses.</td>

I live on the Forestdale Estate and thankfully our management committee via Gavin have advised us of the Council's plans to build three gypsy/traveller sites in the Green Belt. I totally agree with Gavin that these plans will completely change the character of parts of the borough, including where I live. As resident of Croydon and employee of Croydon Council I completely understand the need for more housing and I am looking forward to the regeneration taking place in the town centre over the next few years. However one of the reasons I love Croydon and continue to defend its negative reputation is the mix of 'city' feel and countryside. If the Council continue with these plans you will effect the character of the area and you will ultimately fail in your efforts to change peoples perception of Croydon.

I attended the open meeting on Wed 25th in Selsdon and wish to express my concern over the 3 proposed travellers sites. Whilst I understand the council have to provide these I have to ask why are they all within a few miles of each other and all south of the borough? If you could address these proximity issues I would be pleased to hear why they cannot be more evenly spread and assume the plans will improve assess to them.

If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough - which I would question - they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is).

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

I appreciate that we all need somewhere to live. However, I have had severe problems with gypsies in the past (criminal damage with police involved and, separately quite a lot of fly tipping. As the 3 areas are generally quite attractive, I am loath to have them destroying the ambiance: they certainly have a reputation for doing so (and of not paying Council tax, so I have been told recently).

Conduit Lane, near the award winning Coombe Woods would be too busy for others to park and enjoy the amenity, albeit the site is away from Coombe Road. The school would also create traffic in the Lane and on the very busy Coombe Road at specific times but, maybe, this would be a pleasant site for the children. Similarly, the site in Oaks Road would be spoilt.

Coming to Featherbed Lane: sadly, the place is already an eyesore. If planning permission carries with it a responsibility to improve the look of the place from Featherbed Lane, great. However, I doubt it can: What is needed here is a tidy up, not an increase in the mess. I suspect the Council has a duty to provide a site. If so, Featherbed Lane
I am writing to object to the use of the following locations as gypsy and traveller sites: Coombe Lodge Nurseries off Conduit Lane, site reference 661; Coombe Farm off Oaks Road, site reference 502; as both sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b;

I additionally comment that:
- The proposals are detrimental to the Amenities of Adjoining Owners.
- Development is on Green Belt and would therefore require a change of land use.
- The proposed Sites should be on Brownfield or Industrial Land not Green Belt.
- There is an imbalance, with all sites being proposed in the South of Croydon.
- Existing sites could should be expanded.

If a new site is to be developed for the travelling community, I would express a preference is for Pear Tree Farm & Pear Tree Farm Cottage, Featherbed Lane. This already virtually developed to the point where there would be no further detriment if the site were to be developed.

However, there is no proposal as to where the existing activity would be relocated to.

The Pear Tree Cottage/Farm site, provides ample space for all or most to the 39 additional pitches. Any remaining pitches could be located at other brownfield sites within the borough.

If the nurseries site is to be redeveloped, it would be far better for this to be used for the relocation of a school, thus freeing up land elsewhere in the borough for housing.

The travelling community are by definition mobile whereas the proposed development(s) are permanent and in built form. This is contradictory and may suggest that the council is considering further redevelopment at some future point. If so, the council should either be open about this or unequivocally deny it.

I live in crofters mead forestdale and cannot see any benefits to the areas mentioned in the above proposals. I am sure it would be better to refurbish existing properties in the area concerned and create more green areas for residents and their children to enjoy. create more sensible car parking areas people will buy cars regardless of not having a parking space and simply park in and existing space thus creating a problem for somebody else. Transport for London have already created a problem by there introduction of double yellow lines witch in some areas are not required.why anybody would want to create a traveller camp at pear tree farm is beyond me surely a nice new housing complex would be more suitable. Forestdale and surrounding area is a very nice place to live and I cannot see any improvement to the area in your proposals. i understand that these proposals are inappropriate and unacceptable these are my views on the matter.

Particularly of concern are the recommendations regarding Forestdale which is the area which I live and grew up in. I am writing in order to object to the use of Green Land, especially in and around Croydon, for use as any kind of residential use, or any other kind of development for that matter. Such new developments, for Travellers or any kind of development, would be better made on non-green land, or in any suitable properties which are currently unused. Green land should be cherished and preserved because it takes a long time to become like that and there is less and less of it these days. The only real exception to that rule might be playgrounds for kids; but, even then, sensitivity to wild life, habitats and a location's general "greenness" should always be employed.

Please be advised that I would like to enter an objection to Croydon Council’s plans to de designate several land spaces in order to enable the positioning of three gypsy/traveller sites in the green belt and also the development of homes on some of the green spaces. The proposed locations for traveller sites brings great concern as to what impact this will have on the area as the locations are not really close to any public services. I believe there is also some question about whether the areas being proposed for the traveller sites can be used for this purpose due to a Government policy that states traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development. As a resident of Shirley for the past 7 years I would be extremely disappointed to see any of these proposed developments come to fruition. Whilst I welcome the development of new homes I think Croydon Council should look for alternative locations instead of green land. I do hope to hear from your office in due course as to what the future may hold for our lovely green spaces that provide fresh air and outdoor enjoyment for our family and many others.

The purpose of Green Belt legislation has always been to preserve areas of amenity land for the benefit of local people, and other potential users, against any form of building development. I therefore consider it totally unacceptable, indeed absolutely incredible, that the Council would even consider designating areas of the Green Belt for potential gypsy/traveller sites as the Plan proposes for Coombe Farm, Coombe Lodge Nurseries and 2 sites on Featherbed Lane. The Coombe Lodge Nurseries site is especially inappropriate as it is very adjacent to Coombe Gardens, an important local amenity, and to the land along Conduit Land that has strong conservation value.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

This area has apparently been identified as a location for a Traveller Site with up to 20 pitches. This is objectionable because the area is within the Green Belt. Now the Government planning policy for Traveller Sites specifically identifies such sites in the Green Belt, be they temporary or permanent, as being “inappropriate development”. This means that the Council’s intention here is in clear breach of that policy. As the Featherbed Lane site is somewhat remote from public services, it seems far more logical that if additional Traveller pitches are really necessary, then the focus should be in the area off Purley Way where the existing Traveller Site is located.

All three sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b. Furthermore, Policy E of ‘Planning Policy for Traveller Sites’, published by the Government in August, states very clearly that ‘Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development’. The provision relating to travellers/gypsies in the Housing and Planning Bill will also remove sections 225 and 226 of the Housing Act 2004 which placed a duty on housing authorities to carry out an assessment of the accommodation needs of this group when reviewing housing conditions and needs within their areas (a process required by section 8 of the Housing Act 1985). Section 8 will also be amended to make it clear that the duty covers consideration of the needs of people residing in, or resorting to the district for, caravan sites and houseboat mooring sites.

I am also concerned by the evidence base for these selections, namely the ‘Assessment and Selection of Sites for Gypsy and Travellers’. This assessment contains a vast number of very subjective criteria against which to judge site suitability and has been the subject of ‘extensive political consultation’. This political consultation has only taken place with the Labour Administration and has not been conducted on a cross party basis. This begs the question as to what undue political influence may have been placed on the particular criteria which have been used and indeed the selection of the preferred sites. There is also some question as to why the same scoring system has not been used for each set of criteria, rather than subjectively giving weight to certain criteria. Furthermore, the scoring for individual sites has not been carried out in accordance with the table shown at 4.1. A number of sites have been marked incorrectly, for example, site 661 has been scored at 5 for Greenbelt/MOL, when the score should be -5. This begs the question as to how many other inaccuracies are in the document.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

We object to the use of the following locations in Green Belt areas as travellers/gypsy sites: Coombe Farm off Oaks Road (15-20 pitches); Coombe Lodge Nurseries off Conduit Lane (15-20 pitches); Pear Tree Farm on Featherbed Lane (15-20 pitches). National guidelines clearly state “Travellers Sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”. The Council’s proposals, therefore, clearly breach such guidelines. Also, we question the Council’s assertion that it needs to quadruple the number of travellers/gypsy sites in the Borough. Apart from this major objection, the above sites identified for such use would have poor access via narrow roads/lanes for large vehicles; consequent impact upon local traffic congestion with movements of large vehicles; no safe paved walking routes to schools, shops, doctors, etc.; additional requirement for services and facilities for hygienic occupation; increased pressure on local schools, medical facilities, waste disposal, etc.; impact upon local facilities and amenities of current residents.

The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. All three sites are also some distance from public services and they are all in the same part of the borough (two are in Heathfield ward, one just over the border in Croham). Why has Heathfield been singled out in this way? Mr & Mrs Shaw-Smith

We strongly object to the disturbing proposals of Croydon Council to quadruple the area of gypsy sites in the Croydon area, in particular to sites regarding Reference numbers 502, 661 and 755. Green Belt areas are invaluable and should be protected as per previous acknowledgements (c.f. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August).

Also Croydon already has a bigger than average share of "problematic and challenging" social make-up than the rest of the country, and as such quadrupling gypsy sites in the borough seems a gross overreaction to pressure to "meet targets". Policies and planning should focus on the development of an area rather than on enforcing undesirable land uses on the existing hard working population.

Existing traveller sites are appalling examples of living conditions, and building small blocks of flats in current sites could house a number of travellers either living there already or wishing to move to the borough.

I have heard of Croydon Council's proposals for Traveller sites within the borough. I understand that "favoured sites" are Conduit Lane, Coombe Farm and Featherbed Lane.

As a resident of Croydon, I am extremely concerned that this green belt area is being considered for use as residence. Addington hills and Coombe woods are an area of outstanding beauty and home to the largest area of heathland in London. Locating Traveller's encampments sites right on the doorstep of this green belt area would undoubtedly have dire consequences for flora, fauna, the natural habitat and wildlife as a whole, leading to irreversible damage. Please could Croydon Council reconsider this issue and please consider not going ahead with this proposal. The consequences to the natural environment and the delicate socio-ecological balance that currently exists would be damaged permanently with travellers' communities housed in a wildlife locality. There are better options to house people in Croydon and right in the middle of a green belt area which the residents of Croydon hold a lot of regard and pride for is not one of them. I would strongly advocate considering urban areas of the borough which are fit for housing - such proposals must not be made or favoured without a thorough ecological and environmental impact assessment and evaluation. I am very concerned with this proposal also because Croydon Council is meant to work in partnership with the British Trust for Conservation (BTCV) and a regional office is located on the woodland premises. Scrapping this proposal is the right thing to do and the right thing for Croydon.
Object

I am writing to object to the use of the following locations as gypsy and traveller sites: Coombe Farm off Oaks Road, site reference 502.

My objection is based on the fact that the use of both sites for such a purpose would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b.

To summarise my objections to the location of traveller sites at either (or both) Conduit Lane and/or Coombe Farm, these would be that:

• they would be detrimental to the amenities of adjoining owners
• it would constitute inappropriate use of Green Belt Land
• sites that are located on the Green Belt, considered to be inappropriate development for Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) would be against Government Policy ("Planning policy for Traveller Sites", DCLG, August 2015)
• there would be a lack of relevant amenities close at hand
• there would be insufficient local infrastructure to accommodate the plans
• the selection of proposed sites should have a bias towards 'brownfield' or industrial land, not Green Belt

I would also ask:

• Why are the two sites in very close proximity to one another being proposed?
• What is the rationale for creating an imbalance across the borough with all sites being proposed in the South of Croydon?
• Why not expand the existing Permanent Gypsy Site in Latham’s Way off Beddington Farm Road?
• If one has to select one of the proposed sites, the preference is for Pear Tree Farm & Pear Tree Farm Cottage, Featherbed Lane.

Object  DM32.2 755
As a local affected resident, I am registering my comments and objections to the proposals as documented in the Croydon Local Plans CLP1.1 and CLP2.

Policy DM43 Creation of Gypsy/Traveller sites at Coombe Farm, off Oaks Road, Coombe Lodge Nurseries, off Conduit Lane and Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Cottage, Featherbed Lane
As a local affected resident, I am registering my comments and objections to the proposals as documented in the Croydon Local Plans CLP1.1 and CLP2.

Policy DM43, reference Site 502 Coombe Farm reference Site 691 Coombe Lodge Nurseries and reference Site 755 Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Cottage. I object to the use of any of these locations for the creation of Gypsy/Traveller sites. All three locations are within the Green Belt and Coombe Farm is on a site of an Archaeological Priority Zone and contains an area of Nature Conservation Importance. Such development is in breach of Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, which says that “Traveller Sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”. All three sites are also a considerable distance from public services. I believe that the proposal to create three new Gypsy/Traveller sites by 2017, and 39 by 2036 is extremely excessive and will have a significant adverse impact on the borough.
I wish to voice my concerns regarding the following:

I totally object to any reduction of green space in the borough of Croydon in favour of development. I agree wholeheartedly with Garvin Barwell MP and wish to oppose any such plans. In particular, the idea of a travellers site at the suggested sites is preposterous.

There have been problems in this borough with ‘travellers’ for many years. To the extent that defences, barriers built up grass mounds, have been created to keep out such illegal encampments. Whilst what the Council are proposing is to legalise such sites, I have witnessed the conditions these area have been left in when travellers have moved on, piles of rubbish including human waste and damaged the area! This has been a massive expense to the council over the years. Areas around Coombe Gardens and Lloyd park are much loved and used recreational areas for the people of Croydon and surrounding areas. A gypsy encampment would be a disaster!!

If there is an obligation for the council to provide facilities for travellers, any such area should be very carefully assessed and considered, taking into account all the attributes of the area and how such a camp would affect it. In this instance the suggested areas are totally inappropriate.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

And finally, I am also concerned about some of the proposals for Forestdale and Addington. The draft Local Plan identifies Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottages on Featherbed Lane as a location for a gypsy/travellers site with 15-20 pitches Ref No 755. I will be objecting to this. The Council acknowledges that this site is in the Green Belt!!

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

It is not a suitable location for travellers due to the high cost of buying it and making the site fit for permanent residency. The council would also need to find another waste site which currently exists on the site. The other key objection is that it is a Metropolitan green belt and surrounded by ancient woodland. I grew up living along featherbed lane and now live in Tandridge which borders the proposed site.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
I have been a Croydon resident for many years (over 47), and have watched Croydon wax and wane. In all those years, Croydon has often been regarded as rather down at heel and a bit of a joke; it has been misrepresented in the media too many times in my view. Croydon remains a vital communications hub, which seems only recently to have been recognised. Given all the development in and around East Croydon station, your plan for these improvements is beginning to take shape. As we all know, London Victoria in 20 minutes, London Bridge in 20 minutes; not to mention the east/west Tramlink which has become so popular that TfL decided to grab it! Croydon’s communications should be more widely acknowledged. You were elected on a ticket to not only improve Croydon for ALL its residents but also to preserve its assets such as the green belt and areas of special scientific interest. Imagine my dismay and great disappointment when I discovered in your proposal that you considered it perfectly legitimate to build on green belt – absolutely at odds with your manifesto. AND that you are prepared to ignore your promises in preserving Croydon’s assets to the very people who elected you. How can the electorate trust you in the future, especially at the next council election, if you blatantly disregard your election pledges and set about to destroy the green spaces enjoyed by many of Croydon’s residents? All green belt is part of Croydon’s assets, it represents the lungs of Croydon, benefitting all and in many cases providing a haven for migratory birds as they stop-over en route and indeed other wild life whose habitat is likely to be destroyed/diminished if the green belt is built on. Altering the status of green belt or areas of special scientific interest enabling it to be built on does NOT alter the fact that once built on it will never revert to green belt and therefore will be lost (to Croydon and its electorate), forever. I would urge you to reconsider your proposals to destroy part of the green belt and to maintain the status of the open spaces as is. Croydon occupies a vast area and I am certain you could find suitable alternatives for the travellers which met their needs of access to public transport and retail amenities without destroying the green belt or areas of special scientific interest if you tried hard enough. I am sure you are aware that Government policy states “Traveller sites temporary or permanent in the Greenbelt are

I object to the use of Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane as a location for a gypsy/traveller site (reference number 755). This area is indeed a mess at the moment, but whose fault is that. You already have sites in Croydon and plenty of brown field sites not used even one near where the site off the Purley Way already exists. It is noted that many sites appear to be placed on the edge of boroughs as is the case with Layhams Road, but why here?

I write to you with regards to the proposed Traveller site's at Coombe Lodge Nurseries/Coombe Farm & Pear Tree Farm, Featherbed Lane. I was shocked and surprised to find out these sites are being proposed, can this really the vision of Croydon we want to promote? I have had the pleasure of travellers parking up in the park opposite where I live on Shirley Church Road and I can assure you the rubbish, destruction and human feces left were frankly disgusting. I appreciate sites have to be made available but why in such densely populated areas like Croydon? I know fellow local residents will be very upset and apprehensive regarding the safety of their property with a site so close.

Objecting to the use of either of these locations as gypsy/traveller sites. As the Council acknowledges, they are both in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly:

Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development.

The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. Both sites are also some distance from public services.

If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough - which I would question - they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is).

I am writing to formally object to the use of the following locations as gypsy/traveller sites: Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane reference number 755. As the Council acknowledges, all three of these sites are in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. All three sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b. I am concerned that all three sites are also some considerable walking distance away from GP practices, shops, schools, public transport and other local services which would be contrary to the Council’s Health and Wellbeing Strategy.

Furthermore, Policy E of ‘Planning Policy for Traveller Sites’, published by the Government in August, states very clearly that ‘Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development’. The provision relating to travellers/gypsies in the Housing and Planning Bill will also remove sections 225 and 226 of the Housing Act 2004 which placed a duty on housing authorities to carry out an assessment of the accommodation needs of this group when reviewing housing conditions and needs within their areas (a process required by section 8 of the Housing Act 1985). Section 8 will also be amended to make it clear that the duty covers consideration of the needs of people residing in, or resorting to the district for, caravan sites and houseboat mooring sites.

I am also concerned by the evidence base for these selections, namely the ‘Assessment and Selection of Sites for Gypsy and Travellers’. This assessment contains a vast number of very subjective criteria against which to judge site suitability and has been the subject of ‘extensive political consultation’. This political consultation has only taken place with the Labour Administration and has not been conducted on a cross party basis. This begs the question as to what undue political influence may have been placed on the particular criteria which have been used and indeed the selection of the preferred sites. There is also some question as to why the same scoring system has not been used for each set of criteria, rather than subjectively giving weight to certain criteria. Furthermore, the scoring for individual sites has not been carried out in accordance with the table shown at 4.1. A number of sites have been marked incorrectly, for example, site 661 has been scored at 5 for Greenbelt/MOL, when the score should be -5. This begs the question as to how many other inaccuracies are in the document.

My decision was made because Brockscroft is a well managed estate with plenty of green spaces. When I brought the house, took on board that strict covenants were in place and that a management charge was in required to cover the cost of our lighting, gardening, upkeep of the roads and other maintenance issues. From time to time we have had problems from ill disciplined youths on quad bikes and misbehaving in the adjoining playground but I feel allowing travellers onto the site off Featherbed Lane. I suggest that establishing a travellers site on Featherbed Lane should be dropped.</td>

I would just like to express my concern about Croydon Council's plans to build in these three Green Belt areas. I understand and appreciate the need for more homes across the borough but could you, again, consider using all the empty homes and office spaces instead of filling up beautiful and plentiful land?

Mr Tim Duce

I strongly object to the building of gypsy traveller sites on Green Belt, especially as one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly: "Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development". Nature Conservation is indeed a very low priority to the travellers that I have seen. I voluntarily clear up the dumping at Addington Hills and have witnessed the appalling environmental destruction wreaked by visiting travellers. Cleaning up after their visits is a very costly exercise, so putting travellers close by a Conservation Site would be extremely foolhardy. Over the next few years, it would cost council tax payers a fortune.

I am objecting the the proposed sites - Coombe Lodge Nurseries, Coombe Farm, Pear Tree Farm - on the following grounds:

It is an inappropriate use of Green Belt land and the proposals are contrary to the Government policy (Policy E of the Planning Policy for Traveller sites) which states that "Traveller Sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development"

Selection of proposed sites should have a bias towards Brownfield or Industrial land not Green Belt

There is a lack of relevant amenities close at hand

There is a lack of local infrastructure to accommodate the plans and additional traffic

All the proposed sites are in the south of the borough with two being very close together

There is already an existing permanent site in Lathams Way which could be expanded

I understand that there is a great need for housing in the Croydon area and that the number of homeless people in Croydon is high. However, I need assurance that in providing this need we do not destroy our few remaining green spaces as these are vital to the well-being of our environment and people’s health. When I received the information about these proposals from my MP and local residents' association I had been away from home and so have not studied these plans in depth. However, with the information I have I cannot visualize how these proposals would work without destroying the character of the Shirley area and the destruction of our few remaining green areas. In order for me to agree to these proposals I would not only require the assurance that these environmental issues were taken into account but the homes that are planned for were affordable to those who are in need of a home, and that they were of good quality, energy efficient homes. Finally, having lived in Shirley for many years I have seen the increase in traffic which has brought about an increase in air pollution which is detrimental to our health. This is another important factor that has to be borne in mind when increasing the density of the population of the area.</td>

Ms K Kendall

I am writing to object to the following proposals in the Croydon Local Plan.

1. The use of Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage as a location for a traveller site. (ref 755). This is green belt land and the Government has said very clearly that green belt land should not be used for traveller sites as this is inappropriate development. There must be non green belt sites available for this purpose in Croydon. Once you start developing the green belt, where will you stop? I also find it disingenuous that you give no indication of the number of pitches at any of the three sites you are proposing for travellers.

Mr & Mrs Nicholls

I would like to place on record our objection to the part of the draft Local Plan that identifies Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane as a location for a Traveller site with 15-20 pitches (pages 188-189 Changes to the Policies Map arising from proposals contained within the Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies Partial Review and the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies & Proposals, reference number 755). Our objection is on the same basis that is being made by our MP Gavin Barwell, that this area is in the Green Belt and would be in breach of Government policy that states that Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development.

Jenny Greenland

I object to the use of either of the two sites in the Shirley locations or Forrestate as gypsy/traveller sites. As the Council acknowledges, they are in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly: “Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”. The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. Both sites are also some distance from public services. If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is).
The Government formerly set out its policies and principles towards green belts in England and Wales in Planning Policy Guidance Note 2: Green Belts, but this planning guidance was superseded by the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) in March 2012. Planning Authorities are strongly urged to follow the NPPF’s detailed advice when considering whether to permit additional development in the green belt. In the green belt there is a general presumption against inappropriate development, unless very special circumstances can be demonstrated to show that the benefits of the development will outweigh the harm caused to the green belt. The NPPF sets out what would constitute appropriate development in the green belt. According to the NPPF, there are five stated purposes of including land within the green belt:
• To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas
• To prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another
• To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
• To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
• To assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

Once an area of land has been defined as green belt, the stated opportunities and benefits include:
• Providing opportunities for access to the open countryside for the urban population
• Providing opportunities for outdoor sport and outdoor recreation near urban areas
• The retention of attractive landscapes and the enhancement of landscapes, near to where people live
• Improvement of damaged and derelict land around towns
• The securing of nature conservation interests
• The retention of land in agricultural, forestry and related uses.

This is a totally preposterous proposition and I am quite frankly astonished that such a ludicrous idea has been proposed.
Objecting to the use of either of these locations as gypsy/traveller sites. As the Council acknowledges, they are both in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly: Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development.

Policy E of ‘Planning Policy for Traveller Sites’, published by the Government in August, states very clearly that ‘Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development’. The provision relating to travellers/gypsies in the Housing and Planning Bill will also remove sections 225 and 226 of the Housing Act 2004 which placed a duty on housing authorities to carry out an assessment of the accommodation needs of this group when reviewing housing conditions and needs within their areas (a process required by section 8 of the Housing Act 1985). Section 8 will also be amended to make it clear that the duty covers consideration of the needs of people residing in, or resorting to the district for, caravan sites and houseboat mooring sites.

This assessment contains a vast number of very subjective criteria against which to judge site suitability and has been the subject of 'extensive political...consultation'. This political consultation has only taken place with the Labour Administration and has not been conducted on a cross party basis. This begs the question as to what undue political influence may have been placed on the particular criteria which have been used and indeed the selection of the preferred sites. There is also some question as to why the same scoring system has not been used for each set of criteria, rather than subjectively giving weight to certain criteria. Furthermore, the scoring for individual sites has not been carried out in accordance with the table shown at 4.1. A number of sites have been marked incorrectly, for example, site 661 has been scored at 5 for Greenbelt/MOL, when the score should be -5. This begs the question as to how many other inaccuracies are in the document.

Change

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

I am writing my objections development on the following sites as a resident as well as in my capacity as Warden of Croydon Ecology Centre. The sites are in areas that are essential foraging grounds for wildlife, including badgers, which are a protected species. I believe that they are also all on Green Belt Land. I realise that local authorities are being given new powers that allows them to build on parts of Green Belt Land, but I sincerely believe that this will be a terrible mistake, for which future generations will not thank us. These sites are also part of one of the very few large stretches of open green spaces so close the the centre of Croydon, which makes an huge difference to the air quality in our town and to the visual aspect thereof. There is ample evidence to prove that these green urban spaces are essential for the mental well-being of crowded cities. All the open green spaces are there for the benefit of all Croydon's residents and those visiting our Borough, by building on them you are taking away this right from people all over the Borough. Please think again and make use of brown field sites instead. By using brown field sites you have the opportunity improve those sites with well planned and laid out housing and amenities.

Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane reference number 755; As the Council acknowledges, all three of these sites are in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly: “Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”. The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. All three sites are also some distance from public services and they are all in the same part of the borough (two are in Heathfield ward, one just over the border in Crudham). Why has Heathfield been singled out in this way? If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough - which I would question - they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is).

It makes me want to weep when I read what you have planned for Croydon. I myself live in New Addington, it was a horrible place but now it has vastly improved, your ideas for it no doubt will cause more uproar again, nowhere no green spaces left in the end for the children or dog walkers to go. Tower blocks, school we dont actually need it all so vile. Lets be honest you could built on brown land why choose green land. I can foresee such a horrible Croydon in the future, when I moved to Croydon from Fulham many years ago it was so different to what it is now, by the time you ruin it it will be one of the worse neighbourhoods in London. Of course we mustn't say Surrey as we have been taken over.

All three sites are in the Green Belt, with one bordering a site of Nature Conservation. The proposed use of each of these sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b and would not be consistent with Policy E of 'Planning Policy for Traveller Sites' published by the Government. If additional sites are required in the Borough it would more appropriate to expand existing sites eg the site off the Purley Way. In addition none of the sites has easy access to local school, healthcare, retail and other amenities; the vehicular access into sites 661 and 502 is problematic and egress onto Coombe Lane/Oaks Road at the road junction is likely to create additional road hazards.

Please can I object to the Labour Council's plans to build Gypsy/Traveller Sites in the Green Belt. Why is this Council determined to concrete over the leafy / green areas of Croydon? The use of land to provide pitches at Coombe Farm, Oaks Road or Coombe Lodge Nurseries, Conduit Lane is entirely out of keeping with the character of those areas. Why ruin such beautiful areas so close to central Croydon for future generations? Once gone, that land will be gone forever. We should treasure areas such as these and put them to a much more appropriate use in keeping with the use of similar surrounding land. Housing/Residential/Pitches are not good uses of this land.

The only real alternative if there has to be one is at Pear Tree Farm, Featherbed Lane where there already exists a large scale housing development and appropriate facilities including schools, transport and infrastructure nearby.

The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. Both sites are also some distance from public services.

Reasons for objecting:
1) It will be detrimental to the amenities of adjoining owners
2) It is an inappropriate use of Green Belt land
3) Sites that are located on the Green Belt are considered to be inappropriate development for Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) and are against government policy (Planning policy for Traveller Sites, DCLG, August 2015)
4) There are a lack of appropriate amenities close at hand
5) There is insufficient local infrastructure to accommodate the plans
6) Selection of proposed sites should have a bias towards brownfield or industrial land, not Green Belt
7) the existing permanent site in Latham’s Way off Bedding Farm Road could be expanded

Alternative suggestions for sites: 636, Land west of Timebridge Community Centre, Lodge Lane, Elmside, Addington
I am grateful to the Council for consulting on the detailed policies and proposals that will make up the Croydon Local Plan. There is much in the document that I agree with, but some of the proposals would, in my opinion, change the character of parts of Croydon very much for the worse. I hope you will forgive me if I focus on these areas of contention. I am therefore writing to formally object to:

1. de-designation of the Metropolitan Open Land around Shirley Oaks Village;

2. the use of the following five sites for housing:
   - land at Poppy Lane reference number 128;
   - Stroud Green Pumping Station, 140 Primrose Lane reference number 504;
   - land to the east of Shirley Oaks Road and to the rear of Beech House and Ash House reference number 541;
   - land to the west of Shirley Oaks Road reference number 542; and
   - land to the rear of 5-13 Honeysuckle Gardens reference number 548.

If the Council will not keep them as Metropolitan Open Land, these five sites should at least be designated as Local Green Spaces. Building housing on them would mean the loss of a vital green corridor between Shirley Oaks and the surrounding areas, changing the character of this part of Shirley. As far as I can see, these are the only bits of Metropolitan Open Land in the whole borough which the Council is proposing to de-designate and allow housing to be built on. Why has Shirley Oaks been singled out in this way?

3. the use of the following locations as gypsy/traveller sites:
   - Coombe Farm off Oaks Road reference number 502;
   - Coombe Lodge Nurseries off Conduit Lane reference number 661; and
   - Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane reference number 755;

Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August, says very clearly:

If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough - which I would question - they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is);

4. Focussed intensification associated with gradual change of an area’s local character under Policy DM31.4 of the Shirley Road Shopping Parade, Shirley local centre and Forestdale. Shirley Road Shopping Parade is surely worthy of protecting rather than replacing with medium-rise blocks? Shirley local centre is defined not just as a stretch of the Wickham Road (where some intensification may be appropriate) but Ridgemount Avenue, Wickham Avenue, Peregrine Gardens, West Way Gardens, the northern section of Hartland Way and the western parts of Bennetts Way and Devonshire Way. Replacing the largely semi-detached buildings in these residential roads with medium-rise blocks would completely change the character of Shirley. Replacing the largely terraced housing and small blocks of flats in Forestdale with medium-sized blocks would completely change that area too;

5. Policy DM2 on development on garden land, which is too subjective and therefore too weak. There should be a much stronger presumption against development on garden land; and

6. Policy DM28, which should allow higher levels of parking in developments of low public transport accessibility. Restricting parking spaces in such areas doesn’t lead to fewer people owning their own car; it just leads to greater competition for existing spaces.
I am writing to object to some of the proposals within the draft Croydon London Plan, particularly in the area of Addington and Forestdale. Proposed Gypsy Traveller sites

The draft Local Plan identifies Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane as a location for a gypsy/traveller site with 15-20 pitches (pages 188-189, Changes to the Policies Map arising from proposals contained within the Croydon Local Plan: Strategic Policies Partial Review and the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies & Proposals, reference number 755). The Council itself acknowledges that this site is in the Green Belt which goes against current Government Policy. The site is also some distance from public services and very unsuitable for a site of this type.

1. The use of Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane as a location for a gypsy/traveller site (Reference No. 755). 4109/01/001/DM32.2/O Mr & Mrs Chang

Object DM32.2

We read with dismay and grave concern about Croydon council’s plans to build three gypsy/travellers sites in the Green Belt of Shirley. This ill conceived act of allowing housing on some of our precious Green spaces and back gardens will totally decimate and change the character and the environment of this area. The traffic infrastructure will be totally inadequate with traffic problems already a big issue during peak hours as it is. It is already terrifying to see the number of tower blocks going up along East Croydon station resulting in the ever changing skyline of Croydon, turning the town into a massive concrete jungle. We sincerely implore you to reconsider your plans and not to destroy our beautiful green belt and protecting the environment in and around this area. We have lived in Shirley for forty years and over this period we have seen so many new buildings and green open spaces lost to developers.

Change The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
I would like to object to the proposed travellers sites for the following reasons which I believe are material grounds to refuse these plans:

- The Council has an obligation to consider all potential sites across the borough. It also needs to demonstrate this, and provide information that details what sites were considered (both private and publicly) together with full assessments on these sites. This I cannot see has been done.

- The suggested sites are in close proximity to each other in a huge borough. This cannot be correct. Fine, allow one - but all three? This is politically motivated.

- There is currently not enough amenities locally and no plans to increase them. School places and GPs are already full.

- Transport concerns. PTAL ratings or similar, where are they?

- Featherbed Lane site is verging on green belt. We should not be using these types of land for this - we have lots of brownfield sites that should be used.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

I have been made aware of the proposals for Site References 661, 502 and 755 for use as traveller sites. I object on the grounds that these are Green Belt sites covered by Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b and are therefore unsuitable for traveller camps. I use both sites near Coombe Lodge fairly regularly and was frightened by loose and dangerous dogs when the site was being used illegally by travellers, and I noticed that the woods were being used as a toilet. The amenities of that area would be lost to everyone else if these proposals were to proceed.

I object to the following location as a gypsy and traveller site: Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage, Featherbed Lane, site 755;

All three sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy SP2.7a and SP2.7b. Furthermore, Policy E of ‘Planning Policy for Traveller Sites’, published by the Government in August, states very clearly that ‘Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development’. The provision relating to travellers/gypsies in the Housing and Planning Bill will also remove sections 225 and 226 of the Housing Act 2004 which placed a duty on housing authorities to carry out an assessment of the accommodation needs of this group when reviewing housing conditions and needs within their areas (a process required by Section 8 of the Housing Act 1985). Section 8 will also be amended to make it clear that the duty covers consideration of the needs of people residing in, or resorting to the district for, caravan sites and houseboat mooring sites.

I am also concerned by the evidence base for these selections, namely the ‘Assessment and Selection of Sites for Gypsy and Travellers’. This assessment contains a vast number of very subjective criteria against which to judge site suitability and has been the subject of ‘extensive political consultation’. This political consultation has only taken place with the Labour Administration and has not been conducted on a cross party basis. This begs the question as to what undue political influence may have been placed on the particular criteria which have been used and indeed the selection of the preferred sites. There is also some question as to why the same scoring system has not been used for each set of criteria, rather than subjectively giving weight to certain criteria. Furthermore, the scoring for individual sites has not been carried out in accordance with the table shown at 4.1. A number of sites have been marked incorrectly, for example, site 661 has been scored at 5 for Greenbelt/MOL, when the score should be -5. This begs the question as to how many other inaccuracies are in the document.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

I am grateful to the Council for consulting on the detailed policies and proposals that will make up the Croydon Local Plan. There is much in the document that I agree with, but some of the proposals would, in my opinion, change the character of parts of Croydon very much for the worse. I hope you will forgive me if I focus on these areas of contention. I am therefore writing to formally object to:
3. the use of the following locations as gypsy and traveller sites:
   • Coombe Farm off Oaks Road reference number 502;
   • Coombe Lodge Nurseries off Conduit Lane reference number 661; and
   • Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane reference number 755;
As the Council acknowledges, all three of these sites are in the Green Belt and one of them borders a Site of Nature Conservation Interest. Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, published by the government in August, says very clearly:
“Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”.

The Council’s approach is clearly in breach of that policy. All three sites are also some distance from public services and they are all in the same part of the borough (two are in Heathfield ward, one just over the border in Croham). Why has Heathfield been singled out in this way? If the Council really needs, as it claims, to quadruple the number of gypsy/traveller sites in the borough - which I would question - they should look elsewhere (for example, off the Purley Way where the existing site is).
National guidelines clearly state that Travellers Sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development. The Council’s proposals, therefore, clearly breach such guidelines. Also, we question the Council’s assertion that it needs to quadruple the number of travellers/gypsy sites in the Borough. Apart from this major objection, the above sites identified for such use would have:
- poor access via narrow roads/lanes for large vehicles;
- consequent impact upon local traffic congestion with movements of large vehicles;
- no safe paved walking routes to schools, shops, doctors, etc.;
- additional requirement for services and facilities for hygienic occupation;
- increased pressure on local schools, medical facilities, waste disposal, etc.;
- impact upon local facilities and amenities of current residents.
Also, we understand that the proposed pitches would accommodate considerably more caravans and associated vehicles than can be controlled by planning restrictions.

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.
The GTANA report (2013) does not consider why there is a requirement to provide such facilities and refers to the CLG's document Planning Policy for Traveller Sites (March 2014) which states that Local Authorities should in producing their local plans, consider joint development plans that set targets on a cross authority basis. This proposal seems to have been produced in isolation from other neighbouring councils even though the above clearly indicates that nearby councils such as Sevenoaks, Tandridge and Bromley have higher demand. Proposals in the Housing and Planning Bill 2015-2016 are to remove the statutory requirement on local authorities to assess the specific accommodation needs of Gypsies and Travellers - the emphasis being that when authorities are carrying out a review of housing needs that it considers the needs of all the people residing in their district, without any reference to Gypsies and Travellers. We hope this means that Croydon Council will consider our needs and the needs of our neighbours and local services and businesses as worthy as those of Gypsy and Travelling people. We understand that there is a lot of opposition to the proposed sites from people currently residing in the district due to the threat to the Green Belt, increased traffic and increased pressure on local services. Surely such low scores within the "Assessment and Selection of Sites for Gypsy and Travellers" (August 2015) should have resulted in an acceptance that none of the sites are really particularly suitable and that the council will need to liaise with other council if determined to make provision. All three sites are in Green Belt land - Policy E of Planning Policy for Traveller Sites - traveller sites (temporary and permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development. Further concern for the impact upon Green Belt is highlighted in the GTANA Stakeholder consultation. The sites are contrary to the Strategic Policies (April 2013) in terms of access from roads and proximity to bus routes; and access to essential services including health and education facilities.

If additional sites are required in the Borough it would more appropriate to expand existing sites eg the site off the Purley Way. In addition none of the sites has easy access to local school, healthcare, retail and other amenities; the vehicular access into sites 661 and 502 is problematic and egress onto Coombe Lane/Oaks Road at the road junction is likely to create additional road hazards.

I object to the use of any of these locations for the creation of Gypsy/Traveller sites. All three locations are within the Green Belt and one borders a site of Nature Conservation Interest. Such development is in breach of Policy Eat Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, which says that ‘Traveller Sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development’. All three sites are also a considerable distance from public services. I believe that the proposal to create three new Gypsy/Traveller sites now, and 39 by 2036 is excessive and will have an adverse effect on the borough. If the number of Gypsy/Traveller sites really needs to be increased by this amount then a more appropriate location would be around the existing site at Purley Way. The positioning of a Gypsy/Traveller site adjacent to the car park for Coombe Woods, between the Chateau Restaurant and the Hotel/restaurant, would probably deter me from using any of these attractions.

For the reasons given above:
1. I do not think that the preferred approach is the most appropriate for Croydon to help us meet our Strategic Objectives set out in Section 3.
2. The preferred approach is deliverable, but not acceptable.
3. I do not think the preferred approach enables sustainable development, because it will compromise the ability of future generations to meet their own needs.

I strongly object to the Council proposal for this very inappropriate traveller site at Pear Tree Farm on Featherbed Lane. My reasons are:

- The site entrance is extremely hazardous and totally unsuitable for this proposal.
- There are no direct transport links so the traffic increase in this local area would lead to more accidents.
- The consultation period is simply not long enough nor appropriate or in-depth given the vast impact this will have on all of us living in the community.
- The council money spent on this project is disproportionate to any benefits for such a small number of families - it is not good value.
- The site is in a designated Green Belt area and so must not be developed. Even the government says that this is an inappropriate development.
- There is a shortage of amenities needed for these travellers and there is potential for an increase in fly-tipping as well as noise pollution and other problems.

RE: Objection to Croydon Local Plan (Ref:755) — Pear Tree Farm as a proposed Traveller Gypsy site

I wish to strongly object to Croydon Council’s proposal to site a Gypsy/Traveller site at Pear Tree Farm. There are numerous reasons for my objection; including:

- Pear Tree Farm is in designated Green Belt and as a result should not be developed. The Government’s Planning Policy for Traveller Sites (published August 2015) states:
  o “Traveller sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development”
- Pear Tree Farm is not owned by the Council therefore the cost to the council and the tax payer to purchase the land could be considerable
- The cost to change the use of Pear Tree Farm from a waste transfer site to a traveller’s camp would also be considerable as there has been years of contamination from (amongst other things) asbestos, oil, diesel, chemicals etc.
- Pear Tree Farm is surrounded by Ancient Woodland
- Pear Tree Farm is surrounded by wildlife (deer, butterflies, sheep, horses, rare orchids etc) and is opposite Hutchinson’s Band which is a nature reserve. There could be a risk to the local wildlife
- Potential for extra litter/fly tipping on Featherbed Lane
- All three of Croydon’s proposed Gypsy/Traveller sites are within a 3 mile radius of one another and in adjacent wards. This is unfair and inequitable for those living in the area
- There is already a shortage of local school places
- There are no transport links to Pear Tree Farm
- There is no pavement along featherbed Lane beyond Farleigh Dean Crescent and no street lighting
- How will Croydon Council control & monitor official number of travellers — could easily be overrun
- How will the police the area as there is already very little police presence in the area (and even less going forward)
- Noise pollution — Featherbed Lane is in a valley and noise travels a long way
- The entrance to the site is extremely precarious as it is on a blind bend

Change

The site is in private ownership and the land owners have indicated they would not be interested in developing it as a Gypsy and Travellers site. As the deliverability of this site for Gypsy and Travellers would now be difficult it will no longer be considered for this use.

I am a Croydon resident and am writing to object to the use of the following locations as gypsy and traveller sites: Coombe Lodge Nurseries off Conduit Lane, site reference number 661, policy number DM44: and Coombe Farm off Oaks Road, site reference number 502, policy number DM43 Pear Tree Farm and Pear Tree Farm Cottage on Featherbed Lane, site reference number 755, policy number DM32. All three sites are in the Green Belt, with one bordering a site of Nature Conservation. The proposed use of each of these sites would constitute inappropriate development in the Green Belt and would not comply with Policy 5P2.7a and SP2.7b and would not be consistent with Policy E of ‘Planning Policy for Traveller Sites’ published by the Government. If additional sites are required in the Borough it would more appropriate to expand existing sites eg the site off the Purley Way. In addition none of the sites has easy access to local school, healthcare, retail and other amenities; the vehicular access into sites 661 and 502 is problematic and egress onto Coombe Lane/Oaks Road at the road junction is likely to create additional road hazards.

I object to the use of any of these locations for the creation of Gypsy/Traveller sites. All three locations are within the Green Belt and one borders a site of Nature Conservation Interest. Such development is in breach of Policy Eat Planning Policy for Traveller Sites, which says that ‘Traveller Sites (temporary or permanent) in the Green Belt are inappropriate development’. All three sites are also a considerable distance from public services. I believe that the proposal to create three new Gypsy/Traveller sites now, and 39 by 2036 is excessive and will have an adverse effect on the borough. If the number of Gypsy/Traveller sites really needs to be increased by this amount then a more appropriate location would be around the existing site at Purley Way. The positioning of a Gypsy/Traveller site adjacent to the car park for Coombe Woods, between the Chateau Restaurant and the Hotel/restaurant, would probably deter me from using any of these attractions.

For the reasons given above:
1. I do not think that the preferred approach is the most appropriate for Croydon to help us meet our Strategic Objectives set out in Section 3.
2. The preferred approach is deliverable, but not acceptable.
3. I do not think the preferred approach enables sustainable development, because it will compromise the ability of future generations to meet their own needs.
4. I recommend that consultation documents of such importance are given much wider publicity.

I have restricted my objections to those plans that primarily affect the area of Shirley I which I live, but the same objections apply to other proposals in other parts of the borough.

Policy E of Planning for Traveller Sites, published by the Government in August indeed states this also. The suggested policy for building height and external presentation could maintain the village atmosphere of central Addiscombe. However, this does also discourage any large outlets and therefore requires residents to travel (often by car) to Purley Way. There appear to be several traders who are likely to close down, so there is a risk that Strategic Objectives are met but the type of traders no longer provides a suitable service to the local community. The lack of a Traders’ Association is evidence that conditions are below optimum. There is anger that Charity Shops gain preferential treatment for business rates.

The concern remains that the planning system allowed the demolition of the Black Horse Pub and the erection of an out of character structure. Agree strongly that ground floor frontages should remain active and un-obscured. Additionally, however, while the rhythm of the separate individual buildings is attractive and beneficial, it should not preclude separate ground floor units from being joined where this may make a business more viable or where an already successful business may hope to expand. Some of the smaller business units may be too small to practically allow even a small business to successfully operate, with the result that the unit may remain empty, indefinitely, and thereby breaking the rhythm. The safe-guard in retaining the rhythm would be maintained by further guidelines being established in relation to the joining of separate units sympathetically.

Although part of Bingham Road has been shown as a Local Heritage Area (Policy SP4), the damage to several of these properties has already been allowed through multiple occupancy and parking in front gardens. We originally asked for a much wider Heritage Area for Northampton Road, Cheyne Walk, Annandale Road, Carlyle Road, Fryston Avenue, Ashburton Avenue, Whiston Gardens, Beech Tree Way, Ashurst Walk. These were all developed under strict covenants from the Ashburton Estate.

The major problem that has precluded development of any large retail outlets is the lack of parking space. This also mitigates against... any SME who relies on clients arriving by car. While Addiscombe Tram stop and bus stops provide good transport links, they are not really suitable for the large weekly shop, or collection of larger items of furniture or white goods. Delivery of stock to retail outlets often causes parking issues e.g. double parking or parking on zig-zag lines. The mix of retail outlets has become less attractive, although the multiple Charity shops provide a wide selection of second hand goods. There is no specialist clothing shop for ladies, children’s or gents, no haberdashery, no kitchen ware, no furniture, no antiques no artists or bookshop. Some of these specialist shops do not exist in central Croydon either. The local traders association has folded so there is minimal coordinated representation to the council.

The suggested building heights could maintain the village atmosphere of Central Addiscombe but also discourage any large outlets and therefore require residents to travel by car to Purley Way etc. There appears to be several traders who could be closing down and there is anger that charity shops get preferential business rates.

The place specific policy for the Addiscombe local centre is intended to accommodate growth and to complement local character. Large retail with corporate design would substantially narrow this character and therefore would not be appropriate.

Object The Hyde Group

The Hyde Group’s initial development proposals would bring forward a number of benefits including:
- The provision of over 1.2 ha of publicly assessable open space which will visually and physically improve the link between South Norwood Country Park and Long Lane Wood, thus better contributing towards the local Green Grid;
- The provision of new public footpaths throughout the proposed new open space which will provide better links to / from the Arena Tramlink Stop and the surrounding area;
- The provision of new play space within the proposed open space;
- The provision of trees and shrubs to increase the potential for biodiversity and to provide habitats for specific target species;
- The provision of approximately 136 affordable units (100% of the total provision) which will help to address the recent undersupply of affordable housing in the borough (as identified within the Council’s SHMA);
- The provision of a range of accommodation (including flats and houses, and one, two and three bedroom units) which will help to create a mixed and balanced community; and
- The provision of a new community facility which has the potential to accommodate a variety of community uses.

The benefits of such a scheme coming forward in this location would help the Council meet their Strategic Objectives, notably:
- Strategic Objective 3 – Provide a choice of housing for people at all stages of life;
- Strategic Objective 6 – Provide well designed community facilities;
- Strategic Objective 8 – Improve accessibility, connectivity, sustainability and ease of movement to, from and with the borough; and
- Strategic Objective 10 – Improve the quality and accessibility of green space and nature, whilst protecting and enhancing biodiversity.

Given our representation on Policy SPT (as set out earlier), we consider that the World of Golf site should be included in Table 11.6 for residential development (including a significant area of publicly assessable open space and a new community facility).

No change All Green Belt and MOL sites were reviewed, including World of Golf. The site is correctly designated as MOL in that regard.

ECCO object to the site being developed as as secondary school.
The arguments for this site to be turned over to a secondary school have not been made by the Council.
ECCO has previously understood that the site was to become much needed social housing as part of CCURV, which is in keeping with the adjacent areas. The site is too small to provide the facilities required by a secondary school, such as playing fields. It is not obvious to ECCO where the school would access playing fields and open space. It would located by a very busy junction with significant numbers of fast foot outlets etc. which does not provide a good environment for young people.
Affordable housing is desperately needed in Croydon, and as Rees House is a medium rise building constructing flats there would not cause a material change to the environment. Although the CLP asserts that secondary school places are more urgently needed homes, it provides no further detail where this demand exists. If the demand is largely within the north of the borough then every step should be taken to create facilities close to where the future pupils live. It is not obvious within the ECCO area that there is significant demand that cannot be met by existing provision. There are already 3 secondary state secondary schools and 1 private secondary in the area.
It is not desirable to concentrate more secondary provision into such a small area.
The Council should explore other sites in Croydon, preferably away from the town centre but well served by public transport that could provide a far better environment for learning.
(Conduit Lane site which is close to playing fields, Lloyd Park and provides a leafy pleasant environment might be one such location.)The Council has consistently failed to effectively engage with local communities to seek solutions and obtain community support.
The site should not be allocated as a school. No change

The Education Funding Agency has approved 3 new Free Schools currently looking for sites within Croydon. This site has been identified as being potentially suitable options for the permanent location of the Ark Croydon Secondary Academy. We would welcome the opportunity to work with Croydon Council and the respective trust to make these sites available options for these schools.
Ark Support

Ark has had two free school applications approved by the Department for Education (DfE) to develop a two-form entry primary school and a three-form entry secondary school to meet the pupil place demand in Croydon which has been identified by Croydon Council. Ark is an education charity and one of the country’s top-performing academy operators. Our network comprises of both new-start and transition schools that have become Ark academies. We currently operate 34 schools in London, Birmingham, Hastings and Portsmouth. No two of our schools are the same but we all share the same mission. Our aim is to create outstanding schools that give every Ark pupil, no matter their background or prior attainment, the opportunity to go to university or pursue the career of their choice. Ark has a proven track record in providing high standards of education across its school network and was recently rated by the DfE as the highest performing large multi-academy trust for value added. We’re proud that our schools have achieved some of the best results in the country. We’re also proud of the Ark staff who have built environments where pupils can succeed. Ark schools are twice as likely to be outstanding and all Ark schools have now come out of special measures and all bar one is now ‘Good’ or ‘Outstanding’. We have held talks with Croydon Council and the EFA over the development of a three-form entry secondary school on the site. One of the buildings already located on the site is owned by the NHS and the use of this site for a school development depends on whether an alternative site can be confirmed to which the NHS services could relocate. We understand that due diligence has begun on an alternative NHS site and the proposal will be tabled at their board meeting in December. - The site is a suitable shape and size for the development of a three-form entry secondary school - The site is in an area that will require additional secondary pupil places in the coming years - The site is in an area which meets the demographic criteria for Ark schools - The site is located near Ark Oval Primary Academy and would therefore create an opportunity to establish a link between the two schools.

Residential development if the site is not required for a school by 2021. I am currently applying through Croydon for a free school, the proposed name for the school is MADE academy. MADE academy will like to express interest in the site mentioned in section 1. We aim to provide a creative and robust curriculum. My question is: Will the borough need another school before the dates suggested on the sites? Will there be negotiations on the intake size, such as five form entry instead of an eight form entry for the suggested school?
No change
Applications for free schools will be considered on their merits. This site has been allocated for a school but in order not to preclude its development for another use, a time limit has been put on when the need should be reassessed. Currently there is a need for a school in this area and this site has been identified as being suitable. Enquiries about opening a new Free School should be made to the Council's education service.

| 2657/01/001/DM33.3/O Rebecca Pullinger CPRE London | A large number of the sites allocated for development through Detailed Policies and Proposals may result in the loss of green space. This appears to run counter to the Borough’s Strategic Objective 10 (The need to utilise brownfield areas first) and could be replaced with a goal to promote good quality high density developments that protect Croydon’s green spaces. Even undesignated green spaces provide important ecosystem services to Croydon’s growing population. We are also concerned about impacts on access to the adjacent Mol site. | The Council should provide additional text in these policies to encourage developers to propose good quality, high density developments which promote the protection and enhancement of green space. | No change The site is considered appropriate for development. | 3080/01/017/DM33.3/O Mr John Mills | Furthermore, I also object to the proposals to build flats to the rear of the Cricketers Public House in Shirley Road. This road is extremely busy and proposed development will lead to increased volume of traffic and will exacerbate existing traffic congestion at peak times (e.g. rush hour, school times). I am also concerned that this will lead to the loss of the local shops and businesses next door to the development. | No change The site is considered appropriate for development. Any development of the site will be required to incorporate high quality design in line with local, regional and national policy. The site does not encroach on the existing public house. |}
| 0407/01/003/DM33.3/O A Douthwaite | I was at the consultation on 28 November at Bernard Weatherall House and noted that it was proposed that the area behind 130 Oval Road, currently containing a warehouse and vacant space should be redeveloped for 10-57 houses. The latter figure is ludicrous: it could only be obtained by building blocks of flats which would be out of character with the housing in the area and would mean many properties would be overlooked. Sandwiching housing between Oval Road and Cedar Road would need very careful, minimal, development. Would it also encroach on garden areas of the surrounding properties? | No change Any planning application submitted for the redevelopment of the site would be required to adhere to the standards and would be considered against matters such as privacy, overlooking and outlook. Furthermore, the density on the site will be agreed through a planning application. The range identified in the allocation indicates what could be achieved on the site taking into consideration the current character of the area, and what could be provided on the site if the over all character of the area was to change. |}

We are seeking support to open an 11-18 free school to serve the needs of the local population of the area in partnership with an education provider who has significant successful track record in opening and running secondary provision and who has a stake in this local community.

We have already met with key local partners, particularly those represented in our Trust and have their agreement for this project, in particular The BRIT School and Crystal Palace FC Foundation. The governors have set up a steering group to take forward this project and are working with representatives from both organisations.

Timescale will be agreed in discussion with Croydon Council and the EFA and DFE, but we would look to open our Year 7 in September 2018, which would be when our oldest cohort come of age. Presently Croydon Council disagree with this and have suggested that the year of greatest need may be later than this, possibly 2020, so we are mounting a case to show that there are particular pressures on school places in the Selhurst and Thornton Heath area where there are high levels of deprivation and large numbers of children who would have to travel unacceptably large distances to the south of the borough to attend secondary school. On this basis, we are seeking to make a formal application to the DFE during this academic year, hopefully to meet the March deadline. We are now looking to build support for this proposal, on the basis of our track record, local partnerships and educational expertise.

The Whitehorse Community Centre and The Aztec Centre in Boulogne Road and adjoining grass space provide a suitable footprint for a new secondary school, when seen in conjunction with the existing Crescent site that has the potential to be re-organised. We are seeking to engage Croydon Council, who own these premises. Given the outward facing, community-based vision of our proposals and our unique sponsors, we would embrace the opportunity to support any local community provision through youth and adult provision.

We are therefore requesting that Croydon Council make these premises available for free school development.

Whilst the Council is supportive of new secondary schools in the north of the borough the development of one on this site would result in the unacceptable loss of proposed Local Green Space unless there was an element of a land swap with the site of the existing Crescent Primary School and BRIT School. This could only be achieved if the proposal was delivered by the Crescent Primary School itself. It is not advisable to allocate a site that could only be delivered by one organisation (in effect a personal allocation). Therefore, it will not be allocated in the Local Plan.

However this does not mean that the Council would not consider this proposal if it came forward as a package by the Crescent Primary School and Brit School that did not result overall in the loss of Local Green Space and its functionality in the local area.

London Wildlife Trust | Object | Soundness - Justified | DM34.6 119 | This site continues to meet the criteria for Metropolitan Open Land designation and inappropriate to allocate the site for a school. | No change | Although the site is in MOL there are no other sites available in the northwest of the borough that could accommodate this proposed use of the site |

CPRE London | Object | Soundness - Effective | DM34.6 119 | The more specific site allocations represent a large reduction in the amount of designated and non-designated open space. While we acknowledge the need to build new homes and associated infrastructure such as schools, Croydon's growing population also needs quality open spaces for all the human amenity and ecosystem services which they provide.

Our understanding is that this site continues to meet the criteria for Metropolitan Open Land designation and so it is wholly inappropriate to allocate the site for a school. Additionally, the site in relatively inaccessible which would almost certainly lead to increased traffic even with improved public transport. Further efforts should be made to look into other sites. General pressures relating to increasing population should not be cited exceptional circumstance required by National and London Policy to justify building on MOL. | No change | Although the site is in MOL there are no other sites available in the northwest of the borough that could accommodate this proposed use of the site |
| 3526/01/006/DM34.6/O | Linda Stevens | Object | Soundness - Justified | DM34.6 119 | I wish to voice my concerns regarding the following:
I totally object to any reduction of green space in the borough of Croydon in favour of development. | No change | This site is needed for a primary school as there are no other suitable sites in the north west of the borough. The loss of open space will be minimised through the planning process so that most of the site will remain open. |

DM34.6 314 | My client supports the designation of the existing retail floorspace within the area as a Local Centre alongside the objective to improve accessibility by public transport. While we are generally supportive of the development of residential uses in the area, we believe that greater consideration should be given to the suitability of the area for residential purposes given it lies within Flood Zone 2. In addition, my client would not support any proposals that sought the redevelopment of their site or would affect the operation of their store which is of particular concern given the wording included in Table 11.7.

The Council should consider the suitability of residential development given that the site is in Flood Zone 2. The site should also not be allocated for redevelopment which may affect the operation of the store. | No change | The proposed use would be for a mixture of residential, retail, healthcare possibly, and community and leisure use. It is considered that any proposed use of this site should not be limited to solely residential or retail use. |
AAM are the freeholders of Valley Park Leisure Complex and Valley Retail Park. In addition, they acquired the former Stewart Plastics site, to the south of the existing IKEA store, in 2015. The extent of AAM’s ownership is shown on the enclosed plan. Clearly, AAM is a significant stakeholder in the Valley Park area, and a key delivery partner. This is the first time that the majority area at Valley Park has been within a single ownership. In addition, AAM are in discussions with other stakeholders in the area, including B&Q PLC and IKEA. The former Stewart Plastics site has been vacant for a number of years, is in poor condition and presents a negative appearance to Purley Way and the wider area. The existing accommodation does not meet modern requirements and the site is subject to multiple physical constraints that influence its future potential. Valley Park and the former Stewart Plastics site has been identified by AAM for additional investment and regeneration potentially as part of a comprehensive approach. Our client is broadly supportive of the Council’s longer term aspirations for the potential new Local Centre at Valley Park, including the objective to improve accessibility by a range of transport modes. The redevelopment of the Stewart Plastics site provides, inter alia, an opportunity to deliver a comprehensive transport solution. In any event, AAM are keen to ensure that improvements to the Leisure Complex and Retail Park in the short to medium term, including potentially upgrading the appearance of the units and public realm, can be pursued where this is not incompatible with the longer term objectives. In any event, AAM is keen to engage with the Council at the earliest opportunity to explore the potential of Valley Park including Stewart Plastics.

No change Although now in the same ownership Stewarts Plastic is an industrial site which it is considered should be considered separately from Site 334

Support Ulswater Crescent: We are strongly in favour of this being designated as industrial and were very pleased when Waitrose selected this site for their Dot Com Fulfilment Centre employing over 600 people when fully operational. However, we do feel that where there is a case for local community use, that provides employment and provides services to the local community a change of use should be permitted on a case by case basis.

Comment On street parking in Coulsdon Town centre should be consistent and provide sufficient time to enable people to shop and use the business in the town centre such as the chiropodist, dentists, hairdressers, libraries and physiotherapists. This should be 2 hours with 1 hour free with the second hour charged at a reasonable cost.

On street car parking in Coulsdon should be improved.
No change
This is outside of the scope of the Croydon Local Plan.

Comment The Council should work with Aldi to remark the car park to increase the number of spaces, but it should remain with an hour and half free parking for the town centre.

Aldi should increase the number of car parking spaces.

Comment Coulsdon Library: It is essential that the town centre has a library which provides an essential service to the community both for books and for the use of computers for learning and internet connections for those who are unable to have access to modern technology at home.

The library should be retained.
No change
The library is currently protected as a community facility.

Comment We are appreciative of the opening of the Calat centre car park to the public. But with it its narrow entrance and difficult turn from Chipstead Valley it is far from a replacement for Lion Green Road. Planning permission is urgently needed for a new entrance from Woodcote Grove Road. On completion this should become a permanent public car park separate from the Calat Centre.

The CALAT centre should provide a new public car parking and a new entrance should be provided.
No change
The provision of a new entrance to the CALAT centre is not a matter for the Local Plan.

Comment Although the bypass has provided a great relief to the town centre by removing through traffic, the general increase in traffic, the closure of Lion Green car park and other local developments have increased traffic in the town centre and in surrounding roads such as Chipstead Valley Road, Lion Green Road, Portnalls Road, Maryle Lane and the Brighton Road which are at capacity during the morning and evening peaks and even on Sundays. We are concerned that when the Lion Green development is complete and Cane Hill starts to come on stream these roads will become deadlocked which will not only cause a traffic problem, but will add to the pollution levels in the town centre. It would also increase the danger to pedestrians and other road users.

The impact of the proposed developments and the closure of the Lion Green car park on the local road network should be assessed.
No change
The impact of developments already granted planning permission is outside the scope of the Local Plan.
Comment Safer Neighbourhoods Police Teams: They should also be located in the Town Centre so as to integrate better into the local community. No change The proposed use is too small to allocate in the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies and Comment Health: It is important that there adequate health facilities across the borough including the south of the borough. In addition to the Main hospital and A&E services there should be adequate GP provision across the borough with a number of strategically placed Urgent Care centres across the borough to relieve the pressure on Croydon University Hospital A&E, which should include the recently refurbished "Urgent Care Centre" at Purley. We believe that there should be a local health centre for the use of local GPs in the Coulsdon town centre. No change Site 945 has been allocated for healthcare facilities and the Council continues to work with NHS partners to identify future healthcare floorspace requirements.

Comment Calat Centre: If this is closed the southern car park should be separated from the site and continue to be used as a public car park. The site could be used for other community uses, retail, commercial or housing. No change The site has not been allocated in the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies and Proposals as it is an operational community facility and there is a presumption against non-community uses.

Comment We support the use of the remaining space on Leaden Hill for town centre housing, but this must have adequate parking to reflect the number of dwellings as it is in a town centre location in a controlled parking zone. Any development on Leaden Hill should have adequate parking spaces. No change This site is not included in the Croydon Local Plan: Detailed Policies and Proposals.

Comment We are strongly in favour of Ulswater Crescent being designated as industrial and were very pleased when Waitrose selected this site for their Dot Com Fulfilment Centre employing over 600 people when fully operational. However, we do feel that where there is a case for local community use, that will provide employment on larger scale than the existing uses while providing services to the local community a change of use should be permitted on a case by case basis. Community uses should be considered for this area in some instances. Not Duly Made Community uses are not permitted in this location.

Comment The remaining industrial sites at Leaden Hill near the town centre are due to be vacated early in 2016. We are of the view that this area should provide a mixture of housing and commercial as this is better suited to the area being next to Coulsdon Town station this is likely to generate a larger employment opportunity than the existing light industrial units and that is in the interest of both the town and Croydon as a whole. Leaden Hill should be included as a site providing housing and commercial. No change Leaden Hill is a protected employment site.
A Vibrant Town Centre: For a Town Centre to be successful in the 21st century it needs to be a place that is attractive for people to come and just be there, whether they are working, on business, shopping, leisure activities or just meeting other people. To achieve this people need to believe that the centre is safe, secure, friendly, an attractive place to work, visit and live in for the whole age range of the population. The Town Centre has been in steady decline and a state of flux since the closure of Cane Hill Hospital 20 years ago and does not offer the local population what they need from a modern local Town Centre. This started to improve with the coming of Aldi to the town centre and the permission for Cane Hill and a number of residential developments in and near the town centre. As a result a number of small and new businesses started to move into and open up in Coulsdon. Unfortunately this has come to an abrupt halt since the closure of Lion Green car park in July 2015, with the loss of over 150 long term and 40 short term parking places. This has had a major effect on trade in the town with trade falling by anything up to 50% and a number of small outlets closing along with other businesses looking to relocate outside the town.

Calat Centre: We are appreciative of the opening of the Calat centre car park to the public. But with it its narrow entrance and difficult turn from Chipstead Valley it is far from a replacement for Lion Green Road. Planning permission is urgently needed for a new entrance from Woodcote Grove Road. On completion this should become a permanent public car public car park separate from the Calat Centre.
